U. S. MARINES SWEEP INTO SEOUL

Acheson Also Urges Roving Peace Patrol

Big 5 Pact Demand Renewed By USSR

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson today called for United Nations members — communists and non - communists alike—to furnish units for an international army to smash aggression anywhere in the world.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky followed Acheson before the U. N. Assembly with a renewal of an old Russian demand for a Big-Five peace pact, prohibition of the atomic weapon and reduction of the armed forces of the Big-Five by one-third. These proposals were turned down at previous assemblies.

"I must say here and now that the Soviet Union will not take the path which the Secretary of State of the United States tries to divert the General Assembly," Vishinsky said. He submitted a revised list of alleged warmongers. To his old 1947 list of Winston Churchill and John Foster Dulles, Vishinsky today added Gen. Omar Bradley, Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews, former Defense Secretary Louis A. Johnson, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

6,000-Word Speech

Acheson, in a 40-minute, 6,000-word speech, demanded that the Assembly seek a peaceful solution of the Formosa question and that the principals in the controversy refrain from force while the Assembly is acting. The Russians tossed before the Assembly a complaint charging the United States with aggression against China. This complaint already has been made in the Security Council and its appearance here means the Formosa question will get a full hearing before the 59 U. N. members.

Acheson said the world wants a peace that is free from fear, "the fear of invasion, the fear of subversion, the fear of the knock on the door at midnight."

The first of the great power delegates to speak, Acheson also proposed a roving peace patrol to seek out international trouble spots and called on the Assembly to clear its decks for action against aggression, if necessary, on 24 hours notice. He drew loud applause as he concluded.

U. N. Survival Assured

In a general review of the tense times, Acheson said there is no longer any question whether the U. N. will survive:

"This question has been answered. If by nothing else, it has been answered by United Nations action against aggression in Korea. Blood is thicker than ink."

Acheson said the world has confronted many and complex problems "but the main obstacle to peace is easy to identify; and there should be no mistake in anyone's mind about it. That obstacle has been

Senate Confirms Marshall As U. S. Defense Chief

5-Star General May Be Sworn In Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Senate today voted 57 to 11 to confirm Gen. George C. Marshall as the nation's Secretary of Defense.

The 69-year-old soldier-statesman, who guided American armies to victory in World War II, succeeds Louis A. Johnson, dropped from the Cabinet by President Truman.

Marshall takes over the defense helm at a time when U. S. troops apparently have turned the tide of battle in Korea, but with many grave problems confronting him in the troubled international situation.

Pentagon officials said he probably will be sworn in, without fanfare, tomorrow.

Won't Waste Any Time

An aide said the five-star General intends to go right to his desk, after taking the oath of office, and start working.

His immediate job is to rearm America at top speed and mold a forthcoming military machine of 3,000,000 men into fighting trim.

Senate confirmation came shortly after Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) urged his colleagues to "scuttle politics and present a unified front to our common enemy."

Only a few voices were raised in opposition, chiefly on the ground that Marshall, a life-long soldier, was taking over a post Congress had reserved for a civilian. A special law was passed last week lifting the legal ban—in his case only—against a military man serving as Secretary of Defense.

Tydings Praises General

Sen. Tydings (D-Md), urging approval, put this question to the Senate:

"Where is there any man in America who is better qualified? Always the answer comes back to George Marshall."

Wrestler Is Cleared

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20 (AP) — Orvie Cleghorn, a 270-pound wrestler and operatic student, today was freed of charges of attempted rape against a 98-pound woman who claimed she stopped him with a few judo holds of her own.

Senate Sends Anti-Commie Bill To Truman

Backers Prepare For Possible Veto

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Senate tonight sent to the White House a bill calling for registration of communists, and permitting internment of potential spies and saboteurs in time of war. Whether President Truman would sign or veto it remained a question.

The House passed the tough control measure by a vote of 312 to 20. The Senate added its approval 51 to 7 hours later.

The bill was a compromise between earlier Senate and House versions.

Even before the measure passed, its backers in both houses were lining up votes to override a veto in event Mr. Truman rejects the measure. They said they had no doubt they could pile up the two-thirds majorities needed to override.

Mr. Truman had said he would not sign earlier versions of the bill, but has declined to discuss his attitude toward its amended form.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, in a speech to the American Bar Association today, assailed the measure as evidence of "hysteria." He said it goes too far beyond the new safeguards against espionage and sabotage for which Mr. Truman originally had asked.

President Truman has denounced individual sections that were written into the catch-all anti-communist bill but has not said definitely what he will do about this particular version.

In both houses the opposition was based on arguments that the bill is a product of "fear and hysteria."

Kicking off Senate debate, Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) appealed for swift vote of approval. He amalgamated five separate measures against spies and subversives in the original Senate measure, and accepted the proposal of Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill) to include the internment plan.

Nothing in the measure, McCarran said, violates anybody's constitutional rights. He said it would preserve that Constitution which he called "the hope of the world."

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY), called the bill "pro-communist rather than anti-communist."

Coal Operators Will Organize

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — The nation's coal operators are out to put an end to John L. Lewis' divide and conquer tactics.

An important bloc of soft coal (bituminous) mine owners meet here tomorrow to complete organization of a new group they hope will meet the president of the United Mine Workers on equal terms.

The newly-formed Bituminous Coal Operators Association represents more than 25 per cent of the soft coal industry's production. Its founders, led by a group of Pittsburgh coal executives, hope that eventually it will present the UMW with a unified front of all important operators.

The new association is widely expected to announce that its president will be Harry Moses, now president of the H. C. Frick Coke Company. The Frick Company is the key firm in the coal mining empire of the United States Steel Corporation.

In the past, Lewis has often won important gains for his 400,000 soft coal miners by taking advantage of the operators' inability to stick together.

"American Prisoners Of War In Korea"

Red Columns Rush Toward Tottering City

Big Air Umbrella Aids Leathernecks

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 21 (AP) — United States Marines crashed into Seoul from the northwest Wednesday night.

Other leathernecks formed the lower jaw of a vise by lunging southwest of the city proper through an industrial suburb and airfield on the Han River's west bank.

A battle for Seoul appeared to be impending. The U. S. 10th Corps said a tank-supported red column from Chinese Communist Manchuria was spotted moving south from North Korea. The column originated at Antung, just across the border in Manchuria, the corps said. An Air Force spokesman said it was first sighted 20 miles south of Antung, Manchuria, across the Yalu River boundary from North Korea.

Other red reinforcements were rushing up from the south. But the main road leading south from Seoul toward Suwon was cut last night by the Marines who overran the suburb and the air field. And U. S. Seventh Division troops also were moving toward the highway. Artillery on high points controlled the road.

FEAF Sets Record

The Marines who entered Seoul proper had crossed the Han Wednesday morning eight miles northwest of the city. They covered the eight miles to Seoul and entered the outskirts at 6 p.m. Wednesday (4 a.m. EST).

The Leathernecks, operating under a big umbrella of planes, were expected to reach the heart of the city of 1,000,000 some time today.

U. S. 10th Corps officers estimated the reds have about 18,000 troops available for Seoul's defense. However, these reportedly included security police and even students hastily recruited at Pyongyang, the red capital, and given guns but little training.

The reds moving up from the south came from the old South Korean front, 135 miles to the southeast.

Emphasizing the power of air blows raining on the reds all over the peninsula, the Far East Air Force disclosed today that planes Wednesday set a new record of 720 sorties.

An Air Force spokesman said a record 635 tons of cargo and 1,055 passengers was flown into Kimpo airfield, captured by the Marines Monday. This largest airfield in Korea is 10 miles northwest of Seoul.

MacArthur Visits Front

Gen. MacArthur, who directed the seaborne landing of 40,000 men at Inchon Friday, visited the Han River front. He watched Marines clearing out the enemy along the banks where the successful crossing was made.

Things were going badly for the enemy elsewhere, too.

South Korean marines landed on the east coast of Korea opposite Seoul, 118 miles to the west. They threatened to cut off all enemy forces along the east coast in the area of the port of Pohang.

The old Pusan beachhead front appeared to be falling apart. U. S. infantry attacks and enemy withdrawals eliminated all but one red pocket on the east bank of the Naktong River.

Senate-House Group Okays War Tax Bill

Way Is Opened For Congress Recess

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — A compromise $4,700,000,000 "stopgap" war tax bill was approved today by a Senate-House conference committee, and congressional leaders said it will be sent to President Truman by Friday night.

The complete agreement, breaking a deadlock, opened the way for Congress to adjourn Saturday until after the November elections, when it will return to act upon a "second installment" tax increase to help pay for the Korean war and for armaments against communist aggression.

Effective October 1

Together the two tax bills, while increasing tax burdens appreciably this year, may boost taxes in 1951 by about $12,000,000,000.

The present compromise bill, agreed upon today, increases the income taxes of over 50,000,000 individuals by almost $3,000,000,000 a year. The higher rates will become effective October 1. The withholdings from wages and salaries will become greater at that time.

The bill increases corporation normal taxes by $1,500,000,000 a year, and embodies a pledge that Congress will act later on a multi-billion dollar corporation excess profits tax, to be effective retroactively to Oct. 1 or July 1, 1950.

Truman Pleased With Bill

Soon after the agreement was readied, President Truman was reported to have telephoned Rep. Doughton (D-NC), chairman of the House conferees, to tell him he was well pleased with the bill.

The measure brings the nation's tax statutes near to a wartime footing.

It provides tax incentives for industry to retool for the production of materials needed by armies defending the democracies, by setting up a system of accelerated amortization, for tax purposes, for industries turned to such production.

Car Rams School Bus; One Killed, 8 Injured

FAULKNER, Md., Sept. 20 (AP) — An automobile crashed into the rear of a crowded school bus near this Charles County town today, killing a man, and injuring eight others—including seven children on the bus.

State Police Trooper C. D. Smith identified the dead man as Claude Mudd, 42, Newburt, Charles County.

Mudd was riding in the car with James B. Purcell, 27, also of Newburg. Purcell was in serious condition tonight in Casualty Hospital, Washington, with head and chest injuries.

Trooper Smith said the school bus left La Plata to take a load of children to their homes in the southern section of the county. It was stopped at a railroad crossing, he reported, when the accident happened.

School Aid Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The House voted $72,500,000 today to start an emergency program of federal aid to districts where school enrollments have been swollen by government activities.

Arrests Of Police And Power Shutoff Keep Berlin On Edge

The rival city governments engaged in a running duel of arresting each other's policemen.

The Soviet sector decided to shut off its electric power to the American, British and French sectors as of midnight tonight.

Three companies of American, British and French troops began combined two-day military maneuvers on the shores of the Havel River in Berlin's western outskirts. The maneuvers followed similar combined exercises in Western Germany and the disclosure that the three powers are drawing up plants for West Berlin's defense.

Red Troops Erect Barrier

In still another incident Soviet trops erected a barrier on British sector territory near the Soviet sector border. They withdrew when the British protested and stationed troops along the border to point out to the Russians the actual boundary. British and Russian officers then began discussions aimed at straightening out the difficulty.

Linked To Big 3 Statement

The various developments, after weeks of comparative quiet, came so soon after the Big Three declaration that an attack on Berlin or West Germany would be an attack on themselves that there seemed to be some connection.

The Berlin police squabble grew out of the arrest of six east zone "people's police" who blundered into the western sectors Monday. They will stand trial Friday on charges of carrying arms illegally. They carried pistols and wore blue uniforms and black boots.

The "people's police" retaliated by taking 25 West Berlin police into custody last night as they were riding the subway to their homes in the east sector. They carried no arms but wore the regulation West police uniform.

Fiery Meteor Seen In Four-State Area

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 20 (AP)—Scores of West Kentuckians all the way from Louisville to Paducah reported today they saw a flaming meteor streaking through the early morning sky.

The object, also visible in Tennessee, Indiana and Illinois, was reported to have exploded in the air somewhere between the Paducah area and Memphis, Tenn. A farmer near Murray, Ky., said a fragment of the meteor fell on his farm.

Witnesses said the meteor was flaming red, lit up the sky and some of them said it appeared to explode.

In Paducah, Acting Desk Sergeant Albert K. Yancey of the police department said the meteor lit up an area around there "so you could almost read a newspaper. He fixed the time at around 2 a. m. (CST).

Dog Experiment Issue To Voters

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP)—The bitter question of using dogs for medical experiments came up again today. This time it came up to the voters.

The Maryland Anti-Vivisection Society and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals already have rigged up the nucleus of a vote-getting machine. It may outshine anything Tom Pendergast or Frank Hague ever put together.

The legal election machinery was unleashed today by a "Citizens Committee for the Dog Referendum"—the anti-vivisection and SPCA people working together.

They deposited at City Hall a petition for a referendum on an amendment to the city charter.

The petition bore 21,259 names—more than twice the 10,000 required to put the issue on the ballot in the general election Nov. 7.

Strip Mining Blamed For Water Shortage

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 20 (AP)—Strip mining was blamed by the nearby village of Smithfield today for a water shortage that forced the closing of three schools.

Mayor Jay Phipps said it was the general opinion in the town the miners had broken through a stratum and caused the underground water to flow off.

Two of the town's three wells went dry yesterday. To conserve the supply from the remaining well, two schools with a total enrollment of 611 were closed.

Foreign Aid Rider Draws Truman Fire

Ban On Shipments To Reds Opposed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — President Truman urged Congress today to refrain from barring economic aid to nations which sell war potential articles to iron curtain countries. He said that such a course carries "danger to the United States and to world peace."

Mr. Truman presented the argument in letters calling on the lawmakers to discard a rider which the Senate had tacked onto the $17,000,000,000 emergency appropriations to buy more arms for the United States and furnish weapons to friendly nations overseas.

House Defers Decision

The President wrote to Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn) and Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), chairmen of the Appropriations Committees of the two houses, just ahead of scheduled action by the House on the issue.

There were quick indications that he might make some headway with his plea, but no hints that the whole idea was likely to be thrown out.

At the time the letter was made public key House members were predicting that their branch would accept the Senate proposal.

In the late afternoon, however, the decision was put off until tomorrow, with Cannon expressing hope that an acceptable compromise can be worked out in the meantime. The postponement followed considerable maneuvering aimed at lining up votes to make the ban less rigid.

Ban Proposed By Wherry

There was no important dispute among the House, Senate and White House over other provisions of the bill. Its principal allotments are $11,736,000,000 for national defense and $4,000,000,000 for foreign arms aid.

The ban on economic assistance to countries selling war-useful materials to the Soviet east was proposed by Sen. Wherry (R-Neb). The Senate wrote it into the bill, and House spokesmen refused to accept it in the conferences held to adjust differences between the two branches.

Barkley Will Stump

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — Vice President Barkley will make a flying campaign tour of 15 states for about 30 speeches in October and November, the Democratic National Committee announced today.

Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr., named Barkley as the administrations No. 1 orator for the November vote drive.

South Korean Middies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — Rep. Hugh D. Scott (R-Pa) introduced a bill today which would admit annually four persons from the Republic of Korea to the United States Naval Academy. Not over 16 could attend the academy at one time.

U. S. War Casualties 13,911 As Of Sept. 15

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) —The Defense Department announced today that families have been notified of 13,911 Korean war casualties through September 15.

The department said this was a cumulative figure that included all casualties reported through that date to the next of kin.

Mystery Whistler Returns, Whistles, And Girl Collapses

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20 (AP) — The mysterious whistler called on 18-year-old Jacquelyn Cadow again last night and the girl collapsed in total hysteria when he started his eerie serenade.

The phantom intruder, who has threatened the girl's life and boasted he would halt here Oct. 1 marriage, twice whistled his mournful funeral dirge last night as he lurked in some shrubbery outside the Cadow home in Paradise, La., about 25 miles west of here.

Jacquelyn and her mother had returned to the small town last night after the whistler found their hideaway in New Orleans. The family said the weird whistling began last February.

Three persons outside the family heard the elusive mystery man last night including a New Orleans States reporter, Roy Heinecke, who joined the girl's husband-to-be, State Trooper Hedbert Belsom, 26, New Orleans and Mrs. R. D. Sylvest, Hammond, La., to keep watch with the family.

"We heard him twice," Heinecke reported. "The first time was about 8:30 p. m. after Mr. Cadow had gone to work. First there was a rustle in the bushes and then a long shrill whistle."

The reporter said he stepped out on the back porch where a yard-light was burning but didn't see anyone. While he stood there, he said, the whistler came again and sounded as though the man were under the kitchen window.

Tobin Urges Restraint Against Pay Hikes; Says Inflation Greatest Threat To Labor

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 20 (AP) — Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin today said inflation is the greatest danger facing American labor.

He told the American Federation of Labor convention the government intends to keep a lid on rising living costs but that it is not yet clear "how far we shall have to go in pulling in our belts."

Tobin added:

"If wage increases can be confined to those accompanying cost of living we'll have some means of controlling inflation."

He urged self-restraint against a constantly upward general wage movement.

An AFL vice president also told the convention today its executive council still is trying to bring about "organic unity" between the AFL and the Congress of Industrial Organization.

Charles J. MacGowan, president of the boilermakers union, said recent unity conferences with CIO representatives were suspended only because of the current conventions and other union meetings.

"We have high hopes and we shall work diligently to bring about what the rank and file of American labor wants — organic unity," he told the convention.

Tobin said, "we shall have to scrape for additional manpower. It is safe to say manpower can be met for a limited time but what about full mobilization?"

The solution, Tobin added, probably will include more women workers, more youths at work, revision of working hours, and cutting down on civilian production.

Murder Case Figure Freed

THOMASTON, Me., Sept. 20 (AP)—Francis M. Carroll, freed from life imprisonment by a judge who branded his conviction fraudulent, walked out of state prison today, no bitterness in his heart.

"I haven't any hard feelings toward anyone," said the 56-year-old former deputy sheriff.

Carroll said he never lost hope. He has no job and no immediate plans for the future.

Carroll had been sentenced in 1938 for the South Paris slaying of Dr. James G. Littlefield.

Behind the prison walls he left a silent but upset Paul N. Dwyer, 30, also serving life for the same slaying. It was Dwyer's accusations months after he was imprisoned that led to Carroll's arrest.

"Boy, that's wonderful shouted Carroll when told that Superior Court Justice Albert Beliveau had granted a writ of habaes corpus, Beliveau upheld Carroll's contention that his constitutional rights had been violated.

There is no appeal from Justice Beliveau's unprecedented action.

No One Hurt As Train Hits Explosives Truck

Lead cylinders filled with gun powder consigned to the Portsmouth Va., Navy Yard were strewn over the grade crossing areas as the truck was hit by the Norfolk & Western passenger train Powhatan Arrow.

The cylinders — about three feet long and four inches in diameter—so closely resemble bombs that first reports were the truck was loaded with bombs.

The Baggett Transport Co. truck from Birmingham, Ala., had waited at the crossing for a freight train to pass. As it cleared the crossing, the driver, Richard Haney, Blytheville, Ark., started across the double tracks. The Powhatan Arrow, which had been hidden by the freight train, crashed into the front of the truck.

Observers said there were two minor explosives, but no fire.

Race For Senate Still Undecided

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate still hung in the balance today—two days after Maryland's primaries—but John Marshall Butler claimed victory and incomplete returns tended to back him up.

If Butler wins, it will be the second contest in which Maryland's unit system of nominating upset the popular vote.

On the incomplete returns—1,017 of 1,429 polling places reported—D. John Markey, retired National Guard general from Walkersville, held a 29,430 to 26,774 margin, over the Baltimore attorney.

These same returns showed Butler with 52 unit votes for certain, plus 18 more he seems sure to get from counties in which he is leading. Butler claimed he will get 33 votes in such counties, but the returns so far are not conclusive enough to say he is in.

Markey has 34 votes for certain and another ten he can pretty well count on.

It takes 77 votes in the party convention to nominate and if the figures follow Butler's claim he will have 85.

The answer may come tomorrow, certainly on Friday, when election supervisors in the counties unlock the election books and canvass the official figures.

Baltimore County May Get Voting Machines

TOWSON, Md., Sept. 20 (AP)—Baltimore County, traditionally the last to complete its count in an election, may have voting machines by the time the next primary rolls around.

Mahoney Backers Await Official Canvass Of Votes

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP) — Carroll County got the jump on Baltimore City and the other 22 counties today and completed its official canvass of votes cast in the primary election.

Baltimore City and most of the other counties will start their canvasses tomorrow.

Representatives of George P. Mahoney, who lost the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to Gov. Lane on the basis of unofficial returns, will have watchers at every counting place.

Lane's unofficial convention vote total was 84 to Mahoney's 68. A shift of nine convention votes would have given the Baltimore contractor the nomination.

Mahoney backers are clinging to a faint hope that the unofficial results will be upset in counties where the margin is narrow.

There are persistent reports that Mahoney will ask for recounts in Garrett, Dorchester and Wicomico Counties if they are not swung into his column by the canvass.

On unofficial results, he lost Garrett's four unit votes by 53 votes, Dorchester's five by 483 and Wicomico's five by 258 votes.

There is still one unreported polling place in Dorchester and two in Wicomico. Final results from those two will not be available until the canvass.

If any two of the three counties were in the Mahoney column he would win.

Taft Says Harriman Sympathetic To Stalin

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft told the Republican state convention tonight that Averill Harriman, advisor to President Truman on foreign affairs, was "one of those who was most sympathetic to Soviet Russia and Joe Stalin."

Taft's remarks was in answer to Harriman's criticism of him yesterday before the American Federation of Labor convention in Houston. Harriman called for Taft's defeat at the November election.

Wiley Renominated By Wisconsin GOP

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 20 (AP)—Wisconsin Republicans had renominated Sen. Alexander Wiley and seven members of the House today but Democrats claimed a gain in vote percentages.

Wiley's Democratic opponent in the November election will be Thomas E. Fairchild, 37, Wisconsin attorney general, who won out in a four-cornered race.

NOTE OF THANKS

Fellow Republicans:

Words cannot express my gratefulness and sincere appreciation for the very splendid support which you tendered me in the Republican Primary for State's Attorney. I hope with all sincerity that I will have your continued support in the coming general election in November. If I am elected as your State's Attorney, I will honorably discharge the duties of the office to the very best of my ability.

Sincerely Yours,

Moberly Will Head Hospital

The new superintendent of Memorial Hospital will be John A. Moberly, Clearfield, Pa., who is replacing Benjamin W. Wright.

Wright resigned to take over duties as superintendent of Wilmington, Del., hospital.

The selection of the Board of Governors of the hospital was announced yesterday by William A. Gunter, president.

Moberly is currently superintendent of Clearfield Hospital, a position he has held for the past five years.

Gunter said Moberly was chosen from a field of nine first-class applicants. The Clearfield hospital is nearly the size of Memorial, Gunter pointed out, as it has 167 beds compared to 208 here.

Moberly was graduated from Johnstown High School, and soon after went to work at Johnstown Memorial Hospital.

There he learned all phases of the administration of a hospital and when he resigned there in 1945 to accept the Clearfield post, he was assistant superintendent.

Moberly will come to Cumberland in November upon completion of an addition to the Clearfield hospital.

Petty Crime Plagues City

Cumberland is being plagued with an outbreak of petty breaking and entering cases, police report.

The City Ice and Fuel Company, 28 North George Street, was entered between 5 p. m. and 8 a. m. Tuesday night after an intruder broke the glass under a window latch on the west side of the firm's office and loading platform. Desk drawers were ransacked and $9.50 was taken.

Three youths were noticed near the A. and P. Super Market on Wineow Street shortly before police discovered the establishment had been broken into Tuesday night. Entrance was gained by forcing a door on the west side of the building. Investigation revealed that nothing had been taken, but it is believed that the intruders were frightened away.

fied authorities that his car was ransacked after he parked the machine at the B. and O. freight house on North George Street Tuesday night. A pair of binoculars and driving gloves were missing from a compartment, Robertson said, adding that other machines in the area were ransacked.

Police also are investigating an entry Tuesday at the Garland-Norton Petroleum Company warehouse, 12-18 Roberts Street. Glass in a window on the east side of the structure was broken but nothing was stolen.

The Workhorse Ships

How many troop transports there were in the great 270-ship armada off Inchon is still a secret. But it is no secret that there must be transports—plenty of them—for an amphibious task of such magnitude. In a day when airplanes carry military personnel of all ranks, it's possible to forget that surface ships are still the main way of getting troops from here to there.

The growing hull of the 48,000-ton super liner United States has just been roughly turned away from round-the-world cruises, dance music and evening gowns. Decoration will be functional. There will be less emphasis on chromium and deep-pile carpet—and more on rigging as many bunks as space will allow for.

It is revealed also that the name will not be the United States any more. That's the name originally assigned to the super carrier that was laid down, also at Newport News, but was sidetracked (temporarily at least) by former Secretary of Defense Johnson.

Under the $18,000,000 ship-renovation item in the defense budget a half dozen Victory ships will be put back into service by the Maritime Commission. A vast flotilla of these is parked in the Hudson River. It doesn't look as if a large shipbuilding program needed be undertaken in the forseeable future.

Ecdysiastic Fiasco

It is not surprising to read that Gypsy Rose Lee, that versatile author and radio quiz star, seems to have dodged attempts to bare her as a crypto-communist clothed in false pretenses. In another of her specialties, she has had plenty of experience in dealing with unruly members of the audience trying to expose her.

Miss Lee is the only strip-teaser of record who could take an intelligence test without flunking it, and it would do something to male illusions if it were proved that she were dumb enough, after all, to fall for the party line.

Pointing out that Miss Lee has signed an affidavit denying everything, a broadcasting company head asked a protesting official what proof he had. He didn't have any, exactly, he said, but her name was on a blacklist of alleged communist sympathizers called "Red Channels," and maybe the publishers of that had proof.

The blacklist said that she participated on four occasions in an activity sponsored by one or another organization which was, or later became, a communist front. Miss Lee's affidavit, which lays her open to legal action if it isn't true, says she had nothing to do with any of these groups and can prove it.

Miss Lee is in a peculiarly fortunate position. The cities of America are full of people who can personally testify that she has nothing to hide.

And to think that two months ago we thought prices were high!

Gone With The Wind

Dr. H. H. Bennett, veteran chief of the United States Soil Conservation Service, says the prairies of the Midwest, which comprise the greatest bread basket in the world, started with nine inches of topsoil and now have six, that half the land area of the United States has been damaged by erosion, and only 460,000,000 acres of first class land is left, or approximately three acres per inhabitant.

It's a dark picture he paints, dark enough for anybody. In a few more generations, unless proper policies are applied, he says, the United States will wind up a poor, have-not nation, all its vaunted wealth and standard of living gone with the wind and the water.

Here is a field which, while not subject to the sensationalism that international affairs and domestic politics produce, is basically the most important problem facing America, if the situation is as dark as painted. The nation must stop soil erosion if it is to support an ever-increasing population.

A few poor crop years, coupled with war, could result in troublesome food shortages. Phenomenal yields in the last decade have resulted in huge surpluses, but it cannot be assumed that bumper crops will continue to be produced each year.

Opportunity no longer knocks. The radio quiz show brings it in by way of the ringing telephone.

Five Stars For Bradley

The purpose behind the creation of the rank of five star general, or general of the Army, was to reward with commensurate authority a position of extreme responsibility. Under the act of Congress, creating the rank in 1944, four generals — MacArthur, Arnold, Eisenhower and Marshall—have been given the circular five star insignia. The Senate has just passed a measure giving this rank to Gen. Omar N. Bradley, present chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

There was only a minor kickup in the Senate over the proposal. That was on purely technical grounds. It had nothing to do with Bradley's fitness and reflected nothing on his record. Anyone who has followed the career of this mild-appearing strategist will wonder whether anyone cares to risk the ire of the general's countrymen by opposing the promotion. If Bradley's present arduous duties do not merit it, certainly his past triumphs in Africa and in Europe do.

Diplomacy is the technique of cutting the other fellow down without evidence of pain.

Swiftly-Turning Tide

Experiences at Anzio and in other similar operations in World War II have warned Americans not to expect too much too soon from such maneuvers. But the immense size of the landing armada made it clear that the landing at Inchon was a major offensive operation.

For all practical purposes, the war in Korea is ended. Unless Russia is determined to prolong it, that is. The North Koreans are licked. The South Korean capital of Seoul, is the main gateway through which poured the munitions and supplies for the North Korean troops which ringed the U. S. beachhead at Pusan. The enemy's line of supply now is functioning spasmodically.

The shift from the defensive to the offensive in Korea came sooner than most persons had hoped, and the success of the offensive is amazing.

The impossible is the thing nobody can do until someone does it.

Breastfeeding Has Precedence

BREAST MILK versus cow's milk for infants continues to be a controversial subject. According to one authority, the usual reasons advanced for preferring human milk are trite, tho correct. It is difficult to combat that simple and logical argument that nature intended human milk for humans and cow's milk for the more robust stomach and quicker growth of the calf.

The trite reasons are so impressive that we may well wonder how any child ever survived a nipple stoppered bottle. Dr. Phillip C. Jean states that mother's milk is easier to digest and has a lower bacterial count. Babies so fed are protected to a certain extent from infections and seldom develop allergies and digestive disturbances traceable to their diet.

In addition, breastfeeding comes naturally and does not require an ounce of brains. In this respect the problem of human error in prescribing and preparing a formula never enters the picture. Nursing also satisfies many of the emotional needs of the youngster, thus contributing to his future sense of security and maturity. Another factor is that human milk encourages good growth and physical status.

From all this there can be no argument that nursing is the ideal procedure, despite all the current refinements in artificial feedings. But this does not mean that the formula is of no value and that every tot who received cow's milk will be beseiged with infections or allergies, or that physical and mental growth will be disturbed. As a matter of fact, differences in the two types of feeding are not great. Millions of men and women thruout the world owe their lives to old Bess because many mothers were unable to nurse their offspring and were forced to rely upon a formula. Furthermore, cow's milk is rich in nutriments and contains three times as much protein and even more calcium, magnesium, and other minerals.

Studies have shown that as a result of larger proportions of protein and calcium, babies fed on cow's milk develop approximately 25 per cent more muscle mass than the breastfed. This increase takes place soon after artificial feeding is started. Of course, babies are not prone to chin themselves and do not need the muscular development of Georgeous George.

The fact that cow's milk is richer in calcium is not necessarily an advantage because it is not as easily absorbed as that in human milk. This is true also of many calcium products including tablets and wafers that are sold over the drug store counter. The size of the tablet means nothing because in the final analysis it is the amount absorbed and used by the blood that counts.

The quantity of vitamin C and thiamine chloride depends to a certain extent upon the diet of the mother and consequently the quantity of these substances is likely to be higher in human milk. Moreover, the heat used in preparing the formula lowers the vitamin C content of cow's milk. Vitamin D is lacking in both and must be supplemented regardless of the source of supply.

TOMORROW: Multiple sclerosis has a crazy quilt pattern.

MENTAL DISORDER

A. T. writes: Is schizophrenia inheritable?

REPLY

This is questionable. Considerable research has been done on the cause of this mental disorder but so far no one has been able to prove that heredity plans a role. On the other hand, it is possible that the type of temperament and the emotional reactions needed to produce schizophrenia are passed from one generation to another.

Possibly, provided you are able to discover and eliminate the cause. The condition might be brought on by certain foods, poor eating habits, overacidity, anxiety, or overwork. Corrections along this line help materially.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Congressional memories sometimes are very short. It was only last year that the Senate refused to confirm Carl Ilgenfritz as chairman of the Munitions Board because he declined to give up his $60,000 salary from the U. S. Steel Corporation.

However, just about the same thing is now happening with two other high officials and nothing is being said about it. They are:

1. E. G. Plowman, another U. S. Steel executive, who gets $66,000 a year from his company while working for Uncle Sam as director of the Defense Department's Military Traffic Service.

2. William H. Harrison, who has just assumed charge of war controls in the Commerce Department while still drawing his salary from International Telephone and Telegraph.

The excuse given for permitting men to draw a salary from private industry while working for the government is that it is hard to get good men to serve the government without doing so. This is true in peacetime. But in wartime, when thousands of G. I.'s not only have to give up their jobs but their lives, it would seem that enough patriotic businesmen would be willing to work for a government stipend of $15,000 to $20,000 a year.

Jimmy Roosevelt

Jimmy Roosevelt helped to place the insurance on two housing projects at an Air Force field at Victorville, Calif.

Air Force officials state, however, that they had nothing to do with placing the insurance, and that the matter was left entirely in the hands of the private promoters.

There are two housing projects at the Victorville Air Base: 400 homes built by the Victor Valley Housing Corp., and 250 homes built by Mesa Estates.

C. O. Moore is the owner of Mesa Estates and also owns 40 per cent of the Victor Valley project. He, being a close friend of Roosevelt's, placed the insurance with the firm of Roosevelt and Sergeant, which in turn acted as the broker in placing the insurance on all 650 homes with various companies.

Johnson's Exit

Secretary of Defense Johnson took the news of his dismissal as if he had been struck by lightning. On the morning he was fired, he was cheerfully planning speeches for the American Bar Association, American Federation of Labor and American Legion.

On the morning after he was fired, he put in a routine appearance at his staff conference. General McNarney opened the meeting by saying how shocked they all were at the new development.

But Johnson held up his hand and mumbled: "No, no. Not now." Tears welled up in his eyes, and McNarney sat down.

Assistant Secretary of Defense McNeil also tried to say something appropriate. But again Johnson held up his hand. So everyone present stood up, announced there was nothing to report, and solemnly filed out of the room.

Under the Dome

After Secretary Chapman finished wiping up the Senate floor with Senator Schoeppel of Kansas, the Interior Secretary attended a Cabinet meeting. As he entered the room, President Truman said: "Here comes Joe Louis. Sit down, champ." . . . Republican leaders had planned to pick out every member of the Truman Cabinet one by one and attack them in the Senate. But Senator Schoeppel's smear of Secretary of the Interior Chapman has backfired so badly that the campaign will be abandoned . . . Though President Truman told the press it is "customary" for the Army, Navy and Air Force to hand in their resignations when the Secretary of Defense leaves, these three have agreed to stick together and not resign—unless requested . . . Donald Dawson, an aide to President Truman, is being considered as head of the New York Stock Exchange . . . About two months ago, Truman called ex-Undersecretary of State Bob Lovett to the White House and asked him to become Acheson's deputy to the Atlantic Union Conferences. Lovett literally wept. His doctor had forbade him to take a job for another year.

Seating Red China

British Foreign Minister Bevin has been nursing a plan to get Communist China admitted to the United Nations through action by the General Assembly.

Bevin has worked out his strategy with India's Premier Pandit Nehru. Both are convinced that, although Russia has been agitating for the Chinese communists to be admitted to the U. N., actually, Russia is dead against red China joining the world organization. According to British intelligence, Russia hopes that by keeping China out, she can remain as China's spokesman and appear to the Chinese people to be their one real friend.

Bevin and Nehru are also convinced that Mao Tse-Tung and the Kremlin are not getting along well. They hope Mao will become a Chinese "Tito."

Therefore, Bevin and Nehru plan to bring the question of seating the Chinese to a vote before the General Assembly where the veto cannot be used. However, it will probably require a two-thirds vote to seat the red Chinese and exclude the Nationalists. The British think they can muster the required votes to break the deadlock.

Merry-Go-Round

General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, took off to rest and work on his memoirs the other day. Immediately fireworks broke loose. First Secretary of Defense Johnson was fired, then the Marines landed at Inchon. Bradley scurried back to the Pentagon . . . Three military men have served as Secretary of War. Maj. Gen. Henry Knox, an officer in the Revolutionary War, was the first Secretary of War, while two Civil War generals—Grant and Sherman—also served as Secretary . . . The 953 lobbyists, paid $7,000,000 a year to bring pressure on Congress, are heading for home . . . More than a million tons of steel plate and pipe have gone underground in the last six weeks—part of it bootlegged into the Texas oil fields, where it sells $50 a ton above the market price . . . Industrialist Willard Rockwell almost let the cat out of the bag when he introduced Senator Byrd of Virginia as Presidential timber last week in Pittsburgh. Representatives of the National Tax Association and National Associaion of Manufacturers have been urging Byrd privately to run for President, but Rockwell was not supposed to say anything about it . . . Congressman Case of South Dakota has been paying for rainmaking experiments out of his own pocket. Due to the heavy expense, he now wants to shift the cost to Congress.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH ALSOP

How They Took Kimpo I

WITH THE MARINES ON THE SEOUL FRONT

IT is all but impossible to convey the mingled flavors of an actual combat operation — the tension when things go ill, the exhilaration when they go well, the humor and the boredom, the exhaustion and the excitement. But having marched with the marines from the Inchon landing area to Kimpo airport, this reporter will at least struggle to tell what it was like.

"The problem," as the regimental S-3 (operations officer) explained it, "was to mach about eleven miles through enemy territory and seize Kimpo, the main airfield of Seoul, before dusk could fall." The marine battalion that did the job did not quite solve the problem according to the rules laid down by the S-3, but they solved it all the same.

For our battalion (one develops these possessive feelings rather rapidly in the field), the day began at dawn, with an attack by six enemy tanks and supporting infantry on the battalion's positions on the hills just above Inchon port. The tanks were ambushed in a pass. The Russian T-34s rumbled up the road in file. The 90 mm. cannon of the Pershings spoke angrily and efficiently. The marines in the forward foxholes picked off the North Korean infantry as they leaped from the suddenly flaming, crazily careening T-34s. The first part of the road was decorated with smoking tank hulks and twisted corpses when the long file of infantry began to form in the pass for the forward march.

In the early morning sunlight, the rolling country towards Seoul shone green and golden, but the air was still sharply chilly.

The men of Easy Company, who were to form the point of the attacking column all the way to Kimpo, stamped their feet to warm themselves. In the squad with which this reporter fell in, they were proudly reminiscing about the battle of No Name Ridge, the marines' worst in Korea, where the little handful of men had been the first up the hill. "He got to the top," remarked Pfc. Marion De Shong, pointing to Cpl. Paul Navarro, who looked too young to be in the service at all. "There were forty-two of us went up and only one came down in one piece."

The March Begins

At this Easy Company's commander, Capt. Samuel Jaskilka, an officer who had made a great name in this fighting, passed the word for the march to begin. The column stepped smartly along the road. There was a sharp rattle of firing in the hills to the right, where a partner battalion was working forward as flank support for the main attack. But the men were more interested in the burning tanks. "If they was C-rations inside, they'd make good hot chow," some one said, raising a laugh.

The first trouble started at the little railroad town of Bupyong, which was to be cleared by the wiry little American-uniformed South Korean marines. The tiled roofs of the town lay below the road, which was under sharp fire. Easy Company worked its way along the dusty road-side ditch until they reached the turn for Kimpo, where they scuttled across the road in groups to help the South Koreans. A hidden group of enemy with automatic weapons were firing bursts onto the road up a gully filled with vegetable patches. The company mortars laid a couple of hells into the area, and as the North Koreans scattered, the marines got them with rifles. The first obstruction was out of the way, and Capt. Jaskilka led the column down the Kimpo road, meanwhile sending a fire party through the houses along the flank, where brisk fighting was still in progress. An enemy mortar shell landed in a buckwheat patch by the roadside, setting it on fire, and the road suddenly echoed again with the nasty singing zip-zip of bullets passing. Once more the marines went into the ditch, while Jaskilka cooly swept the town and nearby bluffs with field glasses, to try to locate the source of the new trouble. Such was the pattern of the passage through Bupyong. The South Koreans and the marine fire parties ferreted through the houses, occasionally capturing a prisoner who would be sent out onto the road stark naked and shivering. The main body moved when it could, and when pinned down, quickly took the guessed-at enemy positions under fire. The enemy firing was perferctly unpredictable—one of the worst bursts came when everything seemed to be over, and Capt. Jaskilka was conferring about the next stage of the road with the business-like batallion commander, Lt. Col. Harold Roise. By methods incomprehensible to the untrained observer, Roise and Jaskilka methodically eliminated all the many pockets of an enemy who was never visible except at the closest quarters. It was a tense, slow business, but it worked. Jaskilka only betrayed strain once, when someone repeated an unfounded rumor of heavy casualties in Easy Company's rear platoon.

"Dammit," he said, when the rumor proved unfounded, "don't tell me things that just aren't true."

Real Turning Point

War Or Peace Will Not Be A One-Nation Affair

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 — A way around the veto in the U. N.—a way to mobilize the military as well as the moral force of the free nations of the world—has been devised.

The first intimations of it came in a declaration by John D. Hickerson, assistant secretary of state, but the full meaning of it will not be apparent until the General Assembly has, during its current meeting, developed the plan to fruition.

What the Security Council cannot do because of the Soviet veto can be accomplished through the General Assembly, where there is no veto. But it will take the form of a "resolution" by the assembled governments instead of a "recommendation," such as the Security Council may vote.

In a sense the procedure will be novel but actually it will be merely an expression of the power of any group of nations to take collective action for their own defense. The charter of the United Nations did provide, under Article 51, for such collective steps on the military side as any group of nations might wish to take. No nation is committed to act that doesn't desire to do so, but the moral force of any resolution of the assembly can be as great as the cause that the nations seek to champion.

Important Words

The exact words of Mr. Hickerson are important to examine, because they undoubtedly reflect the program planned by the free nations in advance of the present meeting of the assembly. He said:

"The Soviets might choose of their own accord to leave the United Nations. We could not control such a decision. But in our planning we should assume that they will remain in the United Nations.

"Does this mean that we must give up any hope that the United Nations will take effective, collective measures against aggression as long as the Soviets choose to remain in the United Nations and exercise their veto? Certainly not.

"There is no veto in the General Assembly, and the General Assembly has broad powers and responsibilities under the charter . . . The General Assembly will want to examine its own experience and authority in the light of the lessons of Korea in order to devise effective measures to suppress aggression when the Security Council is paralyzed."

Mr. Hickerson pointed out that the historic action of the Security Council at its June meeting, which Russia did not attend, was only a "recommendation," and adds:

"If such a Security Council resolution were to be vetoed in a future case of aggression, might not the same results be achieved within the framework of the charter upon a resolution of the General Assembly?

"Certainly there is no question that the General Assembly will have the authority to make such a recommendation. The real question is the practical one. Would it be able to operate rapidly and effectively enough?"

Interim Commission

This brings up the possibility of forming what has been called "the little assembly," which would be an interim commission with full power to set in motion the international machinery in cases of emergency.

These steps look toward the mobilization of world opinion which is so essential a preliminary step to the mobilization of military forces. The continued presence of Soviet envoys in the United Nations attests to the importance which the politburo evidently attaches to the doings of the big international organization of which Russia was a charter member.

The American policy, moreover, will seek to remind the Russians constantly of their obligations under the charter — a significant step related to the psychological aspects of the conflict between the East and West. The Department of State further says that while Messrs. Malik and Vishinsky "may not be very approachable," they are more so in New York than behind the Iron Curtain and there is always the hope they may some time give heed to "the overwhelming weight of world opinion."

What this really means is that if war comes, it will be a United Nations war and, if peace is made, it will be through the United Nations. It certainly will not be a one-nation affair, no matter what Russia's [illegible]

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Day Of Atonement

ON this day, Jews throughout the world meet in prayer on the holiest day of their religious calendar, Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

It is a day set aside for self-examination. There has been a year of human activity, in which the nature of man has had free play, and on this day, the penitent know that they have sinned and say so in common confession. There can only be transgression, if there is law. Therefore, the very act of common confession, in a house of worship, among one's family and neighbors, is an acknowledgment of the authority of God's law.

This year, many will ask themselves what the meaning can be of such a day in the continuing horrors which face not only mankind but each family. They thought that they were through with war. They believed that they would no longer live in the dread fear of losing their sons to Goliath. They hoped that somehow, perhaps by means of the United Nations, peoples would learn to live at peace.

Last year, during the Day of Atonement, there seemed to be jubilation in many hearts. The savagery of war was almost forgotten. This year, there will be the usual roll-call of the dead —of those dead whose young lives were spilled on the hillsides of Korea.

And some will ask: How have I sinned that this has had to happen to me?

And others will wonder about retribution and what it can really mean. Can there be a world of love when we seem to plant only the seeds of hate? Can there be a brotherhood of man when we plow with swords and reap with tanks and airplanes?

What makes such things come to pass? Few will confess that it is their own unwillingness to face the truth that there is in this world good and evil; that good is that which abides by the natural law of God; that evil is that which, denying God, leaves life without morality, without justice or right. And that between these two there never can be any compromise.

This we do not like to admit, because it makes life hard and rigid. We prefer an easier way, a live-and-let-live way, appeasing what is obviously wrong, improvising to meet pressures, sacrificing established principles to avoid conflict and dissension. And yet, such a course can only bring in its wake, greater discord, greater dissension, even war.

Should a news column comment upon such subjects as this? Is it not as much news that many millions on this day unite in public confession of transgression as it is that such a creature as Jacob Malik parrots the lies he is instructed to speak—without will, without conscience, without humanity? What is greater news than that all our miseries have not destroyed our faith that justice will triumph and the truth will prevail, if we only follow God's guidance?

Always on this day, I ponder these problems of life. It is good to pause, to rest from all the excitement which surrounds us. It is good to examine not only one's own conduct, but one's communal conduct.

This is such a glorious country in which to live, despite its politicians and tricksters and all the greedy men who scheme and plan. And what do they gain?

Since 1943, men in this country have been covering their errors. Those errors have already cost millions of lives consigned to slavery and thousands of lives killed in this current war.

But what about those who erred? What about the men of Teheran and Yalta? They have to live with the course of events which they helped to engineer. We may wonder at their motives; but they know what impelled them and their colleagues to reduce Poland and China to bondage; to keep Germany in turmoil; to destroy the liberties of Czechoslovakia and Hungary; to imperil our own land by not preventing the war in Asia.

Would that we had a tradition in this country similar to that of the Day of Atonement, so that our politicians, instead of speaking against each other, would rise and confess to their transgressions. Impractical? Has anything in history been more impractical than Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam where errors were made which may take centuries of effort and millions of lives to overcome? The practical men so often do such impractical things.

Judge Upholds Employment Board In Benefits Cases

Associate Judge George Henderson upheld the Employment Security Board in an opinion handed down concerning Celanese Corporation in four or five uemployment benefits cases.

Judge Henderson said:

"In each of the five cases, the Employment Security Board decided that the experience rating of the employer should be charged with benefits paid the respective employes. The employer appealed, claiming that because of what had happened since the original furlough of the employes it was no longer chargeable with unemployment benefits paid to its former employes.

"Employers pay into the state fund 'contributions,' the standard rate being 2.7 per cent of the payroll. But this is reduced if the employer keeps his employment stabilized. If his "experience rating record is low, his contribution rate to the state fund is correspondingly low. It is based on the proportion which benefits paid his unemployed workers bears to his total payroll.

Must Have Good Rating

"To put it another way: If an employer is able to keep his employes at fairly steady work, as a result of which they draw little or nothing from the state fund when unemployed, then the employer is called upon for a smaller future contribution to the fund. But unless his experience rating record is good, he pays the so called standard rate of contribution, which is 2.7 per cent of his payroll."

Judge Henderson stated that withdrawal from the pension fund at Amcelle constitutes a definite termination and loss of all rights of seniority.

All of the five men withdrew their total contribution to the pension fund and only one of the five who are parties in the five cases, was later recalled.

The issue of the cases, he said, what that whether a certain part of unemployment benefits paid to these men may be charged against the corporation's experience rating record.

The Employment Security Board decision stated that in all five cases the employer-employe relationship ceased for the purpose of the Unemployment Compensation Law at the time of the furloughs, that at the time of the resignations, none of them had any job with the company from which they could resign.

Due To Furlough

Therefore, the judge declared: "It would seem that the reasoning of the board is substantially correct, and is properly applicable to four of the five cases."

"In the four cases there was unemployment due to a furlough at the Celanese plant. There was no intimation as to when if ever there would be a recall. And under the law it became the duties of the employes then out of work to seek employment elsewhere.

"They were certainly entitled under the law to draw benefits until they had exhausted their several benefit counts, or until they had obtained permanent employment. And these benefits were properly chargeable against the employer, because of the latter's failure 'to provide more stable employment.'"

In the other case the man was recalled to work after the furlough, but did not return because he had another job, which he decided to keep.

"Under such circumstances he has 'left the service of the employer voluntarily without good cause attributable to his employer'; and therefore the employer's account cannot be charged under the compensation law.

The reception is to be held September 26 at the Algonquin Hotel from 8 until 9 o'clock. The general public is invited to attend. Members of the Democratic State Central Committee and candidates for office also will be among the guests.

Mrs. Long is chairman of the committee of arrangements. She is being assisted by Miss Nell Fannon, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Romano Ways, Mrs. Mae Mont and Mrs. Jane Bruce.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the state meeting to be held in Baltimore today. Miss Mary J. Schellhaus, chairman of Western Maryland District, will attend.

An informal dance will be held by the Women's League of Beth Jacob congregation tonight in the vestry rooms. Music will be by an orchestra beginning at 8:30 and there will be special entertainment. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Duplicate Sessions Continue

There is to be a session of this special event each Thursday evening until October 19. Anyone can still qualify for the special awards. To win this event players must be present and play in four out of six weeks. The top score will be counted for the four weeks.

September 28 will be the local club's first Master Point night and all first place winners will receive full master points.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McGreevy of the Cumberland club came in third in the Sunday evening finals of the Southwestern Pennsylvania tournament held at the Summit Hotel, near Uniontown, last weekend, with over 1,500 players participating. They will receive special master awards. Albert Heacox and Russ Minter, also of the local club, finished fifth in the tourney.

WOMEN WILL SHINE THIS AUTUMN AS POLISHED ACCESSORIES HELP TO SMARTEN UP THAT WARDROBE

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

That shiny look is seen in the gloves, hats, handbags and shoes that complement the fabulous new fabrics of the season.

With the rough tweeds and fleeces that are so important in the winter style picture, polished capeskin or glace kid gloves, handbag and shoes add a groomed look. And the hat may well be one of the new lacquered hatter's plush cloches that have the sheen of a man's top hat.

You'll be seeing well-shined shoes, lustrous bags and gleaming French kid gloves worn with the most distinguished ensembles this fall, ranging all the way from sports outfits to evening gowns.

For afternoon and late day wear there are French kid gloves in delicate pastel shades, fitted as snugly as the skin, to give a dainty feminine look to hands. The kid shortie glove is in favor for afternoon wear, while a dramatic cocktail glove is elbow length and embroidered with narrow leather throngs.

With tweeds, polished capeskin shorties and for wear with the new shortie-sleeved coats there are elbow-length, hand-sewn gloves in colors to match or contrast with the newest coat and suit tones.

Candy colors are occupying the style spotlight in the glove field. There are butterscotch, nougat, taffy and caramel, all in the exact tones of their namesakes, designed to wear with outfits in a slightly deeper tone of the same color.

You won't need a crystal ball to choose the best of the new fashions, if you follow my advice!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

THE trendworthy clothes in this season's fashions are all slim and sleek. You can wear them, even if your figure does not match them. All you have to know is which ones were designed with your figure in mind.

Want a slim, sheath-like dress? If you are tall and thin or short and thin, look for one with a shirred, detachable apron, horizontal braid trim, sewed-on or buttoned-on asymmetrical drapes. These are the details that make this style wearable for you. The tall-heavy and short-heavy will find their interpretation in a surplice closing of the blouse and/or braid and piping placed diagonally or vertically on wrapped skirts.

Becoming Hiplines

Yearning for a suit or suit dress? Be wary of the stiffened, rounded hip if you are a hip reducer—and the jacket that starts to button below the waistline for the same reason. Watch the deep openings—select a V if you want to look slimmer or a U if you can afford to look the way you are. Watch the spacing of double-breasted buttons; keep them close together for a slim line.

Hankering for the jacket dress? The short toreador or mess jacket gives length to the leg-line but leaves hip girth exposed. The fingertip jacket cuts height. The bloused and belted jacket extending slightly below the widest part of the hips is a figure camouflager. Pick the one that does what you want it to do.

Points to Watch

Shoulders and Sleeves: The growing tendency toward set-in sleeves with shoulders squared off by a bit of padding is good news for the heavy figure. It's good news for everybody that the becoming three-quarter, moderately wide sleeve continues. Quite another story is the skin-tight sleeve; you need embraceable arms for this one! And you need a confined torso for the spread of the bat wing sleeve.

Lower waistline: This is a straw in the wind, rarely more than suggested by hip yokes or dipping contour belts. A nice balance for the tall figure.

High fashion notes: Ensembles with coats lined of the dress material. Fur-trimmed suits. Dinner baretops with daytime jackets. Dressy touches of braid, piping, velvet, satin and tassels.

Remember, fashion is pretty when it is pretty on you!

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

Her movie career and her career as an authoress have only been topped by her career as the mother of a bunch of professional football players . . . And mothering her husband, Mr. George Marshall, the owner of the Washington Redskins, is no job for a weakling.

When Noel Coward's "Design for Living" opened in Washington at the National Theatre some years ago, the lovely star met George Marshall, a tall, talkative, self-made millionaire, gentle as a ten-ton truck . . . That was the end of her career as an actress. Since then, she has retired to a not-very-private life as hostess to sports personalities, politicians, and celebrities from Coast to Coast. She lives half the year in Washington and is at present in her [illegible] mansion. AUSTINE.

Let's Live Dangerously

By CORINNE GRIFFITH

WHAT a day! I rose early, put on my swim suit and was down at the pool by nine o'clock.

CORINNE GRIFFITH

Nine o'clock! There was a busy day ahead I'd take just one look at the avocado trees heavy with purple fruit and a new flowerbed of Antheriums, (pronounced An-thirr-e-ums) brought here in bulbs from Hawaii. The Antheriums are large waxy flowers shaped like Calla lillies; either a deep shining red or coral The flowers were wilting a bit, and I wondered if they were planted in too hot a place. I'd ask Henry, the gardener. First I'd take my swim. Someone called from the house—I was wanted on the telephone. "Tell Henry I want to see him" I called as I ran up the steps.

There was a bit of excitement in our household. My youngster, Cynthia, was being married. Besides, George (I'm married to George Marshall—the Marshall without a plan) and his Washington Redskins football team were in town. The Redskins had just beaten the Los Angeles Rams before a record-breaking crowd of over 96,000. They also licked the San Francisco 49-ers and the Chicago Cardinals before they could catch their breaths.

Of course this doesn't mean any added excitement because anyone who knows George knows what a calm, quieting influence he is around a house, especially after three straight football victories.

Also, I'm writing a book. My first book was about George. This one is about my father . . . "Papa's Delicate Condition" is the title, but of course writing a book around my house is unimportant when you consider Cynthia's wedding and George's football team.

The telephone call was from my architect. I am building the biggest and most important building I've ever built, but of course that's unimportant too!

The maid of honor's dress for Cynthia's wedding was a little off the shade of blue we selected. "It's about a half tone off," said the wedding director. "Well," I replied with strength of character, "let's live dangerously, let's use it a half tone off."

• — • — •

Now, for the swim, it's getting late . . . the telephone again.

Mr. Herbert Nelson, Executive Vice-President of the National Real Estate Boards, was calling from Washington. Mr. Nelson wanted to know if I would speak to the members of the National Realtors convention in Miami on November 15. This is the first time a woman has ever been asked to address them. What an honor! Would I? "Yes!" I replied.

Again the telephone - - - -

Austine asked me to write a guest column . . . Would I? "Yes!" I replied.

"That's wonderful, will you do it today?"

"Today? But what will I write about?"

"Anything, and toss in a few names that will be interesting to Washington."

Names . . . what names could I use that would be interesting to Washington? . . . there's Jesse Jones . . . young Senator Smathers . . . but these names all seem so colorless, when you consider that I have known such football greats as Head Walker, Buckets Goldenberg. . .

• — • — •

Things were beginning to get jumbled up. There was the music to select for the wedding; the down-payment to make on the house for Cynthia's wedding present; the plans for the fourth building to O.K.; a new episode for "Papa's Delicate Condition"; I must tell Henry to pick the avocados today; that reminded me of the Antheriums, poor things wilting like that. Would could be wrong with them?

A knock on the door. "I told you no more telephone calls."

"But it's Henry the gardener."

"What does Henry want?"

"It's about those Hawaiian flowers."

"What about those Hawaiian flowers?"

Root rot in my Antheriums!!! This is the last straw! I'm going swimming if I drown first!!!

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR
Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.
To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:
First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.
Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Cleveland Jolts Red Sox Twice, Yankees And Tigers Win

Lemon And Wynn Hurl Tribe To 6-3, 7-1 Wins

Easter, Gordon Belt Homers As Cleveland Drops Boston To 3rd

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20 (INS) — The Cleveland Indians threw their one-two pitching punch — Bob Lemon and Early Wynn—at Boston today and whipped them 6 to 3 and 7 to 1 and sent the Red Sox falling into third place.

The Tribe's doubleheader victory dropped Boston two games behind the American League-leading New York Yankees.

Lemon's seven-hit pitching in the opener was supported by the sharp hitting of Luke Easter and Larry Doby. Easter whacked his 27th home run with a man on base in the first inning and Doby drove in two runs with a pair of singles to help Lemon to his 21st victory and fifth without a loss over Boston.

Wynn pitched five-hit ball in the second game to record his 17th win. Walt Dropo's 34th home run in the seventh inning spoiled a shutout for Wynn.

It was a two-run homer that started the Indians to victory in both games. Joe Gordon replaced Easter in the hero's role in the second contest by socking a four-ply blow with one man aboard. Box:

East Side Maids Cop Title, 5-0

Adams Blanks Moose In Queen's Playoff

The East Side Maids, behind the two-hit pitching of Doris Adams, copped the final playoff game from the Moose lassies yesterday at Stitcher field by the score of 5 to 0 to win the title of the Queen's Softball League for the second straight season.

The defending champs won three straight victories after playing a 7-7 tie with the Moose girls in the opening contest of their best-of-five series.

Clara Hudson and Helen Winebrenner each collected two hits for East Side, including one double apiece. These were the only hits allowed by opposing hurler Dot Heavner.

East Side clinched the game with two runs in the first frame when after two were out Hudson singled and Winebrenner doubled for the first run. An outfield error on Jeanne Hale's fly ball produced the second tally.

East Side won by scores of 11-5, 10-6 and 5-0 to cop the title. The 11-5 contest was halted by rain at the end of five innings with the score 11-4 East Side and the final two innings of the game were completed yesterday at Stitcher field after the completion of the regular game.

MOOSE	000 000 0—0 2 3

Adams and Hudson. Heavner and Pischel.

Giants Lose Two To Cincinnati

Blackwell Wins 4-1; Hearn Loses 2 To 0

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (INS)—Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell and Ken Raffensberger stalled the Giants' bid for higher standing in the National League today when they pitched the Reds to a double win over the New Yorkers.

Blackwell four-hitted the Giants in the opener, for a 4-to-1 decision over Dave Koslo. Then Raffensberger, aided by two errors and Ted Kluszewski's 25th homer, blanked the New Yorkers, 2 to 0 in the afterpiece.

Jim Hearn, who allowed only three hits in the second game, was tagged with his fourth loss in seventeen decisions. Box:

Frostburg Plans Ladies Dux Loop

FROSTBURG, Sept. 21 — A women's city duckpin league is being formed in Frostburg and the acting president, Mrs. Helen Ferree, has called a meeting at the Majestic lanes, Thursday evening, 8 o'clock.

To - date eight teams comprise the league, namely, Evan's Cleaners, Cecil Engle's Meats, Century Club, V. F. W., G. C. Murphy's Classic Beauty Shop, Seitzer's Restaurant and Sodality.

Members of teams, who bowled in the Century Club League of last year are urged to attend.

AL Playoff Plans Decided In Case Of Possible Tie

Detroit Draws Bye; Flip Of Coin Used

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (INS)—A flip of the coin in Chicago today determined the site or sites in the event a playoff is necessary to settle a two or three-way tie in the American League baseball race.

Representatives of the major wire services did the coin tossing in American League President Will Harridge's office and the following was decided:

1. If Boston ties with New York, a one-game playoff will be held in Boston, Oct. 2.

2. If Boston ties with Detroit, a one-game playoff will be held in Detroit, Oct. 2.

3. If New York ties with Detroit, a one-game playoff will be held in New York, Oct. 2.

Boston will play New York at Yankee Stadium on Oct. 2 in the event of a three-club tie and Detroit will receive a bye. The winner of the Boston-New York playoff would then be the host team against the Tigers, Oct. 3.

The victor of this second playoff game would represent the American League in the world series.

President Harridge said this was the fifth time in the past seven seasons that coins have been tossed to arrange for possible two or three team ties.

Cards Edge Boston 1-0

Bickford Loses Duel With Boyer

BOSTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Sore armed Cloyd Boyer limited the Boston Braves to four scattered singles tonight while pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 1-0 shutout victory. The setback dropped the Braves into a second place tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers, seven and a half games behind the front running Philadelphia Phillies.

The Cardinals registered their big tally in the eighth. Marty Marion opened with a single, was sacrificed by Del Rice and romped in from second base after Peanuts Lowery singled sharply to deep center.

Boyer, whose flinging arm has been so troublesome that Manager Eddie Dyer hesitated about starting him until almost the last minute, was in trouble only once. With two out in the fourth he filled the bases by passing Sam Jethroe, Earl Torgeson and Bob Addis. Then he rendered those Tribesmen harmless by striking out Del Crandall. Score:

ST. LOUIS	000 000 010—1 7 0

Green's Wallop Peck's By 11-1

FROSTBURG, Sept. 21—Green's first place Chevies softball team copped its second straight victory in the playoff series with Peck's here today by downing the home team 11-1 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five series.

Yesterday Dick Blank hurled a no-hitter to give Green's a 6-0 victory and today W. Blank limited the losers to eight bingles for Green's second straight triumph.

Green's can take the bunting in the Frostburg City Softball League series by making it three in a row tomorrow at State Teachers field when the two teams meet again at 5:45 p. m. The score:

PECK'S	010 000 0— 1 8 6

EAST SIDE CHAMPS—The East Side Maids are champions of the Queens Softball League for the second straight season. The Maids took the title yesterday by defeating the Moose lassies 5-0 in the final game of their best-of-five series at Stitcher field. The champs won three straight victories with one game ending in a tie. In the front row (left to right) are Ruth Hawse, Jeanne Walters, Mary Ann Naughton, Clara Hudson and Norma Robosson. In the back row (same order) are Barbara Rohman, "Mackie" Zehrbach, Jeanne Hale, Doris Adams, Helen Winebrenner, Wanda Adams and Darus Zehrbach, manager. Seated in front is Eileen Naughton, bat girl.

Beall Gridders Host To Berlin Eleven Saturday

Officials Selected; Game Time 2 P. M.

FROSTBURG, Sept. 21 — Coach Joe Hoopengardner's Beall High football eleven will attempt to even its 1950 record when it plays host to Berlin (Pa.) High's gridders here Saturday afternoon. Game time is 2 p.m.

Officials for the contest will be John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, John Blough and William "Bee" Orndorff.

Berlin defeated the Beall eleven last season in the Pennsylvania town by the score of 19 to 6 and this season's edition of the Blue and White from Frostburg will endeavor to gain revenge.

The game will be the second of the season for both teams and each will be seeking its initial victory. Berlin lost to Richland Twp. last week by a 33-13 score while Beall went down before the Allegany High Campers of Cumberland by a 20-7 score.

Coach Hoopengardner announced last night that George Miller, regular right halfback and Glen Workman, center, have been chosen as team captains for the Frostburg squad.

Beall has scrimmaged this week in preparation for the battle and the Hilltoppers' mentor expressed satisfaction with the showing of several of the players including William Hess at quarterback and Frank Buskirk at center. The squad is in good condition for the game, Hoopengardner added.

A large crowd is expected to witness Beall's opening home game and tickets may be obtained at Charles N. Hill's store as well as at the school.

Beall is planning games for its Jayvees team with Allegany and Fort Hill of Cumberland, Hoopengardner stated. Other jayvee elevens may be played later on in the season.

Old Germans Top Allegany Insulation

With "Lefty" Wolz hurling 3-hit ball and retiring 18 of the last 19 batters to face him the Old Germans evened their playoff series with Allegany Insulation at 1-1 by defeating the Insulation tossers 2-1 yesterday at Penn Avenue field in a National Division of the City Rec Softball League tilt.

ALLEG. INSULATION	100 000 0—1 3 4

Wolz and D. Fuller. H. Dawson and Wilson.

Pre-Season Grid Poll Rates Notre Dame, Army As Best

Coaches Moan As AP Selections Are Given

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—"Who? Me?"

That was the general incredulous, if not downright alarmed, reaction of college coaches whose teams were chosen in the top 10 in the Associated Press pre-season football poll.

True to tradition, the master minds were extremely wary in their comments, and none would admit his team rated the position it was voted by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

The comments ranged from Michigan's Bennie Oosterbaan's "no comment" to a doleful "we'll be lucky to win half our games" from Tennessee's Bob Neyland, but all left the impression that the coaches felt they were being put on a very unwelcome spot.

The poll, first of its kind, rated the top 10 as follows: Notre Dame, Army, Michigan, Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma, Stanford, Illinois, Cornell and Southern Methodist.

Rusty Russell, Southern Methodist: "That's a lot of baloney. I think people have gotten a bit of a false impression because we played Notre Dame a good football game last year. They seem to think that was a normal game, but it wasn't."

Earl Blaik, Army: "We are being ranked on what we were and not on what we are. You can't lose all but one of your offensive line and 21 lettermen without having to perform a major rebuilding job."

Bob Neyland, Tennessee: "I think fourth place is a ridiculous rating for us. We will be lucky to win half our games."

Here's the pre-season rating with last year's records and total points, on the basis of ten for first, nine for second, etc. (first place votes in parentheses):

	1949 Record	Pts.
1. Notre Dame (101)	10-0-0	1219
2. Army (7)	9-0-0	930
3. Michigan (5)	6-2-1	688
4. Tennessee (1)	7-2-1	553
5. Texas (7)	8-4-0	539
6. Oklahoma (3)	10-0-0	469
7. Stanford	6-3-1	435
8. Illinois (1)	3-4-2	361
9. Cornell	8-1-0	321
10. Southern Methodist	5-4-1	229
11. Ohio State	6-1-2	218

Goliat Hits Two Homers For Phils

Whiz Kids Win 9-6 Behind Konstanty

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20 (INS)—Mike Goliat belted a pair of home runs and a single today and Jim Konstanty strolled to the hill for the 68th time to win his 16th game for the front-flying Phils, 9 to 6 over the Chicago Cubs.

Goliat's 12th homer tied the score at 5-5 in the fifth inning, and his 13th, hit with two abroad in the eighth, clinched the victory.

Konstanty came on to relieve Russ Meyer in the sixth.

Baltimore Advances To INT Finals

MONTREAL, Sept. 20 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles shaded the Montreal Royals, 5-4, tonight to gain the final round of the International League's shaughnessy cup playoffs.

The Orioles won the best four out of seven series, four games to three and will now meet the pennant winning Rochester Red Wings in the final round. The Red Wings gained the finals by beating the Jersey City Giants, four games to two. The winner of this series will meet the winner of the American Association playoff series, Columbus or Indianapolis, in the junior world series.

Adam Budnick Tosses LaVale Into Finals, 6-2

Defeats Corriganville In Playoff Contest

Adam Budnick hurled the LaVale softball team into the finals of the County League championship playoff yesterday at Corriganville by turning back the third place Corriganville tossers 6-2 in the rubber contest of their best-of-three series.

Budnick set the home team down with five hits and struck out nine batsmen while besting Kauffman in a hurling duel that was decided in the last inning.

Kauffman matched Budnick pitch for pitch for six frames and was trailing 2-1 when Manager Gene Scaletta of LaVale broke the game open with a homerun in the top of the seventh with two mates aboard. The LaVale team added another tall for four runs in the inning to cinch the victory.

Roy Clites was the only Corriganville batter to give Budnick any trouble, the Corriganville star collecting three of his team's five bingles.

Buddy Giles had two singles for LaVale while Scaletta had a single in addition to his circuit clout.

LaVale had won the first game of the series 5-0 while Corriganville copped the second battle 5-4. The victors now go into the finals to meet the winner of the Wellersburg-Potomac Valley playoff. The score:

LaVALE	001 100 4—6 9 1

Budnick and Lewis. Kauffman and Horn.

Five Matches Played In CCC Golf Tourneys

Five matches were played yesterday in the men and women's fall golf tournament at the Cumberland Country Club with three men's matches being completed and two women's matches played.

James Beacham defeated Arnet Widner 5 and 4 and L. E. Spencer topped Gordon Bowie 2 and 1 in 2nd flight matches yesterday while Dr. Frank Cawley topped Dr. Donald Grove 2 up in 18 holes in a 5th flight match.

The semi-finals of the women's championship flight were played yesterday with Mrs. Gordon Bowie defeating Mrs. Richard Trevaskis 4 and 2 and Louise Glick walloping Mrs. Royce Hodges 7 and 6.

Miss Glick and Mrs. Bowie will meet in the finals of the championship flight.

Catamount Eleven Is Host To Baltimore City Saturday

Lauer Quarterback; Game Time 1:30 P. M.

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 21 — The Potomac State Catamounts will be lead by Theodore "Ted" Lauer in their football game with Baltimore City College this week. Lauer will be operating at quarter in the T formation instead of his regular halfback spot. "Bob" Johnson, regular quarterback received a head injury in the Glenville game and will not see action this week.

Lauer hails from Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and came to Potomac State last year with very little advanced publicity as an athlete. His high school coach, Arnie Truex, was conservative in his recommendation to the extreme when he said that "Ted" was a good high school athlete and that he hoped that he would do some good in college.

"Ted" proceeded to be the only athlete to be a regular starter in three sports at State, as a Freshman, in over twenty years. He was a regular halfback on the football team, played guard in basketball and shortstop on the baseball nine.

Leonardo High School, where Ted attended, is a consolidated school near Atlantic High lands, with an enrollment of less than 400.

The Catamounts are expecting a hard game this week when they entertain the "Red Devils" from Baltimore City. The locals won the game last year by the score of 38-0.

The Catamounts will be outweighed, again in the line this week. Steffens and Phillips who will start at the tackle positions for Baltimore weigh 220 and 240. The guards Spicer and Evans weigh over 200 and the ends are tall and rangy. The backfields will be about the same averaging 160 for each team.

The game time has been moved up to 1:30 so as not to conflict with the baseball game which will be played between Keyser and Hyndman.

AL Leaders Trip Chisox As Detroit Rallies For 6-5 Win

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (INS) — Rookie Ed (Whitey) Ford performed like an old hand for New York today and trimmed the Chicago White Sox with a three-hit, 8 to 1 pitching masterpiece that kept the Yanks in first place.

The victory was Ford's eighth straight without a loss.

Chicago, by contrast of Ford, played like old Aunt Martha and committed three errors.

Coleman's triple in the second inning produced two runs and was the blow that sent starter Ray Scarborough to the showers. His single in the fourth drove in another run.

Mapes slammed a home run in the eighth and singled a run across the plate in the Yanks' four-run outburst in the second inning.

Ford yielded the lone Chicago tally in the fourth. He hit Dave Philley and Eddie Robinson's single sent the White Sox outfielder to third base. Gus Zernial's fly ball drove Philley home. Box:

TIGERS EDGE ATHLETICS

DETROIT, Sept. 20 (INS) — The Detroit Tigers came from behind in the eighth inning today to edge the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5, and hang onto second place, a half-game behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

Going into the sixth inning four runs behind, the Bengals combined four singles for three runs, only one tally away from the A's.

In the eighth, Charley Keller scored the tying run when Ferris Fain made a wild throw of Hoot Evers grounder for a two-base error. Don Kolloway then came up and singled to score Evers with what proved to be the winning run. Box:

Dodgers Beat Bucs; Kiner Hits No. 46

BROOKLYN, Sept. 20 (AP) — The Dodgers made it 10 in a row and 18 out of 21 from Pittsburgh by overwhelming the Pirates, 7-2, before 1,011 chilled fans today.

Gil Hodges' second grand slam of the year and 29th homer in the first inning was more than enough for Carl Erskine to beat Bill MacDonald. However, the Dodgers added two more in the third when Duke Snider hit his eighth triple.

Prefect Cops Atlantic City Kiwanis Race

Survives Photo And Foul Claim

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Prefect won the featured Kiwanis Purse at Atlantic City today but had to survive a nose photo decision and a claim of foul in the process.

The son of Pilate turned back Grandview Stable's Pellicle which was easily eight lengths better than E. E. Voynow's Great Fun in the mile and a furlong journey.

Jimmy Stout made it three for the day aboard Prefect which was the third straight choice to win for favorite players in the crowd of 9,216. The mutuel payoffs were Prefect, counted in the wagering with Wentworth, $4.20, $2.40, $2.20; Pellicle, $3.20, $2.80 and Great Fund, $3.00.

Porter Roberts, rider of Pellicle, claimed a foul against the winner when the pair engaged in a stretch duel but after deliberating the stewards permitted the finish to stand.

Prefect moved to the front at the start and never lost the lead. Lady Fairfield and Some Town forced the pace but gave up the ghost at head of the stretch. Pellicle made his presence felt at this point when he surged between horses to challenge the leader.

The two went stride for stride for the final eighth of a mile with Prefect showing in front at the wire. Time for the distance over a fast track was 1:50 3-5.

Pensava Scores Fifth

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 20 (AP)—Joe Gavegnano's three year old colt Pensava today scored his fifth victory in 11 starts in 1950 as he won the $3,000 Johnston Purse before 8,857 at Narragansett Park.

He led T. P. Morgan's Crown Me by two lengths at the finish of the six furlongs at 1:11. Second choice in the betting, Pensava paid $6.20, $3.80, $3.20. Crown Me paid $8.80 and $5.60 with Mrs. H. S. Clark's Puppet which was third paying $4.40 show.

Pensava pulled away near the home stretch and needed only moderate urging to preserve his comfortable margin over Crown Me. The latter was a length in front of Puppet which had five lengths on the Hampton Stables Best Punch.

Harry Shupe To Head Frostburg Fund Campaign

Seek $100,000 For New Building

FROSTBURG—A group of Frostburg business men met yesterday morning in the City Hall and appointed Harry G. Shupe chairman of a citizens committee to solicit local business and professional men to raise $100,000 as an equity fund towards constructing a new building for the M. Berkowitz Pajama Factory.

Walter T. Kline was named assistant to Shupe and Howard Ward was chosen secretary.

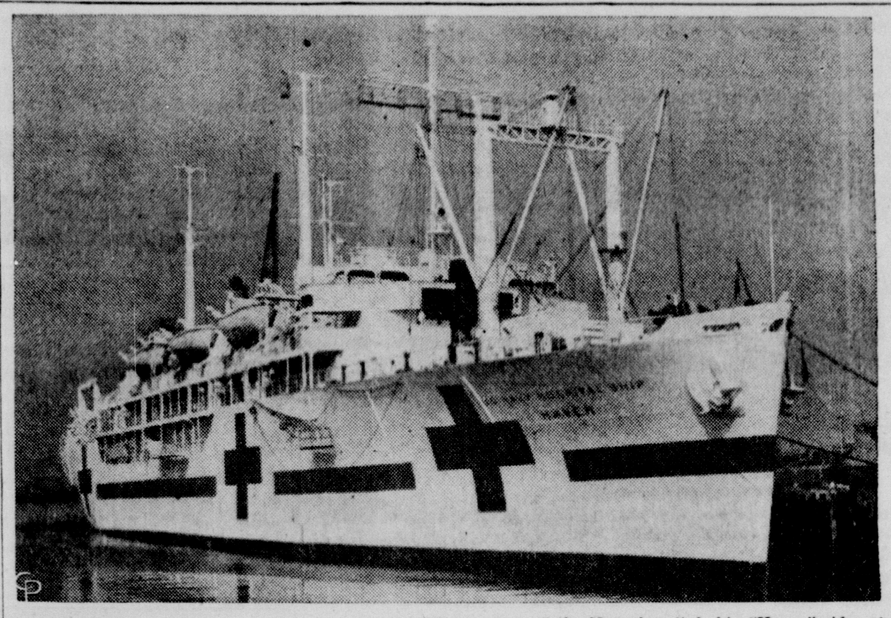
The group will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall to name teams for the soliciting campaign.

It is hoped to complete the drive in 15 days.

The $100,000 would be applied toward the cost of erecting a $300,000 plant structure to allow the textile factory to expand.

Suitable sites will be proposed for the building, which would measure 100 by 60 feet.



REACTIVATED to replace the sunken hospital ship "Benevolence," the Navy hospital ship "Haven" rides at anchor after flag-raising ceremony in Los Angeles harbor. The "Haven" was rushed into service after the collision-sinking of her sister ship in a fog near Golden Gate. She will serve in Pacific. (International)

Crellin Church Dedication Set

CRELLIN — The annual all-day meeting of the Crellin Assembly of God Church will be held Sunday, September 24, at which time the church building will be dedicated, it was announced by Rev. J. C. Skipper, pastor.

Services will begin at 10:30 a. m., with a basket dinner at noon. The new church will be dedicated at the afternoon service at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. T. B. Pierce, superintendent of the Potomac District of the Assemblies of God, as speaker.

Ground was broken for the church on May 13. The building houses five classrooms and an assembly room in the basement. The main auditorium is 32 by 50 feet, with a 12 by 14 vestibule and tower. The second story of the tower forms a balcony overlooking the main auditorium.

The service that evening will be the beginning of a revival. Everyone is welcome.

First Baptist Church Plans Rally Program

FROSTBURG — Plans are being made for a rally day program to be held Sunday at First Baptist Church in Eckhart.

Awards will be presented to the classes having the largest percentage and the largest attendance.

Bibles will be presented by F. Earl Kreitzburg, Sunday School superintendent, who will also give a brief talk.

Recognition will be given to "100 per cent" pupils and to the class having the largest number present.

Rev. Sidney S. Aldrich will give the prayer and benediction, and scripture will be read by Mrs. Melvin Smouse. Miss Edith Eckhart will be piano soloist.

Musical selections will be played by the orchestra and the primary department pupils will sing.

Mathematics Club Plans Project

FROSTBURG — Mu Alpha Theta, the Math Club of Frostburg State Teachers College, held its first regular meeting Monday at Old Main Building, with George Herring, president, presiding and 14 members and two faculty members, Robert Lundquist and Walter Rissler, attending.

The constitution was reviewed by the new members. It was decided that the first project of the club will be the decoration of the Christmas tree with an assortment of hand-made ornaments. Miss Maxine Conrad was elected publicity advisor of the club.

Following the business meeting, Lundquist gave a talk on mathematics, stressing curiosity of the mind. He illustrated his talk with several "magic tricks" which can be explained by mathematics.

C. L. Shaefer Baltimore Girl Wed

GRANTSVILLE — St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Baltimore, was the scene September 3 at 2:30 p.m. when Miss Clarice Marie Campbell, Baltimore, and Cecil L. Schaefer, son of Mrs. Minta C. Schaefer and the late James Schaefer, Grantsville, were united in marriage.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of white satin and imported French lace. Her chapel length veil of nylon net edged with imported French lace, flowed from a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby mums. Miss Lwona Campbell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Miss Mary Doreta Campbell, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret C. Michael, Frostburg, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of taffeta and net, Miss Campbell was in pale yellow, and Miss Michael in seamist green, with matching headdresses.

Dale Kinsinger, Grantsville, was best man.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Ethel Yancey, Baltimore, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Edward Philips, Baltimore, who sang.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the parish house.

Mrs. Earl Burow, an aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and was aided by Mrs. M. Murray, Mrs. Charles Horner, and Miss Delores Campbell, the bride's sister.

The bride is an honor graduate of Kenwood High School, Baltimore County, Class of 1949, and is employed at the Fidelity Trust Company in Baltimore.

Schaefer graduated from Grantsville High School in 1947, where he received a gold "G" for extra curricular activities. He enlisted in the Army and served for three years, two of which he spent in Korea and Japan, as an automotive mechanic. He was discharged in May 1950 as a corporal. He is employed at the Mack Truck Corporation, Baltimore.

A number of friends and relatives from Grantsville, Jennings, Frostburg, Bittinger, Elkins, W. Va. and Detroit, Mich., attended.

Marion Hadley Named Central Youth Delegate

Will Attend Md. Conference Sat.

LONACONING—Marion Elizabeth Hadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Harry Hadley, of Beechwood, Lonaconing, was chosen by the senior class to represent Central High School at the "Youth Looks at Maryland" conference which is sponsored by the Maryland Commission for Youth.

The conference will be held Saturday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. at Towson State Teachers college, Towson.

The purpose of the meeting is to given children the advantages of learning, playing, working and living as constructive citizens and happy people. Discussion which will be:

MARION HADLEY

Are our services for young people adequate?" "Are they reaching all our children and youth?" and "What can youth do to assist their communities in better serving youth?"

The state-wide conference will include a series of round-table discussions and each delegation is to bring back a report to their local youth commission.

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president, Towson State Teachers College, will address "Tomorrow's Citizens." Governor W. Preston Lane will extend greetings.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20—(INS)—Betty Hutton, who flits from Hollywood to Chicago these days, flitted into Sam Briskin's office with a script of Blossom Seeley's life. George Burns—you've heard of him, George of Burns and Allen—had written the story and sold it to MGM.

Betty Hutton

Then, Sam read the script and agreed with Betty it was meant for her so he bought it from MGM. Betty will sing "Dark Town Strutters' Ball" which Blossom introduced and all those wonderful numbers which made her popular.

Betty, whose surprise reconciliation with Ted Briskin had the town gasping, says Ted is now the same boy she married, hard working and seriously interested in business. She is hoping he'll fly out for the chuck wagon Sunday night.

"A Life Of Her Own," Lana Turner's "Drammer," did not give Ray Milland a particularly bright chance to shine—from the heavy emoting standpoint. But all this will be remedied when he returns in November to MGM to star in "People In Love" for Eddie Knopf.

"People In Love" (A better title should be found) sounds as if it 's the strongest meat since Ray ran off with the Academy Award for "Lost Weekend." He'll play a professor whose personality completely changes after he loses his wife and child in a motor accident.

Kirk Douglas is at Alisal, the ranch where Clark Gable and Sylvia spent their honeymoon. He is not there for any romantic purposes. He is learning to ride for his western role at Warners and believe me that takes a bit of doing for a lad who is a stranger to horses, horses, horses.

Here's a little bit of information I picked up. Kirk has been offered "Detective Story," by Willie Wyler and has been reading the script. I happen to know that he is also wanted by C. B. DeMille for "The Greatest Show On Earth," the circus spectacle.

Chatter in Hollywood: Mary Rogers and Walter Brooks, dining at the Macayo and elsewhere these evenings, are a serious romance. They came here from New York together. Mary, the late Will Rogers' daughters, says she will be here for a week on business and so will Walter.

Walter, the grandson of socially prominent Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, and who inherited some of her money at the time of her death, was once on the Los Angeles Examiner. He has been married and divorced twice—Mary has never married.

•—•—•

Both Bill Holden and Robert Walker, who were mentioned as replacements in "Mr. Roberts," while Hank Fonda takes time out to have an operation on his knee, are out. Too many movie assignments.

Rumors about Henry's difficulty with his daughter are not true. The young girl is with Mrs. Fonda's mother, Mrs. Seymour, a wonderful woman, who has done everything to soften Frances' tragic suicide for the children.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Milton Berle says he wishes Myrna Dell loved him. Well, maybe she can be coaxed to say the three small words, she's with him so much in New York.

Bing Crosby is bringing Frances Dee out of retirement for one of his Bing Crosby Enterprises Television shows, "Two Tickets." Let me say Frances, in private life Mrs. Joel McCrea, is still, some looker.

Nora and Dick Haymes will be away from Hollywood until Christmas time. Nora is going with him on his personal appearance tour.

Peggy Cummins and Derek Dunnett will be married in Paris instead of London. That's because so many of their friends are there. They'll spend their honeymoon in America.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Do some girls prefer courtship to marriage?

Answer: There are fewer such girls today than there once were. But every so often we still hear of one who keeps a man waiting for years, always promising to marry him some day, but putting the day off each time one she has "named" comes near. One trouble with her may be a morbid fear of getting into a man's power (which she feels will happen if she marries) and against which she defends herself by keeping him helpless and frustrated. But unconsciously the fear makes her hate as well as love him, and he's better off without her.

Will a violent temper increase your blood pressure?

Answer: It's more apt to increase other people's if you vent it on them in conditions in which they cannot or dare not fight back. According to Dr. Edwin F. Gildea, professor of psychiatry at Washington University, St. Louis, it's the people who cannot assert themselves and stand up for their rights whose repressed rage sends their blood pressure soaring. Other candidates for hypertension are "compulsive" persons who live by a set of rigid rules which won't let them relax or make allowances for anyone's shortcomings.

Should you answer back when you are called names?

Answer: It is usually wiser not to, though sometimes that is not easy. Two things it will help you to remember are: (1) that the anger the hard names express is nearly always based on fear of you or of something you seem to stand for, and (2) that the person knows he has no real "case" against you or he'd state it instead of reverting to abuse. And nothing will do more to reveal his weakness to whoever may be listening than for you to show your strength by refusing to adopt his tactics.

Red Feather Unit Discusses Drive

A breakfast meeting was held yesterday morning by the classified division chairmen and regiment leaders of the Cumberland Community Chest at the Central YMCA to plan their work for the next three weeks.

George M. Martin, Classified chairman, presided. The classified group is responsible for solicitation of all employed persons except those firms and individuals contacted by the Advance Gifts Committee.

Groups of more than eight employes are asked to organize their own campaigns, or miniature city Chest appeals. Groups of less than eight are solicited by teams of regiment leaders.

Lewis Ort, chairman of the Ort Baking Company's campaign last year, emphasized the necessity of putting the payment of pledges on a payroll deduction plan. Such a system, he said, makes it easier to obtain pledges large enough to keep agencies functioning for an entire year.

The Classified group also plans a goal-setting meeting Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

Division and regiment leaders will review their prospects and set up goals for their part in the Red Feather drive, which will open early in October.

Meanwhile, Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman, announced that about 65 letters were mailed today to clubs and organizations in the city, asking their support for the Community Chest effort.

What a campus! How many students would you say you have?" The chemistry prof answered sourly, "About one in a thousand."

Two rival candidates for president of the local Junior League met at a cocktail party and even a total stranger could have told by the warmth of their embrace and their coos of delight how very, very much they hated each other.

Mrs. Jones swung into heavy action first. "I just love that costume you have on," she exclaimed. "In fact, I love it better every time you wear it."

Mrs. Simpson gritted her teeth, and rebutted by examining the material of Mrs. Jones's frock and saying sweetly, "What an odd fabric, my dear! Why don't you try having it made into a dress?"

Mingling with the throng that poured out of the university stadium after a big game, the out-of-town guest enthused to his host, head of the chemistry department, "What a plant you have here!

The Show With A Heart

"STRIKE It Rich," (CBS 4 p. m. EDT Monady through Friday) is one of those rare things, a give-away that gives away money, cash of the realm in place of refrigerators and washing machines. Also, it gives the dough away to people who need it badly. Where an air of cupidity rises like steam from most give-aways, "Strike It Rich" is marked by a sort of quiet desperation.

John Crosby

No one gets on the program unless he has a problem that requires cash, and since 1947 the program has dug up some lulus. Guests have included a man who wanted artificial legs so he could get a job, parents who wanted to finance an operation for their child, and a French war bride who wanted to bring Mama over to meet her G.I. husband. One of the odder problems was that of a Mrs. Kwoka of Bridgeport, Conn. Her husband had built their house himself but ran out of funds before they got the bathroom facilities. The family used her sister's bathroom two miles away and Mrs. Kwoka was pretty tired of the situation. She won $310.

• — • — •

The quiz-master on "Strike It Rich" is Warren Hull, a veteran if ever there was one of the quiz profession. As quizzers go, he is rather quiet and enormously considerate of the quizzees. It is one of those quizzes where the contestants start with $15 provided by the program and bet all or part of it that they can provide the right answers. Like all these things, it starts easy—"Is a caboose a car on a freight train, a special car for President Truman, or a special food for moose?"—and gets harder, though it isn't unusual for the average well-informed person to know every answer on a half-hour show.

Hull, though, is a cautious man. If a contestant wants $150 for some project, he urges him to take it easy after he reaches that sum, rather than to shoot the works and risk losing it all. A person who shoots the works right down the line has a maximum possibility of winning about $480 to which the program adds $20 to make an even $500. Quite a few people walk off with the $500, too. Since 1947, this particular philanthropy has cost the Colgate - Palmolive - Peet Company, the sponsor, about a quarter of a million dollars. The company, far from minding, seems almost anxious to give away more money. Last April they upped "Strike It Rich" from once a week to five times a week, which means they stand to lose as much as $10,000 a week in cash, depending on how bright the customers are in any week.

Not all of them are bright. A couple of Texans told Hull once, "We're just a couple of ignorant hill-billies from Texas," and then proved it by going broke on the third question. Not all of them who go broke stay that way. One poor gal who was seeking $200 to save her family from eviction, worked her stake up to $240, then bet it all on the final question which is generally a pretty tough one. Hull tried to persuade her to set aside the $200 and just bet the $40. She wouldn't, though, and went broke on a very easy question. Listeners besieged Hull with cash and protests. The program made up the difference between the contributions and $200 and shipped it to the woman with the admonition to be more careful of future quiz programs.

Occasionally, some of the problem people can't get to New York, in which case a stand-in, usually a celebrity of some sort, does the question-answering for him. Among the stand-ins have been Abe Burrows, Lanny Ross, Juanita Hall and Ruby Keeler. Miss Keeler, for example, won $300 for an invalided veteran of World War I who wanted the money to set up a workshop. This was a boon, not only to the veteran, but to the taxpayer, because the veteran had been in government hospitals for fifteen years.

• — • — •

Not all the cases are so heart-rendering. One woman wanted dough (and won it) to buy a canoe because she was darn tired of walking around the lake to buy her groceries. A couple of young kids who'd had dates together in China had a reunion in New York and wanted money to go on a tear. They won $325, which will buy a real wingding, even in New York.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: IF WE WOULD RIGHTLY SCAN IT'S NOT THE TIMES ARE BAD, BUT MAN—BEAUMONT.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful during the bereavement of our beloved husband and father, E. B. Moore. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers, expressions of sympathy, loaned cars, and the minister and choir who took part in the services.

His wife and family,
MRS. F. B. MOORE & Family

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a Decree for the sale of certain real estate on Main Street, in the Town of Westernport, in Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill states that George E. Klencke, late of Mineral County, West Virginia, died seized and possessed at the time of his death of a certain lot of ground, improved by a double frame dwelling, located on the East Side of Main Street, in the Town of Westernport, Allegany County, Maryland, as conveyed unto him by O. Tibbets et ux., by deed dated May 16, 1913, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 112, Folio 711, all of which lot is more particularly described in said Bill.

That by the Last Will and Testament of the said George E. Klencke, the aforesaid property was devised unto Carrie Keller and Vesta Harmon, equally, for their natural lives, and upon the death of Carrie Keller unto her children, Robert Keller, George Keller and Evelyn Price, equally, and upon the death of Vesta Harmon, her share unto her children, Reginald Harmon and William Harmon, equally. That the said Carrie Keller died on the fourteenth day of August, 1950, and the Plaintiffs are vested with the undivided one-half interest in said property, and that the real estate is not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interests therein as stated in said Bill and that in order to make division of said Interests, it will be necessary that the said real estate be sold, and the proceeds thereof divided among the parties according to their several interests.

That the said Vesta Harmon, Reginald Harmon and William Harmon, are non-residents of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon this 29th day of August, 1950, ordered by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Plaintiffs, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 30th day of September, 1950, give notice to the said absent Defendants of the object and substance of this Bill, warning them to appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 17th day of October, next, to show cause, if any they have, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Law Offices of Morgan C. Harris, 111 Union Street, Cumberland, Maryland. Laura Virginia George vs. Clarence Leroy George, No. 21914 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant.

The bill states that they were married on the 10th day of March, 1922, and that the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff on or about the 15th day of October, 1922, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months last past prior to the bringing of this suit and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

That the Plaintiff has been a resident of the State of Maryland for more than one year prior to the bringing of this action, and the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and his present address is unknown, and the Plaintiff asks for an Order of Publication against the Defendant and for general relief.

It is thereupon this 20th day of September, 1950, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, sitting in equity, ordered that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once in each of four successive weeks on or before the 23rd day of October, 1950, giving notice to said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this bill and warning him to appear in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 8th day of November, 1950, to show cause, if any he might have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Cancer Society To Meet Tuesday

Directors of the Cumberland Chapter of the Maryland Society will hold a meeting next Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Esther B. Rosenbaum, 816 Buckingham Road, it has been announced.

Matter Of Fact

rather irrelevantly to shake the embarrassed Jaskilka's hand. In the suburbs, lines of white-clad people waved newly-made South Korean flags and cheered the marines. We trudged past old signs indicating installations of the pre-war American military advisory group, which the communists had not bothered to take down. Then, stepping out swiftly, we took a narrow country road that passed through paddies just turning golden.

Here came the real turning point of the march on Kimpo. It was already almost noon when the three tanks going forward with Easy Company reached an impossibly rickety bridge over a swampy irrigation canal. The people of the nearby village poured out to see what was happening, and tried to help by covering the blue-violet water hyacinths in the canal bed with a dirt causeway. But the tanks still could not get through. At this point, Chung Yong Duk, an American military group interpreter who had taken refuge in the village, appeared providentially to suggest a better alternative road that did not show on our eccentric maps.

Col. Roise, impatiently watching operations by the canal bank, made a swift decision. The tanks and transport, with a small body of supporting infantry, would go by the alternative road. The main body of the infantry would continue on the planned route. The lumbering tanks turned off through the sticky rice paddies. The column was re-ordered by radio. Again Easy Company started onward, marching cheerfully and swiftly into unknown enemy country with no seeming thought of the lost tank support. Now, however, it was too late to reach Kimpo before dusk.

Heavy Selling In A. T. And T. Stock Pulls Market Lower

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—Heavy selling in American Telephone stock slapped down the price and carried the rest of the market lower today.

Roughly $6,000,000 worth of A. T. & T. stock changed hands at losses running to nearly $3 a share. The closing price was $149.25 a share, down $2.62.

The rest of the market quickly showed losses ranging to around $1 a share before buying support appeared. Final prices were above the lows for the day in most cases.

The flurry in the market prodded sales volume just past the 2,000,000-share mark. Turnover of 2,100,000 shares compared with 1,590,000 Tuesday, the smallest figure in nearly two weeks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 of one point to 81.3. The industrial group posted the largest decline, seconded by the rails. Utilities held unchanged despite the fact that A. T. & T. is included in that group.

Of the 15 most active shares, only five declined. International Telephone was the most active stock (no connection with American Telephone), while A. T. & T. took second place, an unusual ranking for this high-priced issue.

Also closing lower were Canadian Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Socony-Vacuum, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda Copper, du Pont, International Paper, Standard Oil (NJ), and Gulf Oil.

Expansion Of Garrett Rec Areas Urged

Lumber, Mining Problems Aired

Recreation expansion in Garrett County was termed the best long-range method for improving economic conditions in that area, at a hearing conducted last night in Oakland.

William H. Mahaney, Baltimore, chairman of a special commission set up by Governor Lane to study employment and relief problems in the state, presided.

Eight members of the 15-man commission, headed by Mahaney and Delegate Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, sub-chairman for Western Maryland, toured the Oakland area yesterday afternoon.

They visited the mining communities of Shallmar, Vindex and Kitzmiller and recreational areas at Swallow Falls and Deep Creek Lake.

At the three mining towns the commission interviewed a number of unemployed miners and mine operators to get a first-hand picture of economic conditions there.

Mine Problem Cited

Jesse J. Walker, of the Shallmar Mining Company, reported at last night's hearing that there is no prospect of reopening mines at Shallmar and Vindex because they could not meet competitive prices.

Operators explained there is a differential of about 20 per cent between the going price of Western Maryland coal and the actual cost of mining competitive type grade coal.

District Forester William H. Johnson informed the commission that the lumber industry in Garrett County is chiefly concerned at present with cutting mine props.

Johnson explained that lumber operators in the area are unable to meet wage rates paid in Pennsylvania and West Virginia for pulp wood which is shipped to the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Speakers at the hearing agreed that there is a "tremendous potential" for the development of recreational facilities in the county.

Publicity Needed

Greatest need in that connection is to spread public knowledge of available facilities, especially to such cities as Washington, Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

This was pointed out by John P. Trimmer, director of the State Department of Information; and by Fulcher P. Smith, Oakland, on the Garrett Properties firm.

Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh of Oakland said, the Chamber of Commerce is spearheading attempts to get new industries to locate in the county.

Emeric Dusic of the Chamber of Commerce reported that several inquiries, including one from a plastics firm, had been received.

However, Dusic said, the most recent offer could not be met because the firm in question wanted the Chamber of Commerce to finance the operation, including erection of a building.

Other possibilities are being explored, Dusic added.

Besides Mahaney and Cook, other commission members attending were Joseph F. DiDomenico, Baltimore, commissioner of the Department of Labor and Industry; L. A. Helfrich, Baltimore, production manager of U. S. Industrial Chemicals, Inc.

George C. McLeish, Bladensburg, delegate to the General Assembly from Prince Georges County; E. J. Moran, Baltimore, regional director of the International United Auto Workers Union, CIO; J. Milton Patterson, chairman of the Department of Public Welfare; and Delegate Leroy W. Preston of Baltimore.

The group plans to hold similar hearings this afternoon and evening at City Hall here for representative Cumberland groups. The sessions will get underway at 1:30.

Shooting Victim Two Miles From Gun, Police Say

Authorities Term Death Accidental

An autopsy gave indication that Richard Urich, 25, near Keyser, W. Va., was fatally shot Tuesday night by a person who was at least two miles from the victim, Trooper W. F. Bowley said yesterday.

Urich, at the time he was shot, police said, was digging a cellar in the side of a hill at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook, his uncle and aunt, with whom he resided.

Trooper Bowley said it "is almost positively established that the shooting was accidental." A person hunting or shooting target in the wooded area surrounding the home could have fired the shot, police believe.

Following the autopsy, authorities said the slug was fired from a .25 caliber rifle of high velocity. It will be sent to a ballistics laboratory for further checking.

Three persons, besides Mrs. Cook who saw Urich "stagger and fall," told police yesterday they heard the shot "a great distance away."

Police said the three reports checked with the time that Urich was shot—about 7 p. m. (DST)—and indicated the rifleman stood to the southeast of the location where the victim was working.

Trooper Bowley said the bullet was "practically spent" when it struck Urich. It entered between the victim's ribs and pierced his heart, the autopsy showed.

Working on several "good leads," police said last night they have hope of tracing the person who fired the shot, but at the same time they asked for any helpful information that could be furnished.

Miss Madalyn Bazzle, Mineral County coroner, yesterday impaneled a six-man jury to view the body, but police said further examination of the case by the jury is scheduled. A verdict will not be given until the jury completes its probe.

Urich was a veteran of World War II and served in the Army from about 1943 until 1946.

MISSING — Pvt. Harvey L. Marks, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy T. Marks, Mt. Savage Road, has been reported missing in action since August 31, according to a Defense Department message received by his parents on Tuesday. Marks was wounded just a few weeks before he was reported missing. His last letter homew as received August 30. He said at that time he was serving in the Naktong River area.

Plans Made To Protect City Water Supply

Fences, Spotlights To Be Installed

Plans have been made to protect the city's water supply at Lakes Gordon and Koon from possible sabotage attempts.

This was reported yesterday by George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

Parking will be restricted in the area immediately around the lakes, and company employes will police the roads to enforce the restriction.

Hitchcock said surveys are being made to install about two miles of new fences at vulnerable points around both lakes.

Powerful spotlights will be installed on top of the gatehouses at both dams so that the entire lake area can be lighted instantly in event of alarm at night.

Watchmen will be assigned to duty at both gatehouses to operate the lights, and a telephone will be installed at the Lake Koon gatehouse to provide communication with the main office.

At the main entrance to the Lake Gordon headquarters, parking will be restricted beyond the second gate.

Fences will be installed from the laboratory and main office to the upper part of the filter plant, which is already protected by a high stone wall about 50 feet high.

Five-foot barbed wire fences will be used with barricades on top. Electric wires will be installed on fences near strategic buildings, Hitchcock said.

Locust posts for the fences have been cut on Evitts Creek property, and a new post-hole digger will be used in the work.

Work is expected to be completed in about two months. It was planned in connection with the county Civilian Defense program.

Union To Picket More Terminals Of Novick Firm

Sympathy Strike Continues Here

Plans for picketing additional terminals of the Novick Transfer Company were being made last night at a meeting of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), officials in Winchester, Va.

The Cumberland terminal of the company, with about 12 men, was struck September 10 as a result of a contract dispute at the firm's Winchester terminal September 7.

C. E. Bramble, president, said the union is getting ready to picket other Novick terminals, including New York City and Roanoke, Va., adding that company operations at Winchester, Baltimore and Cumberland already have been halted.

Three Winchester firms, Associated Transport, Mason and Dixon and Super Service, recently agreed on terms of a new pact.

W. N. Swiggett, Local 453 business agent at Winchester, said the basis for the one year contract was a 12½ cent hourly boost for hourly paid workers, with double time for holidays. Over the road workers will get 5¼ cents a mile for single axle trailers and 5½ cents on tandem axle trucks. The pact also includes $1.38 an hour on delayed or breakdown time with one-day operations reduced from 14 to 10 hours.

Swiggett said the union wants the same contract from Novick and Elliott Motor Lines in Winchester.

He said the companies insist on a two-year contract, 5¼ cents a mile for over the road men with no tandem differential and no increase on breakdown time.

Swiggett said the Elliott firm has made no attempt to operate since the strike was called.

Union officials said there were no developments which might lead to a settlement of the contract dispute.

All but two Cumberland trucking firms have agreed on terms on new contracts and negotiations are proceeding with those pacts.

Fire Chiefs May Sponsor Annual Training Class

Extension Course May Be Requested

Members of the Allegany-Garrett Fire Chiefs Association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Bowling Green fire hall to discuss plans for securing annual fire training courses for this area.

A. G. Snyder, secretary, said the course under consideration would be similar to the Annual Short Course of Fire Training offered at College Park by the University of Maryland's Fire Extension Service.

Normally, each volunteer fire company from Western Maryland sends one or two delegates to the course, designed to present the latest methods of fire fighting available to volunteer firemen.

The course could be made available to a large percentage of the some 1,000 volunteer firemen in the 29 companies of Allegany and Garrett Counties if it could be presented in a central location here, Snyder said.

The short course training, officals said would be a valuable addition to the basic and advanced courses already completed by most volunteer firemen of this area.

Officials said that if the fire chiefs agree to sponsor the course, and if the plan meets with the approval of the Fire Extension Service, details could easily be worked out to present the training largely with instructors available in this area.

They said a large number of firemen would undoubtedly take the training if it could be offered at night so the men could attend without missing work.

Weather

The moderately-cool, rainy day that yesterday was came to an end in just about the same way. Temperatures varied but little, with a high of 65 degrees in Constitution Park and 68 downtown. The low temperatures were 61 degrees in the park and 64 degrees downtown. The forecast for today indicates that it will be another cloudy day with a few scattered showers, but just a little warmer.

Police Seek Area Counterfeiters

Maryland State Police investigated new evidence connected with numerous counterfeit coins appearing in the Westernport area and said they believe the bogus minting is a local operation.

Several handsful of bogus nickel and quarter coins were reportedly passed in and around Westernport about a month ago, according to Trooper William F. Baker, Maryland State Police investigator.

The counterfeit coins, Trooper Baker said, were turned over to U. S. Treasury Department Secret Service agents for analysis to determine the type and quantity of metal used in the coins.

A number of coins were turned over to police by officials of the Potomac Club and Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, police said. Trooper Milton Hart and Westernport Chief of Police Burza Hanlin are working with Trooper Baker in the investigation.

Flood Control Work Proceeding On Schedule, Project Engineer Reports

This was reported last night by Thomas E. Dickson, project engineer for the Cumberland flood control project.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, accompanied by Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer for the project, and City Attorney W. Earl Cobey, went to Washington yesterday to report to the Corps of Engineers on property acquisition.

The group reported that nearly all necessary property on the West Side is under option, Paye said.

He recalled that the city has been advertising for bids to remove some of the buildings affected.

Dickson said it is not known definitely as yet when work will get underway in Riverside Park.

Two large sewers and a water line are to be constructed in the park along the walk paralleling the river bank and Water Street.

Most of the equipment of George and Lynch, contractors for the second phase of the project, is tied up on the Valley Street and Williams Street conduit work, Dickson said.

He said it is hoped to finish that work in the next few weeks so that the Riverside Park project can get underway.

"We don't want to tear up too much at the same time," he commented.

A reinforced concrete sewer line, which will run from Kelly Boulevard to Riverside Park, will carry all of the West Side sewage runoff.

The new water line in the park will replace the present feeder along the Potomac. The present line is situated where the river levee is to be built in the final phase of flood work.

Also planned is construction of a large syphon in Wills Creek. This will be hooked up with the pumping station that is to be built eventually in the vicinity of Howard Street.

B. & O. August Income Is Over $2,000,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — R. B. White, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad president, said today August net income was more than $2,000,000, largest for any month since November, 1948, with the exception of last May when labor troubles on other eastern roads diverted traffic to the B. and O.

White's statement was made after the monthly meeting of the board of directors here.

He said net income for the first eight months this year would approximate $8,500,000, compared with $7,473,180 reported for the similar period last year.

Former Local Minister Retires

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 20 (AP) — Rev. Eugene H. Richardson of the Evangelical United Brethren Church is retiring at the age of 85 after 55 years in the ministry.

A successor, named last week at the Evangelical United Brethren Conference in Waynesboro, Va., soon will take over his post as supply pastor to the three congregations on the Sleepy Creek rural circuit.

A native of Buckeystown, Md., Rev. Richardson has lived and preached in Roanoke, Toms Brook, Winchester and Reliance, Va.; Martinsburg, Franklin and Morgan County, W. Va., and Cumberland, Md.

Red Feather Leaders Named

Co-chairmen and division leaders leaders have been appointed for the Classified Section of the Red Feather campaign of the Cumberland Community Chest, according to George M. Martin, section chairman.

Thomas H. Smithem will serve as co-chairman of the automotive, financial, professional and governmental divisions.

Leaders of the respective divisions are James E. Honeycutt, George A. Caswell, Aden L. Everstine and William H. Buchholtz.

Second co-chairman in the Classified Section will be David T. Davis, who will head the general, public service, utilities, manufacturers and railroads divisions.

L. V. Shinnamon has been named co-chairman of the foods, mercantile, served commodities and educational divisions. His leaders, respectively, will be Lewis Ort, George D. Hankins, Robert L. Ebert and Charles L. Kopp.

Equity Suits

Two equity suits were filed in Circuit Court yesterday, one by Robert L. Maphis against Anna Maphis and the second by Laura Virginia George against Clarence Leroy George.

Unity Conference To Hear Picnic Reports

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Paul L. Burley, secretary, said the meeting will be held jointly with the Labor Day Committee.

A full report on picnic receipts and expenditures will be presented by all committee chairmen, he added.

W. Md. Wins Safety Medal

The E. H. Harriman gold medal for Class B railroad safety records in 1949 was accepted yesterday by Eugene S. Williams, Western Maryland Railway president.

Prior to the presentation, which was made in New York City, Wallace J. Falvey, president of the American Museum of Safety, told the gathering:

"That while fatalities in rail accidents in 1949 were 28 per cent less than 10 years ago, the campaign for safety can never be relaxed if these gains are to be maintained."

R. H. Smith, president of the Norfolk and Western Railway, accepted the gold medal for the best safety record among the larger railroads. The presentations were made by James G. Lyne, editor of Railway Age and chairman of the award committee of the American Museum of Safety.

Falvey said fewer lives were lost in rail accidents last year than in any of the 62 years of Interstate Commerce Commission records, and that the total was 28 per cent less than 10 years ago and 40 per cent less than 20 years ago.

Chamber To Act On 1950-51 Program

Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock to take action on the 1950-51 program.

Discussion and action on the Chamber's expanded program.

Plan School Dance

The physical Education Department of Central High School Lonaconing, will sponsor a sport dance in the school gymnasium Friday night from 8 to 11 'clock to raise funds to equip the girl's basketball team.

Army Nurse Corps Commissions Open

Openings are available for young women who are graduate nurses to obtain commissions in the Army Nurse Corps Reserve.

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 27, in good health and of good character.

The Department of the Army has announced that certain Army medical centers have been affiliated with universities, making it possible for nurses to continue their studies and secure a college degree while in service.

Further information may be obtained at Room 13, Union Street County Building, the headquarters office of the Army Reserve unit instructor, or by telephoning 5142.

Church Will Hold Quarterly Meeting

The first quarterly conference of the Emmanuel Methodist Church will be held in the local church tonight.

The meeting will be in charge of the district superintendent, Rev. Dr. William Wright. All members of the church are invited to attend. The officers are urged to make a special effort to be present with their reports. The meeting will convene at 8 p. m.

Local Scout Charter Presented

Purnell Named To Head State's Freedom Crusade

Maryland's part in the nationwide "Crusade for Freedom" movement will be headed by Brig. Gen. William C. Purnell, executive officer of the 29th Division Reserve.

The movement, aimed primarily at giving persons in every part of the nation an opportunity to sign declarations of their belief in the "dignity of man," is directed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

In opening the state movement Gen. Purnell said "one of the ways we can beat the Russians in this cold war is by telling them the truth about the democratic way of life."

Efforts to tell Russia about the democratic way is already in progress in Europe where "Radio Free Europe," a private operation, is trying to penetrate the "iron curtain" with facts about freedom.

Committees in all parts of Maryland will circulate declarations for signatures in the near future. Individuals who are interested in helping the crusade may contact the state headquarters at the Southern Hotel, Baltimore 3, Maryland.

The signed declarations will be flown to Europe and enshrined in the base of the Freedom Bell tower at the United Nations Day observance October 24.

Gen. Purnell said persons in all walks of life will be asked to sign the declaration scrolls and explained the Freedom Crusaders also will take contributions to assist in the continued operation of Radio Free Europe.

The broadcasting stations are expected to be increased from five to eight by early 1951 and financial help depends largely on contributions collected from the public.

The radio project is not sponsored by the government nor does it receive financial support. It is a movement by the people who believe in freedom to inform the Russian people of the true facts of the democratic world.

Wounded Barton Soldier Is Taken To Bethesda Hospital

Pvt. Marshall P. Broadwater, 22, Barton, who was recently wounded in Korea, is recuperating in the Bethesda Hospital, the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross has been advised.

His sister, Mrs. Mary M. Broadwater, Barton, was advised recently by the Department of Defense that Pvt. Broadwater had been wounded in Korea and was being flown to a California hospital.

Last Saturday night, the chapter was notified by telegram that the Barton soldier had been landed in Suisan Air Force Base, Fairfield, Cal.

The Red Cross field director there asked the chapter to advise the soldier's sister, Mrs. Gus Broadwater, and father, Ephrain Broadwater, that he had arrived safely.

Yesterday, the field director at Bethesda Hospital, Washington, called to ask the chapter to relay the information that Pvt. Broadwater had been admitted to that hospital.

Doctors at Bethesda, he reported, were satisfied with Pvt. Broadwater's condition at present but advised a long period of hospitalization would be needed and that the serviceman was suffering from shock.

Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary, said all of the information was relayed promptly to the soldier's relatives, together with the information on visiting hours at the hospital.

The Red Cross, Mrs. Witherup said, is permitted by the military departments to offer such service as that given to the Broadwater family.

All effort is made, she added, to advise families of servicemen of any change in the condition of injured personnel and to pass on such information to the family as promptly as possible.

Weather Forecast

U. S. MARINES SWEEP INTO SEOUL

Acheson Also Urges Roving Peace Patrol

Big 5 Pact Demand Renewed By USSR

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson today called for United Nations members — communists and non - communists alike—to furnish units for an international army to smash aggression anywhere in the world.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky followed Acheson before the U. N. Assembly with a renewal of an old Russian demand for a Big-Five peace pact, prohibition of the atomic weapon and reduction of the armed forces of the Big-Five by one-third. These proposals were turned down at previous assemblies.

"I must say here and now that the Soviet Union will not take the path which the Secretary of State of the United States tries to divert the General Assembly," Vishinsky said. He submitted a revised list of alleged warmongers. To his old 1947 list of Winston Churchill and John Foster Dulles, Vishinsky today added Gen. Omar Bradley, Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews, former Defense Secretary Louis A. Johnson, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

6,000-Word Speech

Acheson, in a 40-minute, 6,000-word speech, demanded that the Assembly seek a peaceful solution of the Formosa question and that the principals in the controversy refrain from force while the Assembly is acting. The Russians tossed before the Assembly a complaint charging the United States with aggression against China. This complaint already has been made in the Security Council and its appearance here means the Formosa question will get a full hearing before the 59 U. N. members.

Acheson said the world wants a peace that is free from fear, "the fear of invasion, the fear of subversion, the fear of the knock on the door at midnight."

The first of the great power delegates to speak, Acheson also proposed a roving peace patrol to seek out international trouble spots and called on the Assembly to clear its decks for action against aggression, if necessary, on 24 hours notice. He drew loud applause as he concluded.

U. N. Survival Assured

In a general review of the tense times, Acheson said there is no longer any question whether the U. N. will survive:

"This question has been answered. If by nothing else, it has been answered by United Nations action against aggression in Korea. Blood is thicker than ink."

Acheson said the world has confronted many and complex problems "but the main obstacle to peace is easy to identify; and there should be no mistake in anyone's mind about it. That obstacle has been

Senate Sends Anti-Commie Bill To Truman

Backers Prepare For Possible Veto

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Senate tonight sent to the White House a bill calling for registration of communists, and permitting internment of potential spies and saboteurs in time of war. Whether President Truman would sign or veto it remained a question.

The House passed the tough control measure by a vote of 312 to 20. The Senate added its approval 51 to 7 hours later.

The bill was a compromise between earlier Senate and House versions.

Even before the measure passed, its backers in both houses were lining up votes to override a veto in event Mr. Truman rejects the measure. They said they had no doubt they could pile up the two-thirds majorities needed to override.

Mr. Truman had said he would not sign earlier versions of the bill, but has declined to discuss his attitude toward its amended form.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, in a speech to the American Bar Association today, assailed the measure as evidence of "hysteria." He said it goes too far beyond the new safeguards against espionage and sabotage for which Mr. Truman originally had asked.

President Truman has denounced individual sections that were written into the catch-all anti-communist bill but has not said definitely what he will do about this particular version.

In both houses the opposition was based on arguments that the bill is a product of "fear and hysteria."

Kicking off Senate debate, Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) appealed for swift vote of approval. He amalgamated five separate measures against spies and subversives in the original Senate measure, and accepted the proposal of Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill) to include the internment plan.

Nothing in the measure, McCarran said, violates anybody's constitutional rights. He said it would preserve that Constitution which he called "the hope of the world."

Senate Confirms Marshall As U. S. Defense Chief

5-Star General May Be Sworn In Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Senate today voted 57 to 11 to confirm Gen. George C. Marshall as the nation's Secretary of Defense.

The 69-year-old soldier-statesman, who guided American armies to victory in World War II, succeeds Louis A. Johnson, dropped from the Cabinet by President Truman.

Marshall takes over the defense helm at a time when U. S. troops apparently have turned the tide of battle in Korea, but with many grave problems confronting him in the troubled international situation.

Pentagon officials said he probably will be sworn in, without fanfare, tomorrow.

Won't Waste Any Time

An aide said the five-star General intends to go right to his desk, after taking the oath of office, and start working.

His immediate job is to rearm America at top speed and mold a forthcoming military machine of 3,000,000 men into fighting trim.

Senate confirmation came shortly after Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) urged his colleagues to "scuttle politics and present a unified front to our common enemy."

Only a few voices were raised in opposition, chiefly on the ground that Marshall, a life-long soldier, was taking over a post Congress had reserved for a civilian. A special law was passed last week lifting the legal ban—in his case only—against a military man serving as Secretary of Defense.

Tydings Praises General

Sen. Tydings (D-Md), urging approval, put this question to the Senate:

"Where is there any man in America who is better qualified? Always the answer comes back to George Marshall."

Wrestler Is Cleared

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20 (AP) — Orvie Cleghorn, a 270-pound wrestler and operatic student, today was freed of charges of attempted rape against a 98-pound woman who claimed she stopped him with a few judo holds of her own.

Coal Operators Will Organize

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — The nation's coal operators are out to put an end to John L. Lewis' divide and conquer tactics.

An important bloc of soft coal (bituminous) mine owners meet here tomorrow to complete organization of a new group they hope will meet the president of the United Mine Workers on equal terms.

The newly-formed Bituminous Coal Operators Association represents more than 25 per cent of the soft coal industry's production. Its founders, led by a group of Pittsburgh coal executives, hope that eventually it will present the UMW with a unified front of all important operators.

The new association is widely expected to announce that its president will be Harry Moses, now president of the H. C. Frick Coke Company. The Frick Company is the key firm in the coal mining empire of the United States Steel Corporation.

In the past, Lewis has often won important gains for his 400,000 soft coal miners by taking advantage of the operators' inability to stick together.

Mystery Whistler Returns, Whistles, And Girl Collapses

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20 (AP) — The mysterious whistler called on 18-year-old Jacquelyn Cadow again last night and the girl collapsed in total hysteria when he started his eerie serenade.

The phantom intruder, who has threatened the girl's life and boasted he would halt here Oct. 1 marriage, twice whistled his mournful funeral dirge last night as he lurked in some shrubbery outside the Cadow home in Paradise, La., about 25 miles west of here.

Jacquelyn and her mother had returned to the small town last night after the whistler found their hideaway in New Orleans. The family said the weird whistling began last February.

Three persons outside the family heard the elusive mystery man last night including a New Orleans States reporter, Roy Heinecke, who joined the girl's husband-to-be, State Trooper Hedbert Belsom, 26, New Orleans and Mrs. R. D. Sylvest, Hammond, La., to keep watch with the family.

"We heard him twice," Heinecke reported. "The first time was about 8:30 p. m. after Mr. Cadow had gone to work. First there was a rustle in the bushes and then a long shrill whistle."

The reporter said he stepped out on the back porch where a yard-light was burning but didn't see anyone. While he stood there, he said, the whistler came again and sounded as though the man were under the kitchen window.

"American Prisoners Of War In Korea"

Red Columns Rush Toward Tottering City

Big Air Umbrella Aids Leathernecks

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 21 (AP) — United States Marines crashed into Seoul from the northwest Wednesday night.

Other leathernecks formed the lower jaw of a vise by lunging southwest of the city proper through an industrial suburb and airfield on the Han River's west bank.

A battle for Seoul appeared to be impending. The U. S. 10th Corps said a tank-supported red column from Chinese Communist Manchuria was spotted moving south from North Korea. The column originated at Antung, just across the border in Manchuria, the corps said. An Air Force spokesman said it was first sighted 20 miles south of Antung, Manchuria, across the Yalu River boundary from North Korea.

Other red reinforcements were rushing up from the south. But the main road leading south from Seoul toward Suwon was cut last night by the Marines who overran the suburb and the air field. And U. S. Seventh Division troops also were moving toward the highway. Artillery on high points controlled the road.

FEAF Sets Record

The Marines who entered Seoul proper had crossed the Han Wednesday morning eight miles northwest of the city. They covered the eight miles to Seoul and entered the outskirts at 6 p.m. Wednesday (4 a.m. EST).

The Leathernecks, operating under a big umbrella of planes, were expected to reach the heart of the city of 1,000,000 some time today.

U. S. 10th Corps officers estimated the reds have about 18,000 troops available for Seoul's defense. However, these reportedly included security police and even students hastily recruited at Pyongyang, the red capital, and given guns but little training.

The reds moving up from the south came from the old South Korean front, 135 miles to the southeast.

Emphasizing the power of air blows raining on the reds all over the peninsula, the Far East Air Force disclosed today that planes Wednesday set a new record of 720 sorties.

An Air Force spokesman said a record 635 tons of cargo and 1,055 passengers was flown into Kimpo airfield, captured by the Marines Monday. This largest airfield in Korea is 10 miles northwest of Seoul.

MacArthur Visits Front

Gen. MacArthur, who directed the seaborne landing of 40,000 men at Inchon Friday, visited the Han River front. He watched Marines clearing out the enemy along the banks where the successful crossing was made.

Things were going badly for the enemy elsewhere, too.

South Korean marines landed on the east coast of Korea opposite Seoul, 118 miles to the west. They threatened to cut off all enemy forces along the east coast in the area of the port of Pohang.

The old Pusan beachhead front appeared to be falling apart. U. S. infantry attacks and enemy withdrawals eliminated all but one red pocket on the east bank of the Naktong River.

Senate-House Group Okays War Tax Bill

Way Is Opened For Congress Recess

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — A compromise $4,700,000,000 "stopgap" war tax bill was approved today by a Senate-House conference committee, and congressional leaders said it will be sent to President Truman by Friday night.

The complete agreement, breaking a deadlock, opened the way for Congress to adjourn Saturday until after the November elections, when it will return to act upon a "second installment" tax increase to help pay for the Korean war and for armaments against communist aggression.

Effective October 1

Together the two tax bills, while increasing tax burdens appreciably this year, may boost taxes in 1951 by about $12,000,000,000.

The present compromise bill, agreed upon today, increases the income taxes of over 50,000,000 individuals by almost $3,000,000,000 a year. The higher rates will become effective October 1. The withholdings from wages and salaries will become greater at that time.

The bill increases corporation normal taxes by $1,500,000,000 a year, and embodies a pledge that Congress will act later on a multi-billion dollar corporation excess profits tax, to be effective retroactively to Oct. 1 or July 1, 1950.

Truman Pleased With Bill

Soon after the agreement was readied, President Truman was reported to have telephoned Rep. Doughton (D-NC), chairman of the House conferees, to tell him he was well pleased with the bill.

The measure brings the nation's tax statutes near to a wartime footing.

It provides tax incentives for industry to retool for the production of materials needed by armies defending the democracies, by setting up a system of accelerated amortization, for tax purposes, for industries turned to such production.

Car Rams School Bus; One Killed, 8 Injured

FAULKNER, Md., Sept. 20 (AP) — An automobile crashed into the rear of a crowded school bus near this Charles County town today, killing a man, and injuring eight others—including seven children on the bus.

State Police Trooper C. D. Smith identified the dead man as Claude Mudd, 42, Newburt, Charles County.

Mudd was riding in the car with James B. Purcell, 27, also of Newburg. Purcell was in serious condition tonight in Casualty Hospital, Washington, with head and chest injuries.

Trooper Smith said the school bus left La Plata to take a load of children to their homes in the southern section of the county. It was stopped at a railroad crossing, he reported, when the accident happened.

School Aid Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The House voted $72,500,000 today to start an emergency program of federal aid to districts where school enrollments have been swollen by government activities.

Arrests Of Police And Power Shutoff Keep Berlin On Edge

The rival city governments engaged in a running duel of arresting each other's policemen.

The Soviet sector decided to shut off its electric power to the American, British and French sectors as of midnight tonight.

Three companies of American, British and French troops began combined two-day military maneuvers on the shores of the Havel River in Berlin's western outskirts. The maneuvers followed similar combined exercises in Western Germany and the disclosure that the three powers are drawing up plants for West Berlin's defense.

Red Troops Erect Barrier

In still another incident Soviet trops erected a barrier on British sector territory near the Soviet sector border. They withdrew when the British protested and stationed troops along the border to point out to the Russians the actual boundary. British and Russian officers then began discussions aimed at straightening out the difficulty.

Linked To Big 3 Statement

The various developments, after weeks of comparative quiet, came so soon after the Big Three declaration that an attack on Berlin or West Germany would be an attack on themselves that there seemed to be some connection.

The Berlin police squabble grew out of the arrest of six east zone "people's police" who blundered into the western sectors Monday. They will stand trial Friday on charges of carrying arms illegally. They carried pistols and wore blue uniforms and black boots.

The "people's police" retaliated by taking 25 West Berlin police into custody last night as they were riding the subway to their homes in the east sector. They carried no arms but wore the regulation West police uniform.

Fiery Meteor Seen In Four-State Area

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 20 (AP)—Scores of West Kentuckians all the way from Louisville to Paducah reported today they saw a flaming meteor streaking through the early morning sky.

The object, also visible in Tennessee, Indiana and Illinois, was reported to have exploded in the air somewhere between the Paducah area and Memphis, Tenn. A farmer near Murray, Ky., said a fragment of the meteor fell on his farm.

Witnesses said the meteor was flaming red, lit up the sky and some of them said it appeared to explode.

In Paducah, Acting Desk Sergeant Albert K. Yancey of the police department said the meteor lit up an area around there "so you could almost read a newspaper. He fixed the time at around 2 a. m. (CST).

Dog Experiment Issue To Voters

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP)—The bitter question of using dogs for medical experiments came up again today. This time it came up to the voters.

The Maryland Anti-Vivisection Society and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals already have rigged up the nucleus of a vote-getting machine. It may outshine anything Tom Pendergast or Frank Hague ever put together.

The legal election machinery was unleashed today by a "Citizens Committee for the Dog Referendum"—the anti-vivisection and SPCA people working together.

They deposited at City Hall a petition for a referendum on an amendment to the city charter.

The petition bore 21,259 names—more than twice the 10,000 required to put the issue on the ballot in the general election Nov. 7.

Strip Mining Blamed For Water Shortage

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 20 (AP)—Strip mining was blamed by the nearby village of Smithfield today for a water shortage that forced the closing of three schools.

Mayor Jay Phipps said it was the general opinion in the town the miners had broken through a stratum and caused the underground water to flow off.

Two of the town's three wells went dry yesterday. To conserve the supply from the remaining well, two schools with a total enrollment of 611 were closed.

Foreign Aid Rider Draws Truman Fire

Ban On Shipments To Reds Opposed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — President Truman urged Congress today to refrain from barring economic aid to nations which sell war potential articles to iron curtain countries. He said that such a course carries "danger to the United States and to world peace."

Mr. Truman presented the argument in letters calling on the lawmakers to discard a rider which the Senate had tacked onto the $17,000,000,000 emergency appropriations to buy more arms for the United States and furnish weapons to friendly nations overseas.

House Defers Decision

The President wrote to Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn) and Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), chairmen of the Appropriations Committees of the two houses, just ahead of scheduled action by the House on the issue.

There were quick indications that he might make some headway with his plea, but no hints that the whole idea was likely to be thrown out.

At the time the letter was made public key House members were predicting that their branch would accept the Senate proposal.

In the late afternoon, however, the decision was put off until tomorrow, with Cannon expressing hope that an acceptable compromise can be worked out in the meantime. The postponement followed considerable maneuvering aimed at lining up votes to make the ban less rigid.

Ban Proposed By Wherry

There was no important dispute among the House, Senate and White House over other provisions of the bill. Its principal allotments are $11,736,000,000 for national defense and $4,000,000,000 for foreign arms aid.

The ban on economic assistance to countries selling war-useful materials to the Soviet east was proposed by Sen. Wherry (R-Neb). The Senate wrote it into the bill, and House spokesmen refused to accept it in the conferences held to adjust differences between the two branches.

Barkley Will Stump

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — Vice President Barkley will make a flying campaign tour of 15 states for about 30 speeches in October and November, the Democratic National Committee announced today.

Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr., named Barkley as the administrations No. 1 orator for the November vote drive.

South Korean Middies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — Rep. Hugh D. Scott (R-Pa) introduced a bill today which would admit annually four persons from the Republic of Korea to the United States Naval Academy. Not over 16 could attend the academy at one time.

U. S. War Casualties 13,911 As Of Sept. 15

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) —The Defense Department announced today that families have been notified of 13,911 Korean war casualties through September 15.

The department said this was a cumulative figure that included all casualties reported through that date to the next of kin.

Tobin Urges Restraint Against Pay Hikes; Says Inflation Greatest Threat To Labor

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 20 (AP) — Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin today said inflation is the greatest danger facing American labor.

He told the American Federation of Labor convention the government intends to keep a lid on rising living costs but that it is not yet clear "how far we shall have to go in pulling in our belts."

Tobin added:

"If wage increases can be confined to those accompanying cost of living we'll have some means of controlling inflation."

He urged self-restraint against a constantly upward general wage movement.

An AFL vice president also told the convention today its executive council still is trying to bring about "organic unity" between the AFL and the Congress of Industrial Organization.

Charles J. MacGowan, president of the boilermakers union, said recent unity conferences with CIO representatives were suspended only because of the current conventions and other union meetings.

"We have high hopes and we shall work diligently to bring about what the rank and file of American labor wants — organic unity," he told the convention.

Tobin said, "we shall have to scrape for additional manpower. It is safe to say manpower can be met for a limited time but what about full mobilization?"

The solution, Tobin added, probably will include more women workers, more youths at work, revision of working hours, and cutting down on civilian production.

U. S. MARINES SWEEP INTO SEOUL

Acheson Also Urges Roving Peace Patrol

Big 5 Pact Demand Renewed By USSR

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson today called for United Nations members — communists and non - communists alike—to furnish units for an international army to smash aggression anywhere in the world.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky followed Acheson before the U. N. Assembly with a renewal of an old Russian demand for a Big-Five peace pact, prohibition of the atomic weapon and reduction of the armed forces of the Big-Five by one-third. These proposals were turned down at previous assemblies.

"I must say here and now that the Soviet Union will not take the path which the Secretary of State of the United States tries to divert the General Assembly," Vishinsky said. He submitted a revised list of alleged warmongers. To his old 1947 list of Winston Churchill and John Foster Dulles, Vishinsky today added Gen. Omar Bradley, Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews, former Defense Secretary Louis A. Johnson, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

6,000-Word Speech

Acheson, in a 40-minute, 6,000-word speech, demanded that the Assembly seek a peaceful solution of the Formosa question and that the principals in the controversy refrain from force while the Assembly is acting. The Russians tossed before the Assembly a complaint charging the United States with aggression against China. This complaint already has been made in the Security Council and its appearance here means the Formosa question will get a full hearing before the 59 U. N. members.

Acheson said the world wants a peace that is free from fear, "the fear of invasion, the fear of subversion, the fear of the knock on the door at midnight."

The first of the great power delegates to speak, Acheson also proposed a roving peace patrol to seek out international trouble spots and called on the Assembly to clear its decks for action against aggression, if necessary, on 24 hours notice. He drew loud applause as he concluded.

U. N. Survival Assured

In a general review of the tense times, Acheson said there is no longer any question whether the U. N. will survive:

"This question has been answered. If by nothing else, it has been answered by United Nations action against aggression in Korea. Blood is thicker than ink."

Acheson said the world has confronted many and complex problems "but the main obstacle to peace is easy to identify; and there should be no mistake in anyone's mind about it. That obstacle has been

Senate Sends Anti-Commie Bill To Truman

Backers Prepare For Possible Veto

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Senate tonight sent to the White House a bill calling for registration of communists, and permitting internment of potential spies and saboteurs in time of war. Whether President Truman would sign or veto it remained a question.

The House passed the tough control measure by a vote of 312 to 20. The Senate added its approval 51 to 7 hours later.

The bill was a compromise between earlier Senate and House versions.

Even before the measure passed, its backers in both houses were lining up votes to override a veto in event Mr. Truman rejects the measure. They said they had no doubt they could pile up the two-thirds majorities needed to override.

Mr. Truman had said he would not sign earlier versions of the bill, but has declined to discuss his attitude toward its amended form.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, in a speech to the American Bar Association today, assailed the measure as evidence of "hysteria." He said it goes too far beyond the new safeguards against espionage and sabotage for which Mr. Truman originally had asked.

President Truman has denounced individual sections that were written into the catch-all anti-communist bill but has not said definitely what he will do about this particular version.

In both houses the opposition was based on arguments that the bill is a product of "fear and hysteria."

Kicking off Senate debate, Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) appealed for swift vote of approval. He amalgamated five separate measures against spies and subversives in the original Senate measure, and accepted the proposal of Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill) to include the internment plan.

Nothing in the measure, McCarran said, violates anybody's constitutional rights. He said it would preserve that Constitution which he called "the hope of the world."

"American Prisoners Of War In Korea"

Big Air Umbrella Aids Leathernecks

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 21 (AP) — United States Marines crashed into Seoul from the northwest Wednesday night.

Other leathernecks formed the lower jaw of a vise by lunging southwest of the city proper through an industrial suburb and airfield on the Han River's west bank.

A battle for Seoul appeared to be impending. The U. S. 10th Corps said a tank-supported red column from Chinese Communist Manchuria was spotted moving south from North Korea. The column originated at Antung, just across the border in Manchuria, the corps said. An Air Force spokesman said it was first sighted 20 miles south of Antung, Manchuria, across the Yalu River boundary from North Korea.

Other red reinforcements were rushing up from the south. But the main road leading south from Seoul toward Suwon was cut last night by the Marines who overran the suburb and the air field. And U. S. Seventh Division troops also were moving toward the highway. Artillery on high points controlled the road.

FEAF Sets Record

The Marines who entered Seoul proper had crossed the Han Wednesday morning eight miles northwest of the city. They covered the eight miles to Seoul and entered the outskirts at 6 p.m. Wednesday (4 a.m. EST).

The Leathernecks, operating under a big umbrella of planes, were expected to reach the heart of the city of 1,000,000 some time today.

U. S. 10th Corps officers estimated the reds have about 18,000 troops available for Seoul's defense. However, these reportedly included security police and even students hastily recruited at Pyongyang, the red capital, and given guns but little training.

The reds moving up from the south came from the old South Korean front, 135 miles to the southeast.

Emphasizing the power of air blows raining on the reds all over the peninsula, the Far East Air Force disclosed today that planes Wednesday set a new record of 720 sorties.

An Air Force spokesman said a record 635 tons of cargo and 1,055 passengers was flown into Kimpo airfield, captured by the Marines Monday. This largest airfield in Korea is 10 miles northwest of Seoul.

MacArthur Visits Front

Gen. MacArthur, who directed the seaborne landing of 40,000 men at Inchon Friday, visited the Han River front. He watched Marines clearing out the enemy along the banks where the successful crossing was made.

Things were going badly for the enemy elsewhere, too.

South Korean marines landed on the east coast of Korea opposite Seoul, 118 miles to the west. They threatened to cut off all enemy forces along the east coast in the area of the port of Pohang.

The old Pusan beachhead front appeared to be falling apart. U. S. infantry attacks and enemy withdrawals eliminated all but one red pocket on the east bank of the Naktong River.

Senate Confirms Marshall As U. S. Defense Chief

5-Star General May Be Sworn In Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Senate today voted 57 to 11 to confirm Gen. George C. Marshall as the nation's Secretary of Defense.

The 69-year-old soldier-statesman, who guided American armies to victory in World War II, succeeds Louis A. Johnson, dropped from the Cabinet by President Truman.

Marshall takes over the defense helm at a time when U. S. troops apparently have turned the tide of battle in Korea, but with many grave problems confronting him in the troubled international situation.

Pentagon officials said he probably will be sworn in, without fanfare, tomorrow.

Won't Waste Any Time

An aide said the five-star General intends to go right to his desk, after taking the oath of office, and start working.

His immediate job is to rearm America at top speed and mold a forthcoming military machine of 3,000,000 men into fighting trim.

Senate confirmation came shortly after Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) urged his colleagues to "scuttle politics and present a unified front to our common enemy."

Only a few voices were raised in opposition, chiefly on the ground that Marshall, a life-long soldier, was taking over a post Congress had reserved for a civilian. A special law was passed last week lifting the legal ban—in his case only—against a military man serving as Secretary of Defense.

Tydings Praises General

Sen. Tydings (D-Md), urging approval, put this question to the Senate:

"Where is there any man in America who is better qualified? Always the answer comes back to George Marshall."

Coal Operators Will Organize

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — The nation's coal operators are out to put an end to John L. Lewis' divide and conquer tactics.

An important bloc of soft coal (bituminous) mine owners meet here tomorrow to complete organization of a new group they hope will meet the president of the United Mine Workers on equal terms.

The newly-formed Bituminous Coal Operators Association represents more than 25 per cent of the soft coal industry's production. Its founders, led by a group of Pittsburgh coal executives, hope that eventually it will present the UMW with a unified front of all important operators.

The new association is widely expected to announce that its president will be Harry Moses, now president of the H. C. Frick Coke Company. The Frick Company is the key firm in the coal mining empire of the United States Steel Corporation.

In the past, Lewis has often won important gains for his 400,000 soft coal miners by taking advantage of the operators' inability to stick together.

Car Rams School Bus; One Killed, 8 Injured

FAULKNER, Md., Sept. 20 (AP) — An automobile crashed into the rear of a crowded school bus near this Charles County town today, killing a man, and injuring eight others—including seven children on the bus.

State Police Trooper C. D. Smith identified the dead man as Claude Mudd, 42, Newburt, Charles County.

Mudd was riding in the car with James B. Purcell, 27, also of Newburg. Purcell was in serious condition tonight in Casualty Hospital, Washington, with head and chest injuries.

Trooper Smith said the school bus left La Plata to take a load of children to their homes in the southern section of the county. It was stopped at a railroad crossing, he reported, when the accident happened.

School Aid Bill OK'd

Mystery Whistler Returns, Whistles, And Girl Collapses

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20 (AP) — The mysterious whistler called on 18-year-old Jacquelyn Cadow again last night and the girl collapsed in total hysteria when he started his eerie serenade.

The phantom intruder, who has threatened the girl's life and boasted he would halt here Oct. 1 marriage, twice whistled his mournful funeral dirge last night as he lurked in some shrubbery outside the Cadow home in Paradise, La., about 25 miles west of here.

Jacquelyn and her mother had returned to the small town last night after the whistler found their hideaway in New Orleans. The family said the weird whistling began last February.

Three persons outside the family heard the elusive mystery man last night including a New Orleans States reporter, Roy Heinecke, who joined the girl's husband-to-be, State Trooper Hedbert Belsom, 26, New Orleans and Mrs. R. D. Sylvest, Hammond, La., to keep watch with the family.

"We heard him twice," Heinecke reported. "The first time was about 8:30 p. m. after Mr. Cadow had gone to work. First there was a rustle in the bushes and then a long shrill whistle."

The reporter said he stepped out on the back porch where a yard-light was burning but didn't see anyone. While he stood there, he said, the whistler came again and sounded as though the man were under the kitchen window.

Senate-House Group Okays War Tax Bill

Way Is Opened For Congress Recess

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP) — A compromise $4,700,000,000 "stopgap" war tax bill was approved today by a Senate-House conference committee, and congressional leaders said it will be sent to President Truman by Friday night.

The complete agreement, breaking a deadlock, opened the way for Congress to adjourn Saturday until after the November elections, when it will return to act upon a "second installment" tax increase to help pay for the Korean war and for armaments against communist aggression.

Effective October 1

Together the two tax bills, while increasing tax burdens appreciably this year, may boost taxes in 1951 by about $12,000,000,000.

The present compromise bill, agreed upon today, increases the income taxes of over 50,000,000 individuals by almost $3,000,000,000 a year. The higher rates will become effective October 1. The withholdings from wages and salaries will become greater at that time.

The bill increases corporation normal taxes by $1,500,000,000 a year, and embodies a pledge that Congress will act later on a multi-billion dollar corporation excess profits tax, to be effective retroactively to Oct. 1 or July 1, 1950.

Truman Pleased With Bill

Soon after the agreement was readied, President Truman was reported to have telephoned Rep. Doughton (D-NC), chairman of the House conferees, to tell him he was well pleased with the bill.

The measure brings the nation's tax statutes near to a wartime footing.

It provides tax incentives for industry to retool for the production of materials needed by armies defending the democracies, by setting up a system of accelerated amortization, for tax purposes, for industries turned to such production.

Arrests Of Police And Power Shutoff Keep Berlin On Edge

The rival city governments engaged in a running duel of arresting each other's policemen.

The Soviet sector decided to shut off its electric power to the American, British and French sectors as of midnight tonight.

Three companies of American, British and French troops began combined two-day military maneuvers on the shores of the Havel River in Berlin's western outskirts. The maneuvers followed similar combined exercises in Western Germany and the disclosure that the three powers are drawing up plants for West Berlin's defense.

Red Troops Erect Barrier

In still another incident Soviet trops erected a barrier on British sector territory near the Soviet sector border. They withdrew when the British protested and stationed troops along the border to point out to the Russians the actual boundary. British and Russian officers then began discussions aimed at straightening out the difficulty.

Linked To Big 3 Statement

The various developments, after weeks of comparative quiet, came so soon after the Big Three declaration that an attack on Berlin or West Germany would be an attack on themselves that there seemed to be some connection.

The Berlin police squabble grew out of the arrest of six east zone "people's police" who blundered into the western sectors Monday. They will stand trial Friday on charges of carrying arms illegally. They carried pistols and wore blue uniforms and black boots.

The "people's police" retaliated by taking 25 West Berlin police into custody last night as they were riding the subway to their homes in the east sector. They carried no arms but wore the regulation West police uniform.

Murder Case Figure Freed

THOMASTON, Me., Sept. 20 (AP)—Francis M. Carroll, freed from life imprisonment by a judge who branded his conviction fraudulent, walked out of state prison today, no bitterness in his heart.

"I haven't any hard feelings toward anyone," said the 56-year-old former deputy sheriff.

Carroll said he never lost hope. He has no job and no immediate plans for the future.

Carroll had been sentenced in 1938 for the South Paris slaying of Dr. James G. Littlefield.

Behind the prison walls he left a silent but upset Paul N. Dwyer, 30, also serving life for the same slaying. It was Dwyer's accusations months after he was imprisoned that led to Carroll's arrest.

"Boy, that's wonderful shouted Carroll when told that Superior Court Justice Albert Beliveau had granted a writ of habaes corpus, Beliveau upheld Carroll's contention that his constitutional rights had been violated.

There is no appeal from Justice Beliveau's unprecedented action.

No One Hurt As Train Hits Explosives Truck

Lead cylinders filled with gun powder consigned to the Portsmouth Va., Navy Yard were strewn over the grade crossing areas as the truck was hit by the Norfolk & Western passenger train Powhatan Arrow.

The cylinders — about three feet long and four inches in diameter—so closely resemble bombs that first reports were the truck was loaded with bombs.

The Baggett Transport Co. truck from Birmingham, Ala., had waited at the crossing for a freight train to pass. As it cleared the crossing, the driver, Richard Haney, Blytheville, Ark., started across the double tracks. The Powhatan Arrow, which had been hidden by the freight train, crashed into the front of the truck.

Observers said there were two minor explosives, but no fire.

Race For Senate Still Undecided

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate still hung in the balance today—two days after Maryland's primaries—but John Marshall Butler claimed victory and incomplete returns tended to back him up.

If Butler wins, it will be the second contest in which Maryland's unit system of nominating upset the popular vote.

On the incomplete returns—1,017 of 1,429 polling places reported—D. John Markey, retired National Guard general from Walkersville, held a 29,430 to 26,774 margin, over the Baltimore attorney.

These same returns showed Butler with 52 unit votes for certain, plus 18 more he seems sure to get from counties in which he is leading. Butler claimed he will get 33 votes in such counties, but the returns so far are not conclusive enough to say he is in.

Markey has 34 votes for certain and another ten he can pretty well count on.

It takes 77 votes in the party convention to nominate and if the figures follow Butler's claim he will have 85.

The answer may come tomorrow, certainly on Friday, when election supervisors in the counties unlock the election books and canvass the official figures.

Baltimore County May Get Voting Machines

Mahoney Backers Await Official Canvass Of Votes

BALTIMORE, Sept. 20 (AP) — Carroll County got the jump on Baltimore City and the other 22 counties today and completed its official canvass of votes cast in the primary election.

Baltimore City and most of the other counties will start their canvasses tomorrow.

Representatives of George P. Mahoney, who lost the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to Gov. Lane on the basis of unofficial returns, will have watchers at every counting place.

Lane's unofficial convention vote total was 84 to Mahoney's 68. A shift of nine convention votes would have given the Baltimore contractor the nomination.

Mahoney backers are clinging to a faint hope that the unofficial results will be upset in counties where the margin is narrow.

There are persistent reports that Mahoney will ask for recounts in Garrett, Dorchester and Wicomico Counties if they are not swung into his column by the canvass.

On unofficial results, he lost Garrett's four unit votes by 53 votes, Dorchester's five by 483 and Wicomico's five by 258 votes.

There is still one unreported polling place in Dorchester and two in Wicomico. Final results from those two will not be available until the canvass.

If any two of the three counties were in the Mahoney column he would win.

Taft Says Harriman Sympathetic To Stalin

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft told the Republican state convention tonight that Averill Harriman, advisor to President Truman on foreign affairs, was "one of those who was most sympathetic to Soviet Russia and Joe Stalin."

Taft's remarks was in answer to Harriman's criticism of him yesterday before the American Federation of Labor convention in Houston. Harriman called for Taft's defeat at the November election.

Wiley Renominated By Wisconsin GOP

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 20 (AP)—Wisconsin Republicans had renominated Sen. Alexander Wiley and seven members of the House today but Democrats claimed a gain in vote percentages.

The 66-year-old Wiley, seeking a third term, walloped Edward Finan, a virtually unkown boilermaker and farmer of rural Bristol, by more than 200,000 votes.

Murder Case Figure Freed

THOMASTON, Me., Sept. 20 (AP) —Francis M. Carroll, freed from life imprisonment by a judge who branded his conviction fraudulent, walked out of state prison today, no bitterness in his heart.

"I haven't any hard feelings toward anyone," said the 56-year-old former deputy sheriff.

Carroll said he never lost hope. He has no job and no immediate plans for the future.

Carroll had been sentenced in 1938 for the South Paris slaying of Dr. James G. Littlefield.

Behind the prison walls he left a silent but upset Paul N. Dwyer, 30, also serving life for the same slaying. It was Dwyer's accusations months after he was imprisoned that led to Carroll's arrest.

"Boy, that's wonderful shouted Carroll when told that Superior Court Justice Albert Beliveau had granted a writ of habaes corpus, Beliveau upheld Carroll's contention that his constitutional rights had been violated.

There is no appeal from Justice Beliveau's unprecedented action.

Moberly Will Head Hospital

The new superintendent of Memorial Hospital will be John A. Moberly, Clearfield, Pa., who is replacing Benjamin W. Wright.

Wright resigned to take over duties as superintendent of Wilmington, Del., hospital.

The selection of the Board of Governors of the hospital was announced yesterday by William A. Gunter, president.

Moberly is currently superintendent of Clearfield Hospital, a position he has held for the past five years.

Gunter said Moberly was chosen from a field of nine first-class applicants. The Clearfield hospital is nearly the size of Memorial, Gunter pointed out, as it has 167 beds compared to 208 here.

Moberly was graduated from Johnstown High School, and soon after went to work at Johnstown Memorial Hospital.

There he learned all phases of the administration of a hospital and when he resigned there in 1945 to accept the Clearfield post, he was assistant superintendent.

Moberly will come to Cumberland in November upon completion of an addition to the Clearfield hospital.

Petty Crime Plagues City

Cumberland is being plagued with an outbreak of petty breaking and entering cases, police report.

The City Ice and Fuel Company, 28 North George Street, was entered between 5 p. m. and 8 a. m. Tuesday night after an intruder broke the glass under a window latch on the west side of the firm's office and loading platform. Desk drawers were ransacked and $9.50 was taken.

Three youths were noticed near the A. and P. Super Market on Wineow Street shortly before police discovered the establishment had been broken into Tuesday night. Entrance was gained by forcing a door on the west side of the building. Investigation revealed that nothing had been taken, but it is believed that the intruders were frightened away.

fied authorities that his car was ransacked after he parked the machine at the B. and O. freight house on North George Street Tuesday night. A pair of binoculars and driving gloves were missing from a compartment, Robertson said, adding that other machines in the area were ransacked.

Police also are investigating an entry Tuesday at the Garland-Norton Petroleum Company warehouse, 12-18 Roberts Street. Glass in a window on the east side of the structure was broken but nothing was stolen.

The Workhorse Ships

How many troop transports there were in the great 270-ship armada off Inchon is still a secret. But it is no secret that there must be transports—plenty of them—for an amphibious task of such magnitude. In a day when airplanes carry military personnel of all ranks, it's possible to forget that surface ships are still the main way of getting troops from here to there.

The growing hull of the 48,000-ton super liner United States has just been roughly turned away from round-the-world cruises, dance music and evening gowns. Decoration will be functional. There will be less emphasis on chromium and deep-pile carpet—and more on rigging as many bunks as space will allow for.

It is revealed also that the name will not be the United States any more. That's the name originally assigned to the super carrier that was laid down, also at Newport News, but was sidetracked (temporarily at least) by former Secretary of Defense Johnson.

Under the $18,000,000 ship-renovation item in the defense budget a half dozen Victory ships will be put back into service by the Maritime Commission. A vast flotilla of these is parked in the Hudson River. It doesn't look as if a large shipbuilding program needed be undertaken in the forseeable future.

Ecdysiastic Fiasco

It is not surprising to read that Gypsy Rose Lee, that versatile author and radio quiz star, seems to have dodged attempts to baré her as a crypto-communist clothed in false pretenses. In another of her specialties, she has had plenty of experience in dealing with unruly members of the audience trying to expose her.

Miss Lee is the only strip-teaser of record who could take an intelligence test without flunking it, and it would do something to male illusions if it were proved that she were dumb enough, after all, to fall for the party line.

Pointing out that Miss Lee has signed an affidavit denying everything, a broadcasting company head asked a protesting official what proof he had. He didn't have any, exactly, he said, but her name was on a blacklist of alleged communist sympathizers called "Red Channels," and maybe the publishers of that had proof.

The blacklist said that she participated on four occasions in an activity sponsored by one or another organization which was, or later became, a communist front. Miss Lee's affidavit, which lays her open to legal action if it isn't true, says she had nothing to do with any of these groups and can prove it.

Miss Lee is in a peculiarly fortunate position. The cities of America are full of people who can personally testify that she has nothing to hide.

And to think that two months ago we thought prices were high!

Gone With The Wind

Dr. H. H. Bennett, veteran chief of the United States Soil Conservation Service, says the prairies of the Midwest, which comprise the greatest bread basket in the world, started with nine inches of topsoil and now have six, that half the land area of the United States has been damaged by erosion, and only 460,000,000 acres of first class land is left, or approximately three acres per inhabitant.

It's a dark picture he paints, dark enough for anybody. In a few more generations, unless proper policies are applied, he says, the United States will wind up a poor, have-not nation, all its vaunted wealth and standard of living gone with the wind and the water.

Here is a field which, while not subject to the sensationalism that international affairs and domestic politics produce, is basically the most important problem facing America, if the situation is as dark as painted. The nation must stop soil erosion if it is to support an ever-increasing population.

A few poor crop years, coupled with war, could result in troublesome food shortages. Phenomenal yields in the last decade have resulted in huge surpluses, but it cannot be assumed that bumper crops will continue to be produced each year.

Opportunity no longer knocks. The radio quiz show brings it in by way of the ringing telephone.

Five Stars For Bradley

The purpose behind the creation of the rank of five star general, or general of the Army, was to reward with commensurate authority a position of extreme responsibility. Under the act of Congress, creating the rank in 1944, four generals — MacArthur, Arnold, Eisenhower and Marshall—have been given the circular five star insignia. The Senate has just passed a measure giving this rank to Gen. Omar N. Bradley, present chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

There was only a minor kickup in the Senate over the proposal. That was on purely technical grounds. It had nothing to do with Bradley's fitness and reflected nothing on his record. Anyone who has followed the career of this mild-appearing strategist will wonder whether anyone cares to risk the ire of the general's countrymen by opposing the promotion. If Bradley's present arduous duties do not merit it, certainly his past triumphs in Africa and in Europe do.

Diplomacy is the technique of cutting the other fellow down without evidence of pain.

Swiftly-Turning Tide

Experiences at Anzio and in other similar operations in World War II have warned Americans not to expect too much too soon from such maneuvers. But the immense size of the landing armada made it clear that the landing at Inchon was a major offensive operation.

For all practical purposes, the war in Korea is ended. Unless Russia is determined to prolong it, that is. The North Koreans are licked. The South Korean capital of Seoul, is the main gateway through which poured the munitions and supplies for the North Korean troops which ringed the U. S. beachhead at Pusan. The enemy's line of supply now is functioning spasmodically.

The shift from the defensive to the offensive in Korea came sooner than most persons had hoped, and the success of the offensive is amazing.

The impossible is the thing nobody can do until someone does it.

Breastfeeding Has Precedence

BREAST MILK versus cow's milk for infants continues to be a controversial subject. According to one authority, the usual reasons advanced for preferring human milk are trite, tho correct. It is difficult to combat that simple and logical argument that nature intended human milk for humans and cow's milk for the more robust stomach and quicker growth of the calf.

The trite reasons are so impressive that we may well wonder how any child ever survived a nipple stoppered bottle. Dr. Phillip C. Jean states that mother's milk is easier to digest and has a lower bacterial count. Babies so fed are protected to a certain extent from infections and seldom develop allergies and digestive disturbances traceable to their diet.

In addition, breastfeeding comes naturally and does not require an ounce of brains. In this respect the problem of human error in prescribing and preparing a formula never enters the picture. Nursing also satisfies many of the emotional needs of the youngster, thus contributing to his future sense of security and maturity. Another factor is that human milk encourages good growth and physical status.

From all this there can be no argument that nursing is the ideal procedure, despite all the current refinements in artificial feedings. But this does not mean that the formula is of no value and that every tot who received cow's milk will be beseiged with infections or allergies, or that physical and mental growth will be disturbed. As a matter of fact, differences in the two types of feeding are not great. Millions of men and women thruout the world owe their lives to old Bess because many mothers were unable to nurse their offspring and were forced to rely upon a formula. Furthermore, cow's milk is rich in nutriments and contains three times as much protein and even more calcium, magnesium, and other minerals.

Studies have shown that as a result of larger proportions of protein and calcium, babies fed on cow's milk develop approximately 25 per cent more muscle mass than the breastfed. This increase takes place soon after artificial feeding is started. Of course, babies are not prone to chin themselves and do not need the muscular development of Georgeous George.

The fact that cow's milk is richer in calcium is not necessarily an advantage because it is not as easily absorbed as that in human milk. This is true also of many calcium products including tablets and wafers that are sold over the drug store counter. The size of the tablet means nothing because in the final analysis it is the amount absorbed and used by the blood that counts.

The quantity of vitamin C and thiamine chloride depends to a certain extent upon the diet of the mother and consequently the quantity of these substances is likely to be higher in human milk. Moreover, the heat used in preparing the formula lowers the vitamin C content of cow's milk. Vitamin D is lacking in both and must be supplemented regardless of the source of supply.

TOMORROW: Multiple sclerosis has a crazy quilt pattern.

MENTAL DISORDER

A. T. writes: Is schizophrenia inheritable?

REPLY

This is questionable. Considerable research has been done on the cause of this mental disorder but so far no one has been able to prove that heredity plans a role. On the other hand, it is possible that the type of temperament and the emotional reactions needed to produce schizophrenia are passed from one generation to another.

FIBROUS GROWTH

G. T. writes: Can a fibroid tumor be reduced in size by dieting?

Fibroids are not influenced by diet. Occasionally those occurring in the uterus shrink slightly after the menopause but otherwise they remain unchanged. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on uterine fibroids.

SPASMODIC PAIN

H. P. writes: I have pyloric spasms between 3 and 5 in the afternoon and 8 and 9 in the evening. I take belladonna for relief. Is there any cure?

Possibly, provided you are able to discover and eliminate the cause. The condition might be brought on by certain foods, poor eating habits, overacidity, anxiety, or overwork. Corrections along this line help materially.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Congressional memories sometimes are very short. It was only last year that the Senate refused to confirm Carl Ilgenfritz as chairman of the Munitions Board because he declined to give up his $60,000 salary from the U. S. Steel Corporation.

However, just about the same thing is now happening with two other high officials and nothing is being said about it. They are:

1. E. G. Plowman, another U. S. Steel executive, who gets $66,000 a year from his company while working for Uncle Sam as director of the Defense Department's Military Traffic Service.

2. William H. Harrison, who has just assumed charge of war controls in the Commerce Department while still drawing his salary from International Telephone and Telegraph.

The excuse given for permitting men to draw a salary from private industry while working for the government is that it is hard to get good men to serve the government without doing so. This is true in peacetime. But in wartime, when thousands of G. I.'s not only have to give up their jobs but their lives, it would seem that enough patriotic businesmen would be willing to work for a government stipend of $15,000 to $20,000 a year.

Jimmy Roosevelt

Jimmy Roosevelt helped to place the insurance on two housing projects at an Air Force field at Victorville, Calif.

Air Force officials state, however, that they had nothing to do with placing the insurance, and that the matter was left entirely in the hands of the private promoters.

There are two housing projects at the Victorville Air Base: 400 homes built by the Victor Valley Housing Corp., and 250 homes built by Mesa Estates.

C. O. Moore is the owner of Mesa Estates and also owns 40 per cent of the Victor Valley project. He, being a close friend of Roosevelt's, placed the insurance with the firm of Roosevelt and Sergeant, which in turn acted as the broker in placing the insurance on all 650 homes with various companies.

Johnson's Exit

Secretary of Defense Johnson took the news of his dismissal as if he had been struck by lightning. On the morning he was fired, he was cheerfully planning speeches for the American Bar Association, American Federation of Labor and American Legion.

On the morning after he was fired, he put in a routine appearance at his staff conference. General McNarney opened the meeting by saying how shocked they all were at the new development.

But Johnson held up his hand and mumbled: "No, no. Not now." Tears welled up in his eyes, and McNarney sat down.

Assistant Secretary of Defense McNeil also tried to say something appropriate. But again Johnson held up his hand. So everyone present stood up, announced there was nothing to report, and solemnly filed out of the room.

Under the Dome

After Secretary Chapman finished wiping up the Senate floor with Senator Schoeppel of Kansas, the Interior Secretary attended a Cabinet meeting. As he entered the room, President Truman said: "Here comes Joe Louis. Sit down, champ." . . . Republican leaders had planned to pick out every member of the Truman Cabinet one by one and attack them in the Senate. But Senator Schoeppel's smear of Secretary of the Interior Chapman has backfired so badly that the campaign will be abandoned . . . Though President Truman told the press it is "customary" for the Army, Navy and Air Force to hand in their resignations when the Secretary of Defense leaves, these three have agreed to stick together and not resign—unless requested . . . Donald Dawson, an aide to President Truman, is being considered as head of the New York Stock Exchange . . . About two months ago, Truman called ex-Undersecretary of State Bob Lovett to the White House and asked him to become Acheson's deputy to the Atlantic Union Conferences. Lovett literally wept. His doctor had forbade him to take a job for another year.

Seating Red China

British Foreign Minister Bevin has been nursing a plan to get Communist China admitted to the United Nations through action by the General Assembly.

Bevin has worked out his strategy with India's Premier Pandit Nehru. Both are convinced that, although Russia has been agitating for the Chinese communists to be admitted to the U. N., actually, Russia is dead against red China joining the world organization. According to British intelligence, Russia hopes that by keeping China out, she can remain as China's spokesman and appear to the Chinese people to be their one real friend.

Bevin and Nehru are also convinced that Mao Tse-Tung and the Kremlin are not getting along well. They hope Mao will become a Chinese "Tito."

Therefore, Bevin and Nehru plan to bring the question of seating the Chinese to a vote before the General Assembly where the veto cannot be used. However, it will probably require a two-thirds vote to seat the red Chinese and exclude the Nationalists. The British think they can muster the required votes to break the deadlock.

Merry-Go-Round

General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, took off to rest and work on his memoirs the other day. Immediately fireworks broke loose. First Secretary of Defense Johnson was fired, then the Marines landed at Inchon. Bradley scurried back to the Pentagon . . . Three military men have served as Secretary of War. Maj. Gen. Henry Knox, an officer in the Revolutionary War, was the first Secretary of War, while two Civil War generals—Grant and Sherman—also served as Secretary . . . The 953 lobbyists, paid $7,000,000 a year to bring pressure on Congress, are heading for home . . . More than a million tons of steel plate and pipe have gone underground in the last six weeks—part of it bootlegged into the Texas oil fields, where it sells $50 a ton above the market price . . . Industrialist Willard Rockwell almost let the cat out of the bag when he introduced Senator Byrd of Virginia as Presidential timber last week in Pittsburgh. Representatives of the National Tax Association and National Associaion of Manufacturers have been urging Byrd privately to run for President, but Rockwell was not supposed to say anything about it . . . Congressman Case of South Dakota has been paying for rainmaking experiments out of his own pocket. Due to the heavy expense, he now wants to shift the cost to Congress.

War Or Peace Will Not Be A One-Nation Affair

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 — A way around the veto in the U. N.—a way to mobilize the military as well as the moral force of the free nations of the world—has been devised.

The first intimations of it came in a declaration by John D. Hickerson, assistant secretary of state, but the full meaning of it will not be apparent until the General Assembly has, during its current meeting, developed the plan to fruition.

What the Security Council cannot do because of the Soviet veto can be accomplished through the General Assembly, where there is no veto. But it will take the form of a "resolution" by the assembled governments instead of a "recommendation," such as the Security Council may vote.

In a sense the procedure will be novel but actually it will be merely an expression of the power of any group of nations to take collective action for their own defense. The charter of the United Nations did provide, under Article 51, for such collective steps on the military side as any group of nations might wish to take. No nation is committed to act that doesn't desire to do so, but the moral force of any resolution of the assembly can be as great as the cause that the nations seek to champion.

Important Words

The exact words of Mr. Hickerson are important to examine, because they undoubtedly reflect the program planned by the free nations in advance of the present meeting of the assembly. He said:

"The Soviets might choose of their own accord to leave the United Nations. We could not control such a decision. But in our planning we should assume that they will remain in the United Nations.

"Does this mean that we must give up any hope that the United Nations will take effective, collective measures against aggression as long as the Soviets choose to remain in the United Nations and exercise their veto? Certainly not.

"There is no veto in the General Assembly, and the General Assembly has broad powers and responsibilities under the charter . . . The General Assembly will want to examine its own experience and authority in the light of the lessons of Korea in order to devise effective measures to suppress aggression when the Security Council is paralyzed."

Mr. Hickerson pointed out that the historic action of the Security Council at its June meeting, which Russia did not attend, was only a "recommendation," and adds:

"If such a Security Council resolution were to be vetoed in a future case of aggression, might not the same results be achieved within the framework of the charter upon a resolution of the General Assembly?

"Certainly there is no question that the General Assembly will have the authority to make such a recommendation. The real question is the practical one. Would it be able to operate rapidly and effectively enough?"

Interim Commission

This brings up the possibility of forming what has been called "the little assembly," which would be an interim commission with full power to set in motion the international machinery in cases of emergency.

These steps look toward the mobilization of world opinion which is so essential a preliminary step to the mobilization of military forces. The continued presence of Soviet envoys in the United Nations attests to the importance which the politburo evidently attaches to the doings of the big international organization of which Russia was a charter member.

The American policy, moreover, will seek to remind the Russians constantly of their obligations under the charter — a significant step related to the psychological aspects of the conflict between the East and West. The Department of State further says that while Messrs. Malik and Vishinsky "may not be very approachable," they are more so in New York than behind the Iron Curtain and there is always the hope they may some time give heed to "the overwhelming weight of world opinion."

What this really means is that if war comes, it will be a United Nations war and, if peace is made, it will be through the United Nations. It certainly will not be a one-nation affair, no matter what Russia's course may be.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Day Of Atonement

ON this day, Jews throughout the world meet in prayer on the holiest day of their religious calendar, Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

It is a day set aside for self-examination. There has been a year of human activity, in which the nature of man has had free play, and on this day, the penitent know that they have sinned and say so in common confession. There can only be transgression, if there is law. Therefore, the very act of common confession, in a house of worship, among one's family and neighbors, is an acknowledgment of the authority of God's law.

This year, many will ask themselves what the meaning can be of such a day in the continuing horrors which face not only mankind but each family. They thought that they were through with war. They believed that they would no longer live in the dread fear of losing their sons to Goliath. They hoped that somehow, perhaps by means of the United Nations, peoples would learn to live at peace.

Last year, during the Day of Atonement, there seemed to be jubilation in many hearts. The savagery of war was almost forgotten. This year, there will be the usual roll-call of the dead —of those dead whose young lives were spilled on the hillsides of Korea.

And some will ask: How have I sinned that this has had to happen to me?

And others will wonder about retribution and what it can really mean. Can there be a world of love when we seem to plant only the seeds of hate? Can there be a brotherhood of man when we plow with swords and reap with tanks and airplanes?

What makes such things come to pass? Few will confess that it is their own unwillingness to face the truth that there is in this world good and evil; that good is that which abides by the natural law of God; that evil is that which, denying God, leaves life without morality, without justice or right. And that between these two there never can be any compromise.

This we do not like to admit, because it makes life hard and rigid. We prefer an easier way, a live-and-let-live way, appeasing what is obviously wrong, improvising to meet pressures, sacrificing established principles to avoid conflict and dissension. And yet, such a course can only bring in its wake, greater discord, greater dissension, even war.

Should a news column comment upon such subjects as this? Is it not as much news that many millions on this day unite in public confession of transgression as it is that such a creature as Jacob Malik parrots the lies he is instructed to speak—without will, without conscience, without humanity? What is greater news than that all our miseries have not destroyed our faith that justice will triumph and the truth will prevail, if we only follow God's guidance?

Always on this day, I ponder these problems of life. It is good to pause, to rest from all the excitement which surrounds us. It is good to examine not only one's own conduct, but one's communal conduct.

This is such a glorious country in which to live, despite its politicians and tricksters and all the greedy men who scheme and plan. And what do they gain?

Since 1943, men in this country have been covering their errors. Those errors have already cost millions of lives consigned to slavery and thousands of lives killed in this current war.

But what about those who erred? What about the men of Teheran and Yalta? They have to live with the course of events which they helped to engineer. We may wonder at their motives; but they know what impelled them and their colleagues to reduce Poland and China to bondage; to keep Germany in turmoil; to destroy the liberties of Czechoslovakia and Hungary; to imperil our own land by not preventing the war in Asia.

Would that we had a tradition in this country similar to that of the Day of Atonement, so that our politicians, instead of speaking against each other, would rise and confess to their transgressions. Impractical? Has anything in history been more impractical than Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam where errors were made which may take centuries of effort and millions of lives to overcome? The practical men so often do such impractical things.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH ALSOP

How They Took Kimpo I

WITH THE MARINES ON THE SEOUL FRONT

IT is all but impossible to convey the mingled flavors of an actual combat operation — the tension when things go ill, the exhilaration when they go well, the humor and the boredom, the exhaustion and the excitement. But having marched with the marines from the Inchon landing area to Kimpo airport, this reporter will at least struggle to tell what it was like.

"The problem," as the regimental S-3 (operations officer) explained it, "was to mach about eleven miles through enemy territory and seize Kimpo, the main airfield of Seoul, before dusk could fall." The marine battalion that did the job did not quite solve the problem according to the rules laid down by the S-3, but they solved it all the same.

For our battalion (one develops these possessive feelings rather rapidly in the field), the day began at dawn, with an attack by six enemy tanks and supporting infantry on the battalion's positions on the hills just above Inchon port. The tanks were ambushed in a pass. The Russian T-34s rumbled up the road in file. The 90 mm. cannon of the Pershings spoke angrily and efficiently. The marines in the forward foxholes picked off the North Korean infantry as they leaped from the suddenly flaming, crazily careening T-34s. The first part of the road was decorated with smoking tank hulks and twisted corpses when the long file of infantry began to form in the pass for the forward march.

In the early morning sunlight, the rolling country towards Seoul shone green and golden, but the air was still sharply chilly.

The men of Easy Company, who were to form the point of the attacking column all the way to Kimpo, stamped their feet to warm themselves. In the squad with which this reporter fell in, they were proudly reminiscing about the battle of No Name Ridge, the marines' worst in Korea, where the little handful of men had been the first up the hill. "He got to the top," remarked Pfc. Marion De Shong, pointing to Cpl. Paul Navarro, who looked too young to be in the service at all. "There were forty-two of us went up and only one came down in one piece."

The March Begins

At this Easy Company's commander, Capt. Samuel Jaskilka, an officer who had made a great name in this fighting, passed the word for the march to begin. The column stepped smartly along the road. There was a sharp rattle of firing in the hills to the right, where a partner battalion was working forward as flank support for the main attack. But the men were more interested in the burning tanks. "If they was C-rations inside, they'd make good hot chow," some one said, raising a laugh.

The first trouble started at the little railroad town of Bupyong, which was to be cleared by the wiry little American-uniformed South Korean marines. The tiled roofs of the town lay below the road, which was under sharp fire. Easy Company worked its way along the dusty road-side ditch until they reached the turn for Kimpo, where they scuttled across the road in groups to help the South Koreans. A hidden group of enemy with automatic weapons were firing bursts onto the road up a gully filled with vegetable patches. The company mortars laid a couple of hells into the area, and as the North Koreans scattered, the marines got them with rifles. The first obstruction was out of the way, and Capt. Jaskilka led the column down the Kimpo road, meanwhile sending a fire party through the houses along the flank, where brisk fighting was still in progress. An enemy mortar shell landed in a buckwheat patch by the roadside, setting it on fire, and the road suddenly echoed again with the nasty singing zip-zip of bullets passing. Once more the marines went into the ditch, while Jaskilka cooly swept the town and nearby bluffs with field glasses, to try to locate the source of the new trouble. Such was the pattern of the passage through Bupyong. The South Koreans and the marine fire parties ferreted through the houses, occasionally capturing a prisoner who would be sent out onto the road stark naked and shivering. The main body moved when it could, and when pinned down, quickly took the guessed-at enemy positions under fire. The enemy firing was perfectly unpredictable—one of the worst bursts came when everything seemed to be over, and Capt. Jaskilka was conferring about the next stage of the road with the business-like batallion commander, Lt. Col. Harold Roise. By methods incomprehensible to the untrained observer, Roise and Jaskilka methodically eliminated all the many pockets of an enemy who was never visible except at the closest quarters. It was a tense, slow business, but it worked. Jaskilka only betrayed strain once, when someone repeated an unfounded rumor of heavy casualties in Easy Company's rear platoon.

"Dammit," he said, when the rumor proved unfounded, "don't tell me things that just aren't true."

Real Turning Point

The blacklist said that she participated on four occasions in an activity sponsored by one or another organization which was, or later became, a communist front. Miss Lee's affidavit, which lays her open to legal action if it isn't true, says she had nothing to do with any of these groups and can prove it.

Miss Lee is in a peculiarly fortunate position. The cities of America are full of people who can personally testify that she has nothing to hide.

And to think that two months ago we thought prices were high!

Gone With The Wind

Dr. H. H. Bennett, veteran chief of the United States Soil Conservation Service, says the prairies of the Midwest, which comprise the greatest bread basket in the world, started with nine inches of topsoil and now have six, that half the land area of the United States has been damaged by erosion, and only 460,000,000 acres of first class land is left, or approximately three acres per inhabitant.

It's a dark picture he paints, dark enough for anybody. In a few more generations, unless proper policies are applied, he says, the United States will wind up a poor, have-not nation, all its vaunted wealth and standard of living gone with the wind and the water.

Here is a field which, while not subject to the sensationalism that international affairs and domestic politics produce, is basically the most important problem facing America, if the situation is as dark as painted. The nation must stop soil erosion if it is to support an ever-increasing population.

A few poor crop years, coupled with war, could result in troublesome food shortages. Phenomenal yields in the last decade have resulted in huge surpluses, but it cannot be assumed that bumper crops will continue to be produced each year.

Opportunity no longer knocks. The radio quiz show brings it in by way of the ringing telephone.

Five Stars For Bradley

The purpose behind the creation of the rank of five star general, or general of the Army, was to reward with commensurate authority a position of extreme responsibility. Under the act of Congress, creating the rank in 1944, four generals — MacArthur, Arnold, Eisenhower and Marshall—have been given the circular five star insignia. The Senate has just passed a measure giving this rank to Gen. Omar N. Bradley, present chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

There was only a minor kickup in the Senate over the proposal. That was on purely technical grounds. It had nothing to do with Bradley's fitness and reflected nothing on his record. Anyone who has followed the career of this mild-appearing strategist will wonder whether anyone cares to risk the ire of the general's countrymen by opposing the promotion. If Bradley's present arduous duties do not merit it, certainly his past triumphs in Africa and in Europe do.

Diplomacy is the technique of cutting the other fellow down without evidence of pain.

Swiftly-Turning Tide

Experiences at Anzio and in other similar operations in World War II have warned Americans not to expect too much too soon from such maneuvers. But the immense size of the landing armada made it clear that the landing at Inchon was a major offensive operation.

For all practical purposes, the war in Korea is ended. Unless Russia is determined to prolong it, that is. The North Koreans are licked. The South Korean capital of Seoul, is the main gateway through which poured the munitions and supplies for the North Korean troops which ringed the U. S. beachhead at Pusan. The enemy's line of supply now is functioning spasmodically.

The shift from the defensive to the offensive in Korea came sooner than most persons had hoped, and the success of the offensive is amazing.

The impossible is the thing nobody can do until someone does it.

Breastfeeding Has Precedence

BREAST MILK versus cow's milk for infants continues to be a controversial subject. According to one authority, the usual reasons advanced for preferring human milk are trite, tho correct. It is difficult to combat that simple and logical argument that nature intended human milk for humans and cow's milk for the more robust stomach and quicker growth of the calf.

The trite reasons are so impressive that we may well wonder how any child ever survived a nipple stoppered bottle. Dr. Phillip C. Jean states that mother's milk is easier to digest and has a lower bacterial count. Babies so fed are protected to a certain extent from infections and seldom develop allergies and digestive disturbances traceable to their diet.

In addition, breastfeeding comes naturally and does not require an ounce of brains. In this respect the problem of human error in prescribing and preparing a formula never enters the picture. Nursing also satisfies many of the emotional needs of the youngster, thus contributing to his future sense of security and maturity. Another factor is that human milk encourages good growth and physical status.

From all this there can be no argument that nursing is the ideal procedure, despite all the current refinements in artificial feedings. But this does not mean that the formula is of no value and that every tot who received cow's milk will be beseiged with infections or allergies, or that physical and mental growth will be disturbed. As a matter of fact, differences in the two types of feeding are not great. Millions of men and women thruout the world owe their lives to old Bess because many mothers were unable to nurse their offspring and were forced to rely upon a formula. Furthermore, cow's milk is rich in nutriments and contains three times as much protein and even more calcium, magnesium, and other minerals.

Studies have shown that as a result of larger proportions of protein and calcium, babies fed on cow's milk develop approximately 25 per cent more muscle mass than the breastfed. This increase takes place soon after artificial feeding is started. Of course, babies are not prone to chin themselves and do not need the muscular development of Georgeous George.

The fact that cow's milk is richer in calcium is not necessarily an advantage because it is not as easily absorbed as that in human milk. This is true also of many calcium products including tablets and wafers that are sold over the drug store counter. The size of the tablet means nothing because in the final analysis it is the amount absorbed and used by the blood that counts.

The quantity of vitamin C and thiamine chloride depends to a certain extent upon the diet of the mother and consequently the quantity of these substances is likely to be higher in human milk. Moreover, the heat used in preparing the formula lowers the vitamin C content of cow's milk. Vitamin D is lacking in both and must be supplemented regardless of the source of supply.

MENTAL DISORDER

A. T. writes: Is schizophrenia inheritable?

REPLY

This is questionable. Considerable research has been done on the cause of this mental disorder but so far no one has been able to prove that heredity plans a role. On the other hand, it is possible that the type of temperament and the emotional reactions needed to produce schizophrenia are passed from one generation to another.

FIBROUS GROWTH

Fibroids are not influenced by diet. Occasionally those occurring in the uterus shrink slightly after the menopause but otherwise they remain unchanged. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on uterine fibroids.

Possibly, provided you are able to discover and eliminate the cause. The condition might be brought on by certain foods, poor eating habits, overacidity, anxiety, or overwork. Corrections along this line help materially.

WHAT'S THE LATE NEWS FROM KOREA?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Congressional memories sometimes are very short. It was only last year that the Senate refused to confirm Carl Ilgenfritz as chairman of the Munitions Board because he declined to give up his $60,000 salary from the U. S. Steel Corporation.

However, just about the same thing is now happening with two other high officials and nothing is being said about it. They are:

1. E. G. Plowman, another U. S. Steel executive, who gets $66,000 a year from his company while working for Uncle Sam as director of the Defense Department's Military Traffic Service.

2. William H. Harrison, who has just assumed charge of war controls in the Commerce Department while still drawing his salary from International Telephone and Telegraph.

The excuse given for permitting men to draw a salary from private industry while working for the government is that it is hard to get good men to serve the government without doing so. This is true in peacetime. But in wartime, when thousands of G. I.'s not only have to give up their jobs but their lives, it would seem that enough patriotic businesmen would be willing to work for a government stipend of $15,000 to $20,000 a year.

Jimmy Roosevelt

Jimmy Roosevelt helped to place the insurance on two housing projects at an Air Force field at Victorville, Calif.

Air Force officials state, however, that they had nothing to do with placing the insurance, and that the matter was left entirely in the hands of the private promoters.

There are two housing projects at the Victorville Air Base: 400 homes built by the Victor Valley Housing Corp., and 250 homes built by Mesa Estates.

C. O. Moore is the owner of Mesa Estates and also owns 40 per cent of the Victor Valley project. He, being a close friend of Roosevelt's, placed the insurance with the firm of Roosevelt and Sergeant, which in turn acted as the broker in placing the insurance on all 650 homes with various companies.

Johnson's Exit

Secretary of Defense Johnson took the news of his dismissal as if he had been struck by lightning. On the morning he was fired, he was cheerfully planning speeches for the American Bar Association, American Federation of Labor and American Legion.

On the morning after he was fired, he put in a routine appearance at his staff conference. General McNarney opened the meeting by saying how shocked they all were at the new development.

But Johnson held up his hand and mumbled: "No, no. Not now." Tears welled up in his eyes, and McNarney sat down.

Assistant Secretary of Defense McNeil also tried to say something appropriate. But again Johnson held up his hand. So everyone present stood up, announced there was nothing to report, and solemnly filed out of the room.

Under the Dome

After Secretary Chapman finished wiping up the Senate floor with Senator Schoeppel of Kansas, the Interior Secretary attended a Cabinet meeting. As he entered the room, President Truman said: "Here comes Joe Louis. Sit down, champ." . . . Republican leaders had planned to pick out every member of the Truman Cabinet one by one and attack them in the Senate. But Senator Schoeppel's smear of Secretary of the Interior Chapman has backfired so badly that the campaign will be abandoned . . . Though President Truman told the press it is "customary" for the Army, Navy and Air Force to hand in their resignations when the Secretary of Defense leaves, these three have agreed to stick together and not resign—unless requested . . . Donald Dawson, an aide to President Truman, is being considered as head of the New York Stock Exchange . . . About two months ago, Truman called ex-Undersecretary of State Bob Lovett to the White House and asked him to become Acheson's deputy to the Atlantic Union Conferences. Lovett literally wept. His doctor had forbade him to take a job for another year.

Seating Red China

British Foreign Minister Bevin has been nursing a plan to get Communist China admitted to the United Nations through action by the General Assembly.

Bevin has worked out his strategy with India's Premier Pandit Nehru. Both are convinced that, although Russia has been agitating for the Chinese communists to be admitted to the U. N., actually, Russia is dead against red China joining the world organization. According to British intelligence, Russia hopes that by keeping China out, she can remain as China's spokesman and appear to the Chinese people to be their one real friend.

Bevin and Nehru are also convinced that Mao Tse-Tung and the Kremlin are not getting along well. They hope Mao will become a Chinese "Tito."

Therefore, Bevin and Nehru plan to bring the question of seating the Chinese to a vote before the General Assembly where the veto cannot be used. However, it will probably require a two-thirds vote to seat the red Chinese and exclude the Nationalists. The British think they can muster the required votes to break the deadlock.

Merry-Go-Round

General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, took off to rest and work on his memoirs the other day. Immediately fireworks broke loose. First Secretary of Defense Johnson was fired, then the Marines landed at Inchon. Bradley scurried back to the Pentagon . . . Three military men have served as Secretary of War. Maj. Gen. Henry Knox, an officer in the Revolutionary War, was the first Secretary of War, while two Civil War generals—Grant and Sherman—also served as Secretary . . . The 953 lobbyists, paid $7,000,000 a year to bring pressure on Congress, are heading for home . . . More than a million tons of steel plate and pipe have gone underground in the last six weeks—part of it bootlegged into the Texas oil fields, where it sells $50 a ton above the market price . . . Industrialist Willard Rockwell almost let the cat out of the bag when he introduced Senator Byrd of Virginia as Presidential timber last week in Pittsburgh. Representatives of the National Tax Association and National Associaion of Manufacturers have been urging Byrd privately to run for President, but Rockwell was not supposed to say anything about it . . . Congressman Case of South Dakota has been paying for rainmaking experiments out of his own pocket. Due to the heavy expense, he now wants to shift the cost to Congress.

How They Took Kimpo I

WITH THE MARINES ON THE SEOUL FRONT

IT is all but impossible to convey the mingled flavors of an actual combat operation — the tension when things go ill, the exhilaration when they go well, the humor and the boredom, the exhaustion and the excitement. But having marched with the marines from the Inchon landing area to Kimpo airport, this reporter will at least struggle to tell what it was like.

"The problem," as the regimental S-3 (operations officer) explained it, "was to mach about eleven miles through enemy territory and seize Kimpo, the main airfield of Seoul, before dusk could fall." The marine battalion that did the job did not quite solve the problem according to the rules laid down by the S-3, but they solved it all the same.

For our battalion (one develops these possessive feelings rather rapidly in the field), the day began at dawn, with an attack by six enemy tanks and supporting infantry on the battalion's positions on the hills just above Inchon port. The tanks were ambushed in a pass. The Russian T-34s rumbled up the road in file. The 90 mm. cannon of the Pershings spoke angrily and efficiently. The marines in the forward foxholes picked off the North Korean infantry as they leaped from the suddenly flaming, crazily careening T-34s. The first part of the road was decorated with smoking tank hulks and twisted corpses when the long file of infantry began to form in the pass for the forward march.

In the early morning sunlight, the rolling country towards Seoul shone green and golden, but the air was still sharply chilly.

The men of Easy Company, who were to form the point of the attacking column all the way to Kimpo, stamped their feet to warm themselves. In the squad with which this reporter fell in, they were proudly reminiscing about the battle of No Name Ridge, the marines' worst in Korea, where the little handful of men had been the first up the hill. "He got to the top," remarked Pfc. Marion De Shong, pointing to Cpl. Paul Navarro, who looked too young to be in the service at all. "There were forty-two of us went up and only one came down in one piece."

The March Begins

At this Easy Company's commander, Capt. Samuel Jaskilka, an officer who had made a great name in this fighting, passed the word for the march to begin. The column stepped smartly along the road. There was a sharp rattle of firing in the hills to the right, where a partner battalion was working forward as flank support for the main attack. But the men were more interested in the burning tanks. "If they was C-rations inside, they'd make good hot chow," some one said, raising a laugh.

The first trouble started at the little railroad town of Bupyong, which was to be cleared by the wiry little American-uniformed South Korean marines. The tiled roofs of the town lay below the road, which was under sharp fire. Easy Company worked its way along the dusty road-side ditch until they reached the turn for Kimpo, where they scuttled across the road in groups to help the South Koreans. A hidden group of enemy with automatic weapons were firing bursts onto the road up a gully filled with vegetable patches. The company mortars laid a couple of hells into the area, and as the North Koreans scattered, the marines got them with rifles. The first obstruction was out of the way, and Capt. Jaskilka led the column down the Kimpo road, meanwhile sending a fire party through the houses along the flank, where brisk fighting was still in progress. An enemy mortar shell landed in a buckwheat patch by the roadside, setting it on fire, and the road suddenly echoed again with the nasty singing zip-zip of bullets passing. Once more the marines went into the ditch, while Jaskilka cooly swept the town and nearby bluffs with field glasses, to try to locate the source of the new trouble. Such was the pattern of the passage through Bupyong. The South Koreans and the marine fire parties ferreted through the houses, occasionally capturing a prisoner who would be sent out onto the road stark naked and shivering. The main body moved when it could, and when pinned down, quickly took the guessed-at enemy positions under fire. The enemy firing was perferctly unpredictable—one of the worst bursts came when everything seemed to be over, and Capt. Jaskilka was conferring about the next stage of the road with the business-like batallion commander, Lt. Col. Harold Roise. By methods incomprehensible to the untrained observer, Roise and Jaskilka methodically eliminated all the many pockets of an enemy who was never visible except at the closest quarters. It was a tense, slow business, but it worked. Jaskilka only betrayed strain once, when someone repeated an unfounded rumor of heavy casualties in Easy Company's rear platoon.

"Dammit," he said, when the rumor proved unfounded, "don't tell me things that just aren't true."

Real Turning Point

War Or Peace Will Not Be A One-Nation Affair

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 — A way around the veto in the U. N.—a way to mobilize the military as well as the moral force of the free nations of the world—has been devised.

The first intimations of it came in a declaration by John D. Hickerson, assistant secretary of state, but the full meaning of it will not be apparent until the General Assembly has, during its current meeting, developed the plan to fruition.

What the Security Council cannot do because of the Soviet veto can be accomplished through the General Assembly, where there is no veto. But it will take the form of a "resolution" by the assembled governments instead of a "recommendation," such as the Security Council may vote.

In a sense the procedure will be novel but actually it will be merely an expression of the power of any group of nations to take collective action for their own defense. The charter of the United Nations did provide, under Article 51, for such collective steps on the military side as any group of nations might wish to take. No nation is committed to act that doesn't desire to do so, but the moral force of any resolution of the assembly can be as great as the cause that the nations seek to champion.

Important Words

The exact words of Mr. Hickerson are important to examine, because they undoubtedly reflect the program planned by the free nations in advance of the present meeting of the assembly. He said:

"The Soviets might choose of their own accord to leave the United Nations. We could not control such a decision. But in our planning we should assume that they will remain in the United Nations.

"Does this mean that we must give up any hope that the United Nations will take effective, collective measures against aggression as long as the Soviets choose to remain in the United Nations and exercise their veto? Certainly not.

"There is no veto in the General Assembly, and the General Assembly has broad powers and responsibilities under the charter . . . The General Assembly will want to examine its own experience and authority in the light of the lessons of Korea in order to devise effective measures to suppress aggression when the Security Council is paralyzed."

Mr. Hickerson pointed out that the historic action of the Security Council at its June meeting, which Russia did not attend, was only a "recommendation," and adds:

"If such a Security Council resolution were to be vetoed in a future case of aggression, might not the same results be achieved within the framework of the charter upon a resolution of the General Assembly?

"Certainly there is no question that the General Assembly will have the authority to make such a recommendation. The real question is the practical one. Would it be able to operate rapidly and effectively enough?"

Interim Commission

This brings up the possibility of forming what has been called "the little assembly," which would be an interim commission with full power to set in motion the international machinery in cases of emergency.

These steps look toward the mobilization of world opinion which is so essential a preliminary step to the mobilization of military forces. The continued presence of Soviet envoys in the United Nations attests to the importance which the politburo evidently attaches to the doings of the big international organization of which Russia was a charter member.

The American policy, moreover, will seek to remind the Russians constantly of their obligations under the charter — a significant step related to the psychological aspects of the conflict between the East and West. The Department of State further says that while Messrs. Malik and Vishinsky "may not be very approachable," they are more so in New York than behind the Iron Curtain and there is always the hope they may some time give heed to "the overwhelming weight of world opinion."

What this really means is that if war comes, it will be a United Nations war and, if peace is made, it will be through the United Nations. It certainly will not be a one-nation affair, no matter what Russia's course may be.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Day Of Atonement

ON this day, Jews throughout the world meet in prayer on the holiest day of their religious calendar, Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

It is a day set aside for self-examination. There has been a year of human activity, in which the nature of man has had free play, and on this day, the penitent know that they have sinned and say so in common confession. There can only be transgression, if there is law. Therefore, the very act of common confession, in a house of worship, among one's family and neighbors, is an acknowledgment of the authority of God's law.

This year, many will ask themselves what the meaning can be of such a day in the continuing horrors which face not only mankind but each family. They thought that they were through with war. They believed that they would no longer live in the dread fear of losing their sons to Goliath. They hoped that somehow, perhaps by means of the United Nations, peoples would learn to live at peace.

Last year, during the Day of Atonement, there seemed to be jubilation in many hearts. The savagery of war was almost forgotten. This year, there will be the usual roll-call of the dead —of those dead whose young lives were spilled on the hillsides of Korea.

And some will ask: How have I sinned that this has had to happen to me?

And others will wonder about retribution and what it can really mean. Can there be a world of love when we seem to plant only the seeds of hate? Can there be a brotherhood of man when we plow with swords and reap with tanks and airplanes?

What makes such things come to pass? Few will confess that it is their own unwillingness to face the truth that there is in this world good and evil; that good is that which abides by the natural law of God; that evil is that which, denying God, leaves life without morality, without justice or right. And that between these two there never can be any compromise.

This we do not like to admit, because it makes life hard and rigid. We prefer an easier way, a live-and-let-live way, appeasing what is obviously wrong, improvising to meet pressures, sacrificing established principles to avoid conflict and dissension. And yet, such a course can only bring in its wake, greater discord, greater dissension, even war.

Should a news column comment upon such subjects as this? Is it not as much news that many millions on this day unite in public confession of transgression as it is that such a creature as Jacob Malik parrots the lies he is instructed to speak—without will, without conscience, without humanity? What is greater news than that all our miseries have not destroyed our faith that justice will triumph and the truth will prevail, if we only follow God's guidance?

Always on this day, I ponder these problems of life. It is good to pause, to rest from all the excitement which surrounds us. It is good to examine not only one's own conduct, but one's communal conduct.

This is such a glorious country in which to live, despite its politicians and tricksters and all the greedy men who scheme and plan. And what do they gain?

Since 1943, men in this country have been covering their errors. Those errors have already cost millions of lives consigned to slavery and thousands of lives killed in this current war.

But what about those who erred? What about the men of Teheran and Yalta? They have to live with the course of events which they helped to engineer. We may wonder at their motives; but they know what impelled them and their colleagues to reduce Poland and China to bondage; to keep Germany in turmoil; to destroy the liberties of Czechoslovakia and Hungary; to imperil our own land by not preventing the war in Asia.

Would that we had a tradition in this country similar to that of the Day of Atonement, so that our politicians, instead of speaking against each other, would rise and confess to their transgressions. Impractical? Has anything in history been more impractical than Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam where errors were made which may take centuries of effort and millions of lives to overcome? The practical men so often do such impractical things.

Judge Upholds Employment Board In Benefits Cases

Associate Judge George Henderson upheld the Employment Security Board in an opinion handed down concerning Celanese Corporation in four or five uemployment benefits cases.

Judge Henderson said:

"In each of the five cases, the Employment Security Board decided that the experience rating of the employer should be charged with benefits paid the respective employes. The employer appealed, claiming that because of what had happened since the original furlough of the employes it was no longer chargeable with unemployment benefits paid to its former employes.

"Employers pay into the state fund 'contributions,' the standard rate being 2.7 per cent of the payroll. But this is reduced if the employer keeps his employment stabilized. If his "experience rating record is low, his contribution rate to the state fund is correspondingly low. It is based on the proportion which benefits paid his unemployed workers bears to his total payroll.

Must Have Good Rating

"To put it another way: If an employer is able to keep his employes at fairly steady work, as a result of which they draw little or nothing from the state fund when unemployed, then the employer is called upon for a smaller future contribution to the fund. But unless his experience rating record is good, he pays the so called standard rate of contribution, which is 2.7 per cent of his payroll."

Judge Henderson stated that withdrawal from the pension fund at Amcelle constitutes a definite termination and loss of all rights of seniority.

All of the five men withdrew their total contribution to the pension fund and only one of the five who are parties in the five cases, was later recalled.

The issue of the cases, he said, what that whether a certain part of unemployment benefits paid to these men may be charged against the corporation's experience rating record.

The Employment Security Board decision stated that in all five cases the employer-employe relationship ceased for the purpose of the Unemployment Compensation Law at the time of the furloughs, that at the time of the resignations, none of them had any job with the company from which they could resign.

Due To Furlough

Therefore, the judge declared: "It would seem that the reasoning of the board is substantially correct, and is properly applicable to four of the five cases."

"In the four cases there was unemployment due to a furlough at the Celanese plant. There was no intimation as to when if ever there would be a recall. And under the law it became the duties of the employes then out of work to seek employment elsewhere.

"They were certainly entitled under the law to draw benefits until they had exhausted their several benefit counts, or until they had obtained permanent employment. And these benefits were properly chargeable against the employer, because of the latter's failure 'to provide more stable employment.'"

In the other case the man was recalled to work after the furlough, but did not return because he had another job, which he decided to keep.

"Under such circumstances he has 'left the service of the employer voluntarily without good cause attributable to his employer'; and therefore the employer's account cannot be charged under the compensation law.

Judge Upholds Employment Board In Benefits Cases

Associate Judge George Henderson upheld the Employment Security Board in an opinion handed down concerning Celanese Corporation in four or five uemployment benefits cases.

Judge Henderson said:

"In each of the five cases, the Employment Security Board decided that the experience rating of the employer should be charged with benefits paid the respective employes. The employer appealed, claiming that because of what had happened since the original furlough of the employes it was no longer chargeable with unemployment benefits paid to its former employes.

"Employers pay into the state fund 'contributions,' the standard rate being 2.7 per cent of the payroll. But this is reduced if the employer keeps his employment stabilized. If his "experience rating record is low, his contribution rate to the state fund is correspondingly low. It is based on the proportion which benefits paid his unemployed workers bears to his total payroll.

Must Have Good Rating

"To put it another way: If an employer is able to keep his employes at fairly steady work, as a result of which they draw little or nothing from the state fund when unemployed, then the employer is called upon for a smaller future contribution to the fund. But unless his experience rating record is good, he pays the so called standard rate of contribution, which is 2.7 per cent of his payroll."

Judge Henderson stated that withdrawal from the pension fund at Amcelle constitutes a definite termination and loss of all rights of seniority.

All of the five men withdrew their total contribution to the pension fund and only one of the five who are parties in the five cases, was later recalled.

The issue of the cases, he said, what that whether a certain part of unemployment benefits paid to these men may be charged against the corporation's experience rating record,

The Employment Security Board decision stated that in all five cases the employer-employe relationship ceased for the purpose of the Unemployment Compensation Law at the time of the furloughs, that at the time of the resignations, none of them had any job with the company from which they could resign.

Due To Furlough

Therefore, the judge declared: "It would seem that the reasoning of the board is substantially correct, and is properly applicable to four of the five cases."

"In the four cases there was unemployment due to a furlough at the Celanese plant. There was no intimation as to when if ever there would be a recall. And under the law it became the duties of the employes then out of work to seek employment elsewhere.

"They were certainly entitled under the law to draw benefits until they had exhausted their several benefit counts, or until they had obtained permanent employment. And these benefits were properly chargeable against the employer, because of the latter's failure 'to provide more stable employment.'"

In the other case the man was recalled to work after the furlough, but did not return because he had another job, which he decided to keep.

"Under such circumstances he has 'left the service of the employer voluntarily without good cause attributable to his employer'; and therefore the employer's account cannot be charged under the compensation law.

Guests were William Knieriem, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Tabler, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wetzel, Thomas Wetzel, Mr. and Mrs. William McCullough, Ann McCullough, Mrs. Roy McCullough, Mrs. Lillian Duer, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Millin, Mr. and Mrs. David Bootman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zimmerman, Mrs. Opal Showers, Mrs. Emma Ridgeley, Mrs. Mary McCullough, Mrs. Joseph Bowers, Harold Bowers, Miss Janet Knieriem, Raymond Jack, Jr., William Lindsay and Mrs. Mabel Edenhart.

Elks To Entertain With Surprise Social Each Month

Weekend Dances Will Continue

A full schedule of weekend events from now until the first of the year was planned at the meeting of the Social Sessions of Cumberland Lodge No. 63 BPO Elks.

The regular Saturday night dances are continuing and Rudy Sullivan and his Trio will play again this weekend, with music beginning at 9:30.

One big feature a month has been planned for the remainder of the year. For September it will be a floor show on the 30th. A two-day surprise affair has been planned for the latter part of October; in November will be the Thanksgiving Eve party; and the Christmas holiday activities and New Year's Eve dance in December.

The Starlighters will play for the dancing September 30 and October 7. Beginning October 14 Rudy Sullivan will return for an extended engagement.

WGA Has Election

Mrs. Charles Helmrich was elected chairman of the Women's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club at the luncheon meeting Tuesday at the club. Mrs. Somerville Nicholson was named vice chairman.

Board members are Mrs. A. J. Mirkin, Mrs. Fuller Whitworth, Mrs. Elizabeth Dixon, Mrs. L. E. Spencer and Mrs. H. W. Eliason.

Mrs. Dorsey Ensor was awarded the Elsa Lichtenstein Handicap trophy, with Mrs. Lichtenstein making the presentation.

Activities will be concluded with a dinner October 17.

Mizpah Class Elects

The Mizpah Bible Class of First Baptist Church re-elected Mrs. H. T. Humphreys president at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Ruth Shaner, Jefferson Street. Other officers are Mrs. Victor Athey, teacher; Mrs. Frank Hinze, Mrs. O. J. Mortzfeldt, Mrs. Harvey Wilson, vice presidents; Miss Elizabeth McCullough, treasurer; Mrs. Russell Wentling, secretary; Mrs. Shaner, assistant and Publicity chairman; and Mrs. Robert Bobo and Mrs. Marie Williams, Personal Service chairmen.

Mrs. William Sheally and Mrs. Mary Clark were appointed to take charge of the church nursery October 8. Taking part in the devotionals were Mrs. Sheally, Mrs. James Ruppert, Mrs. Hinze and Mrs. Barbara Rexroad.

Mrs. Pyles Heads Guild

Mrs. H. T. Pyles was elected president; Mrs. Theodore Carlson, vice president; Mrs. Omer Crabtree, secretary; Mrs. Charles Twigg, treasurer, and Mrs. George Stein, pianist.

Delegates to the Woman's Guild Synodical meeting to be held October 3, 4 in Wilkensburg, Pa., are Mrs. Edward Mathews and Mrs. Carlson. Mrs. S. S. Dowlan, Mrs. Charles Twigg, Mrs. Robert Wheeler and Mrs. George Keady also will attend.

A program on the topic, "The Thread of Sacrifice," was conducted by Mrs. Pyles. Mrs. Mathews presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Keady announced the Thank Offering is to be taken in November. A report on the Guild conference held at Hood College, Frederick, was given by Mrs. Carl Clapp and Mrs. Harold Everline. Mrs. Dowlan reported on garments sent to children overseas.

It was decided to have the next meeting September 27 as the officers will be attending the synodical meeting on the regular date. A social hour followed and refreshments were served with Mrs. Mabel Miller as hostess. Fifty members attended.

Dorothy Lucas Heads First Baptist Mission Circle

Mrs. Dorothy Lucas was elected president of the Young Women's Missionary Circle of First Baptist Church recently at the home of Mrs. Audrey Leasure, Evergreen Terrace.

Other officers are Mrs. Frances Tritt, vice president; Mrs. Kathleen Markwood, treasurer; Mrs. Clara Louise Carroll, personal service; Mrs. Donald Shircliff, Mrs. Irene Miller, group captains; Mrs. Lorraine Miller, mission fund treasurer; and Mrs. Leasure, reporter.

Giving a donation to a church member studying to be a missionary was chosen as the personal service for the month. A program on "Reading and Understanding" was presented.

Department Of Md. PH Auxiliary To Visit Here

Mrs. Edith Reichert, department and unit president of the Purple Heart Auxiliary, with a group of her officers from Baltimore will visit the local Auxiliary Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Purple Heart Center.

Concluding the department meeting a social hour will be held jointly with the post, at which time a special entertainment is to be presented.

Patrol Dance To Be Sat.

A Hobo Dance, sponsored by the Ali Ghan Shrine Patrol, will be held tomorrow night at Ali Ghan Country Club. There is to be both round and square dancing besides an old fashioned cake walk.

Music by the Aristocrats will be from 9 until 1 o'clock. Members of the Patrol are to preseht a floor show during intermission.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Patrol, the committee or at the door. Members of the committee are Howard A. Grimm, Jr., chairman, G. Edward Shinholt, J. Louis Shafferman, Earl W. Price, Kenneth Harrison and Roger W. Row.

To Attend Barnard

Miss Ruth K. Hersch, daughter of Mrs. Faye K. Hersch, 102 Decatur Street, has been accepted as a member of the freshman class at Barnard College, women's undergraduate division of Columbia University, New York City.

United Democratic Women To Entertain Mrs. Tydings

Reception To Be Held Sept. 26

Plans were formulated for a reception honoring Mrs. Millard E Tydings at the opening meeting of the fall and winter season of the United Democratic Women's Club, held Tuesday night at the Algonquin Hotel. Mrs. Ada Conley Long presided.

The reception is to be held September 26 at the Algonquin Hotel from 8 until 9 o'clock. The general public is invited to attend. Members of the Democratic State Central Committee and candidates for office also will be among the guests.

Mrs. Long is chairman of the committee of arrangements. She is being assisted by Miss Nell Fannon, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Romano Ways, Mrs. Mae Mont and Mrs. Jane Bruce.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the state meeting to be held in Baltimore today. Miss Mary J. Schellhaus, chairman of Western Maryland District, will attend.

An informal dance will be held by the Women's League of Beth Jacob congregation tonight in the vestry rooms. Music will be by an orchestra beginning at 8:30 and there will be special entertainment. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Duplicate Sessions Continue

There is to be a session of this special event each Thursday evening until October 19. Anyone can still qualify for the special awards. To win this event players must be present and play in four out of six weeks. The top score will be counted for the four weeks.

September 28 will be the local club's first Master Point night and all first place winners will receive full master points.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McGreevy of the Cumberland club came in third in the Sunday evening finals of the Southwestern Pennsylvania tournament held at the Summit Hotel, near Uniontown, last weekend, with over 1,500 players participating. They will receive special master awards. Albert Heacox and Russ Minter, also of the local club, finished fifth in the tourney.

WOMEN WILL SHINE THIS AUTUMN AS POLISHED ACCESSORIES HELP TO SMARTEN UP THAT WARDROBE

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

That shiny look is seen in the gloves, hats, handbags and shoes that complement the fabulous new fabrics of the season.

With the rough tweeds and fleeces that are so important in the winter style picture, polished capeskin or glace kid gloves, handbag and shoes add a groomed look. And the hat may well be one of the new lacquered hatter's plush cloches that have the sheen of a man's top hat.

You'll be seeing well-shined shoes, lustrous bags and gleaming French kid gloves worn with the most distinguished ensembles this fall, ranging all the way from sports outfits to evening gowns.

For afternoon and late day wear there are French kid gloves in delicate pastel shades, fitted as snugly as the skin, to give a dainty feminine look to hands. The kid shortie glove is in favor for afternoon wear, while a dramatic cocktail glove is elbow length and embroidered with narrow leather throngs.

With tweeds, polished capeskin shorties and for wear with the new shortie-sleeved coats there are elbow-length, hand-sewn gloves in colors to match or contrast with the newest coat and suit tones.

Candy colors are occupying the style spotlight in the glove field. There are butterscotch, nougat, taffy and caramel, all in the exact tones of their namesakes, designed to wear with outfits in a slightly deeper tone of the same color.

You won't need a crystal ball to choose the best of the new fashions, if you follow my advice!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

THE trendworthy clothes in this season's fashions are all slim and sleek. You can wear them, even if your figure does not match them. All you have to know is which ones were designed with your figure in mind.

Want a slim, sheath-like dress? If you are tall and thin or short and thin, look for one with a shirred, detachable apron, horizontal braid trim, sewed-on or buttoned-on asymmetrical drapes. These are the details that make this style wearable for you. The tall-heavy and short-heavy will find their interpretation in a surplice closing of the blouse and/or braid and piping placed diagonally or vertically on wrapped skirts.

Becoming Hiplines

Yearning for a suit or suit dress? Be wary of the stiffened, rounded hip if you are a hip reducer—and the jacket that starts to button below the waistline for the same reason. Watch the deep openings—select a V if you want to look slimmer or a U if you can afford to look the way you are. Watch the spacing of double-breasted buttons; keep them close together for a slim line.

Hankering for the jacket dress? The short toreador or mess jacket gives length to the leg-line but leaves hip girth exposed. The fingertip jacket cuts height. The bloused and belted jacket extending slightly below the widest part of the hips is a figure camouflager. Pick the one that does what you want it to do.

Points to Watch

Shoulders and Sleeves: The growing tendency toward set-in sleeves with shoulders squared off by a bit of padding is good news for the heavy figure. It's good news for everybody that the becoming three-quarter, moderately wide sleeve continues. Quite another story is the skin-tight sleeve; you need embraceable arms for this one! And you need a confined torso for the spread of the bat wing sleeve.

Lower waistline: This is a straw in the wind, rarely more than suggested by hip yokes or dipping contour belts. A nice balance for the tall figure.

Remember, fashion is pretty when it is pretty on you!

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

Her movie career and her career as an authoress have only been topped by her career as the mother of a bunch of professional football players . . . And mothering her husband, Mr. George Marshall, the owner of the Washington Redskins, is no job for a weakling.

When Noel Coward's "Design for Living" opened in Washington at the National Theatre some years ago, the lovely star met George Marshall, a tall, talkative, self-made millionaire, gentle as a ten-ton truck . . . That was the end of her career as an actress. Since then, she has retired to a not-very-private life as hostess to sports personalities, politicians, and celebrities from Coast to Coast. She lives half the year in Washington and is at present in her [illegible] mansion. AUSTINE.

Let's Live Dangerously

By CORINNE GRIFFITH

WHAT a day! I rose early, put on my swim suit and was down at the pool by nine o'clock.

CORINNE GRIFFITH

Nine o'clock! There was a busy day ahead I'd take just one look at the avocado trees heavy with purple fruit and a new flowerbed of Antheriums, (pronounced An-thirr-e-ums) brought here in bulbs from Hawaii. The Antheriums are large waxy flowers shaped like Calla lillies; either a deep shining red or coral The flowers were wilting a bit, and I wondered if they were planted in too hot a place. I'd ask Henry, the gardener. First I'd take my swim. Someone called from the house—I was wanted on the telephone. "Tell Henry I want to see him" I called as I ran up the steps.

There was a bit of excitement in our household. My youngster, Cynthia, was being married. Besides, George (I'm married to George Marshall—the Marshall without a plan) and his Washington Redskins football team were in town. The Redskins had just beaten the Los Angeles Rams before a record-breaking crowd of over 96,000. They also licked the San Francisco 49-ers and the Chicago Cardinals before they could catch their breaths.

Of course this doesn't mean any added excitement because anyone who knows George knows what a calm, quieting influence he is around a house, especially after three straight football victories.

Also, I'm writing a book. My first book was about George. This one is about my father . . . "Papa's Delicate Condition" is the title, but of course writing a book around my house is unimportant when you consider Cynthia's wedding and George's football team.

The telephone call was from my architect. I am building the biggest and most important building I've ever built, but of course that's unimportant too!

The maid of honor's dress for Cynthia's wedding was a little off the shade of blue we selected. "It's about a half tone off," said the wedding director. "Well," I replied with strength of character, "let's live dangerously, let's use it a half tone off."

• — • — •

Now, for the swim, it's getting late . . . the telephone again.

Mr. Herbert Nelson, Executive Vice-President of the National Real Estate Boards, was calling from Washington. Mr. Nelson wanted to know if I would speak to the members of the National Realtors convention in Miami on November 15. This is the first time a woman has ever been asked to address them. What an honor! Would I? "Yes!" I replied.

Again the telephone - - - -

Austine asked me to write a guest column . . . Would I? "Yes!" I replied.

"Anything, and toss in a few names that will be interesting to Washington."

Names . . . what names could I use that would be interesting to Washington? . . . there's Jesse Jones . . . young Senator Smathers . . . but these names all seem so colorless, when you consider that I have known such football greats as Head Walker, Buckets Goldenberg. . .

• — • — •

Things were beginning to get jumbled up. There was the music to select for the wedding; the down-payment to make on the house for Cynthia's wedding present; the plans for the fourth building to O.K.; a new episode for "Papa's Delicate Condition"; I must tell Henry to pick the avocados today; that reminded me of the Antheriums, poor things wilting like that. Would could be wrong with them?

A knock on the door. "I told you no more telephone calls."

"But it's Henry the gardener."

"That's wonderful, will you do it today?"

"Today? But what will I write about?"

"What does Henry want?"

"It's about those Hawaiian flowers."

"What about those Hawaiian flowers?"

Root rot in my Antheriums!!! This is the last straw! I'm going swimming if I drown first!!!

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

They also licked the San Francisco 49-ers and the Chicago Cardinals before they could catch their breaths.

Of course this doesn't mean any added excitement because anyone who knows George knows what a calm, quieting influence he is around a house, especially after three straight football victories.

Also, I'm writing a book. My first book was about George. This one is about my father . . . "Papa's Delicate Condition" is the title, but of course writing a book around my house is unimportant when you consider Cynthia's wedding and George's football team.

The telephone call was from my architect. I am building the biggest and most important building I've ever built, but of course that's unimportant too!

The maid of honor's dress for Cynthia's wedding was a little off the shade of blue we selected. "It's about a half tone off," said the wedding director. "Well," I replied with strength of character, "let's live dangerously, let's use it a half tone off."

• — • — •

Now, for the swim, it's getting late . . . the telephone again.

Mr. Herbert Nelson, Executive Vice-President of the National Real Estate Boards, was calling from Washington. Mr. Nelson wanted to know if I would speak to the members of the National Realtors convention in Miami on November 15. This is the first time a woman has ever been asked to address them. What an honor! Would I? "Yes!" I replied.

Again the telephone - - - -

Austine asked me to write a guest column . . . Would I? "Yes!" I replied.

CORINNE GRIFFITH

"That's wonderful, will you do it today?"

"Today? But what will I write about?"

"Anything, and toss in a few names that will be interesting to Washington."

Names . . . what names could I use that would be interesting to Washington? . . . there's Jesse Jones . . . young Senator Smathers . . . but these names all seem so colorless, when you consider that I have known such football greats as Head Walker, Buckets Goldenberg. . .

• — • — •

Things were beginning to get jumbled up. There was the music to select for the wedding; the down-payment to make on the house for Cynthia's wedding present; the plans for the fourth building to O.K.; a new episode for "Papa's Delicate Condition"; I must tell Henry to pick the avocados today; that reminded me of the Antheriums, poor things wilting like that. Would could be wrong with them?

A knock on the door. "I told you no more telephone calls."

"But it's Henry the gardener."

"What does Henry want?"

"It's about those Hawaiian flowers."

"What about those Hawaiian flowers?"

Root rot in my Antheriums!!! This is the last straw! I'm going swimming if I drown first!!!

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Easter, Gordon Belt Homers As Cleveland Drops Boston To 3rd

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20 (INS) — The Cleveland Indians threw their one-two pitching punch — Bob Lemon and Early Wynn—at Boston today and whipped them 6 to 3 and 7 to 1 and sent the Red Sox falling into third place.

The Tribe's doubleheader victory dropped Boston two games behind the American League-leading New York Yankees.

Lemon's seven-hit pitching in the opener was supported by the sharp hitting of Luke Easter and Larry Doby. Easter whacked his 27th home run with a man on base in the first inning and Doby drove in two runs with a pair of singles to help Lemon to his 21st victory and fifth without a loss over Boston.

Wynn pitched five-hit ball in the second game to record his 17th win. Walt Dropo's 34th home run in the seventh inning spoiled a shutout for Wynn.

It was a two-run homer that started the Indians to victory in both games. Joe Gordon replaced Easter in the hero's role in the second contest by socking a four-ply blow with one man aboard. Box:

A halfback, Walter was impressive in training camp workouts at Jackson's Mill during the past two weeks. He's a former Charles Town High School star.

Giants Lose Two To Cincinnati

Blackwell Wins 4-1; Hearn Loses 2 To 0

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (INS)—Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell and Ken Raffensberger stalled the Giants' bid for higher standing in the National League today when they pitched the Reds to a double win over the New Yorkers.

Blackwell four-hitted the Giants in the opener, for a 4-to-1 decision over Dave Koslo. Then Raffensberger, aided by two errors and Ted Kluszewski's 25th homer, blanked the New Yorkers, 2 to 0 in the afterpiece.

Jim Hearn, who allowed only three hits in the second game, was tagged with his fourth loss in seventeen decisions. Box:

To - date eight teams comprise the league, namely, Evan's Cleaners, Cecil Engle's Meats, Century Club, V. F. W., G. C. Murphy's Classic Beauty Shop, Seitzer's Restaurant and Sodality.

Members of teams, who bowled in the Century Club League of last year are urged to attend.

East Side Maids Cop Title, 5-0

Adams Blanks Moose In Queen's Playoff

The East Side Maids, behind the two-hit pitching of Doris Adams, copped the final playoff game from the Moose lassies yesterday at Stitcher field by the score of 5 to 0 to win the title of the Queen's Softball League for the second straight season.

The defending champs won three straight victories after playing a 7-7 tie with the Moose girls in the opening contest of their best-of-five series.

Clara Hudson and Helen Winebrenner each collected two hits for East Side, including one double apiece. These were the only hits allowed by opposing hurler Dot Heavner.

East Side clinched the game with two runs in the first frame when after two were out Hudson singled and Winebrenner doubled for the first run. An outfield error on Jeanne Hale's fly ball produced the second tally.

East Side won by scores of 11-5, 10-6 and 5-0 to cop the title. The 11-5 contest was halted by rain at the end of five innings with the score 11-4 East Side and the final two innings of the game were completed yesterday at Stitcher field after the completion of the regular game.

MOOSE	000 000 0—0 2 3

Adams and Hudson. Heavner and Pischel.

Cards Edge Boston 1-0

Bickford Loses Duel With Boyer

BOSTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Sore armed Cloyd Boyer limited the Boston Braves to four scattered singles tonight while pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 1-0 shutout victory. The setback dropped the Braves into a second place tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers, seven and a half games behind the front running Philadelphia Phillies.

The Cardinals registered their big tally in the eighth. Marty Marion opened with a single, was sacrificed by Del Rice and romped in from second base after Peanuts Lowery singled sharply to deep center.

Boyer, whose flinging arm has been so troublesome that Manager Eddie Dyer hesitated about starting him until almost the last minute, was in trouble only once. With two out in the fourth he filled the bases by passing Sam Jethroe, Earl Torgeson and Bob Addis. Then he rendered those Tribesmen harmless by striking out Del Crandall. Score:

ST. LOUIS	000 000 010—1 7 0

Green's Wallop Peck's By 11-1

FROSTBURG, Sept. 21—Green's first place Chevies softball team copped its second straight victory in the playoff series with Peck's here today by downing the home team 11-1 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five series.

Yesterday Dick Blank hurled a no-hitter to give Green's a 6-0 victory and today W. Blank limited the losers to eight bingles for Green's second straight triumph.

Green's can take the bunting in the Frostburg City Softball League series by making it three in a row tomorrow at State Teachers field when the two teams meet again at 5:45 p. m. The score:

GREEN'S	001 136 0—11 9 4
PECK'S	010 000 0—1 8 6

AL Playoff Plans Decided In Case Of Possible Tie

Detroit Draws Bye; Flip Of Coin Used

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (INS)—A flip of the coin in Chicago today determined the site or sites in the event a playoff is necessary to settle a two or three-way tie in the American League baseball race.

Representatives of the major wire services did the coin tossing in American League President Will Harridge's office and the following was decided:

1. If Boston ties with New York, a one-game playoff will be held in Boston, Oct. 2.

2. If Boston ties with Detroit, a one-game playoff will be held in Detroit, Oct. 2.

3. If New York ties with Detroit, a one-game playoff will be held in New York, Oct. 2.

Boston will play New York at Yankee Stadium on Oct. 2 in the event of a three-club tie and Detroit will receive a bye. The winner of the Boston-New York playoff would then be the host team against the Tigers, Oct. 3.

The victor of this second playoff game would represent the American League in the world series.

President Harridge said this was the fifth time in the past seven seasons that coins have been tossed to arrange for possible two or three team ties.

Old Germans Top Allegany Insulation

With "Lefty" Wolz hurling 3-hit ball and retiring 18 of the last 19 batters to face him the Old Germans evened their playoff series with Allegany Insulation at 1-1 by defeating the Insulation tossers 2-1 yesterday at Penn Avenue field in a National Division of the City Rec Softball League tilt.

ALLEG. INSULATION	100 000 0—1 3 4

Wolz and D. Fuller, H. Dawson and Wilson.

Beall Gridders Host To Berlin Eleven Saturday

Officials Selected; Game Time 2 P. M.

FROSTBURG, Sept. 21 — Coach Joe Hoopengardner's Beall High football eleven will attempt to even its 1950 record when it plays host to Berlin (Pa.) High's gridders here Saturday afternoon. Game time is 2 p.m.

Officials for the contest will be John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, John Blough and William "Bee" Orndorff.

Berlin defeated the Beall eleven last season in the Pennsylvania town by the score of 19 to 6 and this season's edition of the Blue and White from Frostburg will endeavor to gain revenge.

The game will be the second of the season for both teams and each will be seeking its initial victory. Berlin lost to Richland Twp. last week by a 33-13 score while Beall went down before the Allegany High Campers of Cumberland by a 20-7 score.

Coach Hoopengardner announced last night that George Miller, regular right halfback and Glen Workman, center, have been chosen as team captains for the Frostburg squad.

Beall has scrimmaged this week in preparation for the battle and the Hilltoppers' mentor expressed satisfaction with the showing of several of the players including William Hess at quarterback and Frank Buskirk at center. The squad is in good condition for the game, Hoopengardner added.

A large crowd is expected to witness Beall's opening home game and tickets may be obtained at Charles N. Hill's store as well as at the school.

Beall is planning games for its Jayvees team with Allegany and Fort Hill of Cumberland, Hoopengardner stated. Other jayvee elevens may be played later on in the season.

Pre-Season Grid Poll Rates Notre Dame, Army As Best

Coaches Moan As AP Selections Are Given

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—"Who? Me?"

That was the general incredulous, if not downright alarmed, reaction of college coaches whose teams were chosen in the top 10 in the Associated Press pre-season football poll.

True to tradition, the master minds were extremely wary in their comments, and none would admit his team rated the position it was voted by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

The comments ranged from Michigan's Bennie Oosterbaan's "no comment" to a doleful "we'll be lucky to win half our games" from Tennessee's Bob Neyland, but all left the impression that the coaches felt they were being put on a very unwelcome spot.

The poll, first of its kind, rated the top 10 as follows: Notre Dame, Army, Michigan, Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma, Stanford, Illinois, Cornell and Southern Methodist.

Rusty Russell, Southern Methodist: "That's a lot of baloney. I think people have gotten a bit of a false impression because we played Notre Dame a good football game last year. They seem to think that was a normal game, but it wasn't."

Earl Blaik, Army: "We are being ranked on what we were and not on what we are. You can't lose all but one of your offensive line and 21 lettermen without having to perform a major rebuilding job."

Bob Neyland, Tennessee: "I think fourth place is a ridiculous rating for us. We will be lucky to win half our games."

Here's the pre-season rating with last year's records and total points, on the basis of ten for first, nine for second, etc. (first place votes in parentheses):

	1949 Record	Pts.
1. Notre Dame (101)	10-0-0	1219
2. Army (7)	9-0-0	930
3. Michigan (5)	6-2-1	688

8. Illinois (1)	3-4-2	361
9. Cornell	8-1-0	321
10. Southern Methodist	5-4-1	229
11. Ohio State	6-1-2	218
12. Southern California	5-3-1	208

Goliat Hits Two Homers For Phils

Whiz Kids Win 9-6 Behind Konstanty

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20 (INS)—Mike Goliat belted a pair of home runs and a single today and Jim Konstanty strolled to the hill for the 68th time to win his 16th game for the front-flying Phils, 9 to 6 over the Chicago Cubs.

Goliat's 12th homer tied the score at 5-5 in the fifth inning, and his 13th, hit with two abroad in the eighth, clinched the victory.

Konstanty came on to relieve Russ Meyer in the sixth.

Adam Budnick Tosses LaVale Into Finals, 6-2

Defeats Corriganville In Playoff Contest

Adam Budnick hurled the LaVale softball team into the finals of the County League championship playoff yesterday at Corriganville by turning back the third place Corriganville tossers 6-2 in the rubber contest of their best-of-three series.

Budnick set the home team down with five hits and struck out nine batsmen while besting Kauffman in a hurling duel that was decided in the last inning.

Kauffman matched Budnick pitch for pitch for six frames and was trailing 2-1 when Manager Gene Scaletta of LaVale broke the game open with a homerun in the top of the seventh with two mates aboard. The LaVale team added another tall for four runs in the inning to cinch the victory.

Roy Clites was the only Corriganville batter to give Budnick any trouble, the Corriganville star collecting three of his team's five bingles.

Buddy Giles had two singles for LaVale while Scaletta had a single in addition to his circuit clout.

LaVale had won the first game of the series 5-0 while Corriganville copped the second battle 5-4. The victors now go into the finals to meet the winner of the Wellersburg-Potomac Valley playoff. The score:

LaVALE	001 100 4—6 9 1

Budnick and Lewis. Kauffman and Horn.

Five Matches Played In CCC Golf Tourneys

Five matches were played yesterday in the men and women's fall golf tournament at the Cumberland Country Club with three men's matches being completed and two women's matches played.

James Beacham defeated Arnet Widner 5 and 4 and L. E. Spencer topped Gordon Bowie 2 and 1 in 2nd flight matches yesterday while Dr. Frank Cawley topped Dr. Donald Grove 2 up in 18 holes in a 5th flight match.

The semi-finals of the women's championship flight were played yesterday with Mrs. Gordon Bowie defeating Mrs. Richard Trevaskis 4 and 2 and Louise Glick walloping Mrs. Royce Hodges 7 and 6.

Miss Glick and Mrs. Bowie will meet in the finals of the championship flight.

Catamount Eleven Is Host To Baltimore City Saturday

Lauer Quarterback; Game Time 1:30 P. M.

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 21 — The Potomac State Catamounts will be lead by Theodore "Ted" Lauer in their football game with Baltimore City College this week. Lauer will be operating at quarter in the T formation instead of his regular halfback spot. "Bob" Johnson, regular quarterback received a head injury in the Glenville game and will not see action this week.

Lauer hails from Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and came to Potomac State last year with very little advanced publicity as an athlete. His high school coach, Arnie Truex, was conservative in his recommendation to the extreme when he said that "Ted" was a good high school athlete and that he hoped that he would do some good in college.

"Ted" proceeded to be the only athlete to be a regular starter in three sports at State, as a Freshman, in over twenty years. He was a regular halfback on the football team, played guard in basketball and shortstop on the baseball nine.

Leonardo High School, where Ted attended, is a consolidated school near Atlantic High lands, with an enrollment of less than 400.

The Catamounts are expecting a hard game this week when they entertain the "Red Devils" from Baltimore City. The locals won the game last year by the score of 38-0.

The Catamounts will be outweighed, again in the line this week. Steffens and Phillips who will start at the tackle positions for Baltimore weigh 220 and 240. The guards Spicer and Evans weigh over 200 and the ends are tall and rangy. The backfields will be about the same averaging 160 for each team.

The game time has been moved up to 1:30 so as not to conflict with the baseball game which will be played between Keyser and Hyndman.

AL Leaders Trip Chisox As Detroit Rallies For 6-5 Win

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (INS) — Rookie Ed (Whitey) Ford performed like an old hand for New York today and trimmed the Chicago White Sox with a three-hit, 8 to 1 pitching masterpiece that kept the Yanks in first place.

The victory was Ford's eighth straight without a loss.

Chicago, by contrast of Ford, played like old Aunt Martha and committed three errors.

Coleman's triple in the second inning produced two runs and was the blow that sent starter Ray Scarborough to the showers. His single in the fourth drove in another run.

Mapes slammed a home run in the eighth and singled a run across the plate in the Yanks' four-run outburst in the second inning.

Ford yielded the lone Chicago tally in the fourth. He hit Dave Philley and Eddie Robinson's single sent the White Sox outfielder to third base. Gus Zernial's fly ball drove Philley home. Box:

TIGERS EDGE ATHLETICS

DETROIT, Sept. 20 (INS) — The Detroit Tigers came from behind in the eighth inning today to edge the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5, and hang onto second place, a half-game behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

Going into the sixth inning four runs behind, the Bengals combined four singles for three runs, only one tally away from the A's.

In the eighth, Charley Keller scored the tying run when Ferris Fain made a wild throw of Hoot Evers grounder for a two-base error. Don Kolloway then came up and singled to score Evers with what proved to be the winning run. Box:

Dodgers Beat Bucs; Kiner Hits No. 46

BROOKLYN, Sept. 20 (AP) — The Dodgers made it 10 in a row and 18 out of 21 from Pittsburgh by overwhelming the Pirates, 7-2, before 1,011 chilled fans today.

Gil Hodges' second grand slam of the year and 29th homer in the first inning was more than enough for Carl Erskine to beat Bill MacDonald. However, the Dodgers added two more in the third when Duke Snider hit his eighth triple.

Cleveland Jolts Red Sox Twice, Yankees And Tigers Win

Easter, Gordon Belt Homers As Cleveland Drops Boston To 3rd

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20 (INS) — The Cleveland Indians threw their one-two pitching punch — Bob Lemon and Early Wynn—at Boston today and whipped them 6 to 3 and 7 to 1 and sent the Red Sox falling into third place.

The Tribe's doubleheader victory dropped Boston two games behind the American League-leading New York Yankees.

Lemon's seven-hit pitching in the opener was supported by the sharp hitting of Luke Easter and Larry Doby. Easter whacked his 27th home run with a man on base in the first inning and Doby drove in two runs with a pair of singles to help Lemon to his 21st victory and fifth without a loss over Boston.

Wynn pitched five-hit ball in the second game to record his 17th win. Walt Dropo's 34th home run in the seventh inning spoiled a shutout for Wynn.

It was a two-run homer that started the Indians to victory in both games. Joe Gordon replaced Easter in the hero's role in the second contest by socking a four-ply blow with one man aboard. Box:

Giants Lose Two To Cincinnati

Blackwell Wins 4-1; Hearn Loses 2 To 0

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (INS)—Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell and Ken Raffensberger stalled the Giants' bid for higher standing in the National League today when they pitched the Reds to a double win over the New Yorkers.

Blackwell four-hitted the Giants in the opener, for a 4-to-1 decision over Dave Koslo. Then Raffensberger, aided by two errors and Ted Kluszewski's 25th homer, blanked the New Yorkers, 2 to 0 in the afterpiece.

Jim Hearn, who allowed only three hits in the second game, was tagged with his fourth loss in seventeen decisions. Box:

East Side Maids Cop Title, 5-0

Adams Blanks Moose In Queen's Playoff

The East Side Maids, behind the two-hit pitching of Doris Adams, copped the final playoff game from the Moose lassies yesterday at Stitcher field by the score of 5 to 0 to win the title of the Queen's Softball League for the second straight season.

The defending champs won three straight victories after playing a 7-7 tie with the Moose girls in the opening contest of their best-of-five series.

Clara Hudson and Helen Winebrenner each collected two hits for East Side, including one double apiece. These were the only hits allowed by opposing hurler Dot Heavner.

East Side clinched the game with two runs in the first frame when after two were out Hudson singled and Winebrenner doubled for the first run. An outfield error on Jeanne Hale's fly ball produced the second tally.

East Side won by scores of 11-5, 10-6 and 5-0 to cop the title. The 11-5 contest was halted by rain at the end of five innings with the score 11-4 East Side and the final two innings of the game were completed yesterday at Stitcher field after the completion of the regular game.

AL Playoff Plans Decided In Case Of Possible Tie

Detroit Draws Bye; Flip Of Coin Used

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (INS)—A flip of the coin in Chicago today determined the site or sites in the event a playoff is necessary to settle a two or three-way tie in the American League baseball race.

Representatives of the major wire services did the coin tossing in American League President Will Harridge's office and the following was decided:

1. If Boston ties with New York, a one-game playoff will be held in Boston, Oct. 2.

2. If Boston ties with Detroit, a one-game playoff will be held in Detroit, Oct. 2.

3. If New York ties with Detroit, a one-game playoff will be held in New York, Oct. 2.

Boston will play New York at Yankee Stadium on Oct. 2. In the event of a three-club tie and Detroit will receive a bye. The winner of the Boston-New York playoff would then be the host team against the Tigers, Oct. 3.

The victor of this second playoff game would represent the American League in the world series.

President Harridge said this was the fifth time in the past seven seasons that coins have been tossed to arrange for possible two or three team ties.

Cards Edge Boston 1-0

Bickford Loses Duel With Boyer

BOSTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—Sore armed Cloyd Boyer limited the Boston Braves to four scattered singles tonight while pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 1-0 shutout victory. The setback dropped the Braves into a second place tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers, seven and a half games behind the front running Philadelphia Phillies.

The Cardinals registered their big tally in the eighth. Marty Marion opened with a single, was sacrificed by Del Rice and romped in from second base after Peanuts Lowery singled sharply to deep center.

Boyer, whose flinging arm has been so troublesome that Manager Eddie Dyer hesitated about starting him until almost the last minute, was in trouble only once. With two out in the fourth he filled the bases by passing Sam Jethroe, Earl Torgeson and Bob Addis. Then he rendered those Tribesmen harmless by striking out Del Crandall. Score:

Beall Gridders Host To Berlin Eleven Saturday

Officials Selected; Game Time 2 P. M.

FROSTBURG, Sept. 21 — Coach Joe Hoopengardner's Beall High football eleven will attempt to even its 1950 record when it plays host to Berlin (Pa.) High's gridders here Saturday afternoon. Game time is 2 p.m.

Officials for the contest will be John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, John Blough and William "Bee" Orndorff.

Berlin defeated the Beall eleven last season in the Pennsylvania town by the score of 19 to 6 and this season's edition of the Blue and White from Frostburg will endeavor to gain revenge.

The game will be the second of the season for both teams and each will be seeking its initial victory. Berlin lost to Richland Twp. last week by a 33-13 score while Beall went down before the Allegany High Campers of Cumberland by a 20-7 score.

Coach Hoopengardner announced last night that George Miller, regular right halfback and Glen Workman, center, have been chosen as team captains for the Frostburg squad.

Beall has scrimmaged this week in preparation for the battle and the Hilltoppers' mentor expressed satisfaction with the showing of several of the players including William Hess at quarterback and Frank Buskirk at center. The squad is in good condition for the game, Hoopengardner added.

A large crowd is expected to witness Beall's opening home game and tickets may be obtained at Charles N. Hill's store as well as at the school.

Beall is planning games for its Jayvees team with Allegany and Fort Hill of Cumberland, Hoopengardner stated. Other jayvee elevens may be played later on in the season.

Pre-Season Grid Poll Rates Notre Dame, Army As Best

Coaches Moan As AP Selections Are Given

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—"Who? Me?"

That was the general incredulous, if not downright alarmed, reaction of college coaches whose teams were chosen in the top 10 in the Associated Press pre-season football poll.

True to tradition, the master minds were extremely wary in their comments, and none would admit his team rated the position it was voted by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

The comments ranged from Michigan's Bennie Oosterbaan's "no comment" to a doleful "we'll be lucky to win half our games" from Tennessee's Bob Neyland, but all left the impression that the coaches felt they were being put on a very unwelcome spot.

The poll, first of its kind, rated the top 10 as follows: Notre Dame, Army, Michigan, Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma, Stanford, Illinois, Cornell and Southern Methodist.

Rusty Russell, Southern Methodist: "That's a lot of baloney. I think people have gotten a bit of a false impression because we played Notre Dame a good football game last year. They seem to think that was a normal game, but it wasn't."

Earl Blaik, Army: "We are being ranked on what we were and not on what we are. You can't lose all but one of your offensive line and 21 lettermen without having to perform a major rebuilding job."

Bob Neyland, Tennessee: "I think fourth place is a ridiculous rating for us. We will be lucky to win half our games."

Here's the pre-season rating with last year's records and total points, on the basis of ten for first, nine for second, etc. (first place votes in parentheses):

	1949 Record	Pts.
1. Notre Dame (101)	10-0-0	1219
2. Army (7)	9-0-0	930
3. Michigan (5)	6-2-1	688
4. Tennessee (1)	7-2-1	553
5. Texas (7)	6-4-0	539
6. Oklahoma (3)	10-0-0	469
7. Stanford	6-3-1	435
8. Illinois (1)	3-4-2	361
9. Cornell	8-1-0	321
10. Southern Methodist	5-4-1	229
11. Ohio State	6-1-2	218
12. Southern California	5-3-1	208

Goliat Hits Two Homers For Phils

Whiz Kids Win 9-6 Behind Konstanty

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20 (INS)—Mike Goliat belted a pair of home runs and a single today and Jim Konstanty strolled to the hill for the 68th time to win his 16th game for the front-flying Phils, 9 to 6 over the Chicago Cubs.

Goliat's 12th homer tied the score at 5-5 in the fifth inning, and his 13th, hit with two abroad in the eighth, clinched the victory.

Konstanty came on to relieve Russ Meyer in the sixth.

Baltimore Advances To INT Finals

MONTREAL, Sept. 20 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles shaded the Montreal Royals, 5-4, tonight to gain the final round of the International League's shaughnessy cup playoffs.

The Orioles won the best four out of seven series, four games to three and will now meet the pennant winning Rochester Red Wings in the final round. The Red Wings gained the finals by beating the Jersey City Giants, four games to two. The winner of this series will meet the winner of the American Association playoff series, Columbus or Indianapolis, in the junior world series.

Adam Budnick Tosses LaVale Into Finals, 6-2

Defeats Corriganville In Playoff Contest

Adam Budnick hurled the LaVale softball team into the finals of the County League championship playoff yesterday at Corriganville by turning back the third place Corriganville tossers 6-2 in the rubber contest of their best-of-three series.

Budnick set the home team down with five hits and struck out nine batsmen while besting Kauffman in a hurling duel that was decided in the last inning.

Kauffman matched Budnick pitch for pitch for six frames and was trailing 2-1 when Manager Gene Scaletta of LaVale broke the game open with a homerun in the top of the seventh with two mates aboard. The LaVale team added another tall for four runs in the inning to cinch the victory.

Roy Clites was the only Corriganville batter to give Budnick any trouble, the Corriganville star collecting three of his team's five bingles.

Buddy Giles had two singles for LaVale while Scaletta had a single in addition to his circuit clout.

LaVale had won the first game of the series 5-0 while Corriganville copped the second battle 5-4. The victors now go into the finals to meet the winner of the Wellersburg-Potomac Valley playoff. The score:

Five Matches Played In CCC Golf Tourneys

Five matches were played yesterday in the men and women's fall golf tournament at the Cumberland Country Club with three men's matches being completed and two women's matches played.

James Beacham defeated Arnet Widner 5 and 4 and L. E. Spencer topped Gordon Bowie 2 and 1 in 2nd flight matches yesterday while Dr. Frank Cawley topped Dr. Donald Grove 2 up in 18 holes in a 5th flight match.

The semi-finals of the women's championship flight were played yesterday with Mrs. Gordon Bowie defeating Mrs. Richard Trevaskis 4 and 2 and Louise Glick walloping Mrs. Royce Hodges 7 and 6.

Miss Glick and Mrs. Bowie will meet in the finals of the championship flight.

Catamount Eleven Is Host To Baltimore City Saturday

Lauer Quarterback; Game Time 1:30 P. M.

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 21 — The Potomac State Catamounts will be lead by Theodore "Ted" Lauer in their football game with Baltimore City College this week. Lauer will be operating at quarter in the T formation instead of his regular halfback spot. "Bob" Johnson, regular quarterback received a head injury in the Glenville game and will not see action this week.

Lauer hails from Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and came to Potomac State last year with very little advanced publicity as an athlete. His high school coach, Arnie Truex, was conservative in his recommendation to the extreme when he said that "Ted" was a good high school athlete and that he hoped that he would do some good in college.

"Ted" proceeded to be the only athlete to be a regular starter in three sports at State, as a Freshman, in over twenty years. He was a regular halfback on the football team, played guard in basketball and shortstop on the baseball nine.

Leonardo High School, where Ted attended, is a consolidated school near Atlantic High lands, with an enrollment of less than 400.

The Catamounts are expecting a hard game this week when they entertain the "Red Devils" from Baltimore City. The locals won the game last year by the score of 38-0.

The Catamounts will be outweighed, again in the line this week. Steffens and Phillips who will start at the tackle positions for Baltimore weigh 220 and 240. The guards Spicer and Evans weigh over 200 and the ends are tall and rangy. The backfields will be about the same averaging 160 for each team.

The game time has been moved up to 1:30 so as not to conflict with the baseball game which will be played between Keyser and Hyndman.

AL Leaders Trip Chisox As Detroit Rallies For 6-5 Win

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (INS) — Rookie Ed (Whitey) Ford performed like an old hand for New York today and trimmed the Chicago White Sox with a three-hit, 8 to 1 pitching masterpiece that kept the Yanks in first place.

The victory was Ford's eighth straight without a loss.

Chicago, by contrast of Ford, played like old Aunt Martha and committed three errors.

Coleman's triple in the second inning produced two runs and was the blow that sent starter Ray Scarborough to the showers. His single in the fourth drove in another run.

Mapes slammed a home run in the eighth and singled a run across the plate in the Yanks' four-run outburst in the second inning.

Ford yielded the lone Chicago tally in the fourth. He hit Dave Philley and Eddie Robinson's single sent the White Sox outfielder to third base. Gus Zernial's fly ball drove Philley home. Box:

TIGERS EDGE ATHLETICS

DETROIT, Sept. 20 (INS) — The Detroit Tigers came from behind in the eighth inning today to edge the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5, and hang onto second place, a half-game behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

Going into the sixth inning four runs behind, the Bengals combined four singles for three runs, only one tally away from the A's.

In the eighth, Charley Keller scored the tying run when Ferris Fain made a wild throw of Hoot Evers grounder for a two-base error. Don Kolloway then came up and singled to score Evers with what proved to be the winning run. Box:

Prefect Cops Atlantic City Kiwanis Race

Survives Photo And Foul Claim

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Prefect won the featured Kiwanis Purse at Atlantic City today but had to survive a nose photo decision and a claim of foul in the process.

The son of Pilate turned back Grandview Stable's Pellicle which was easily eight lengths better than E. E. Voynow's Great Fun in the mile and a furlong journey.

Jimmy Stout made it three for the day aboard Prefect which was the third straight choice to win for favorite players in the crowd of 9,216. The mutuel payoffs were Prefect, coupled in the wagering with Wentworth, $4.20, $2.40, $2.20; Pellicle, $3.20, $2.80 and Great Fund, $3.00.

Porter Roberts, rider of Pellicle, claimed a foul against the winner when the pair engaged in a stretch duel but after deliberating the stewards permitted the finish to stand.

Prefect moved to the front at the start and never lost the lead. Lady Fairfield and Some Town forced the pace but gave up the ghost at head of the stretch. Pellicle made his presence felt at this point when he surged between horses to challenge the leader.

The two went stride for stride for the final eighth of a mile with Prefect showing in front at the wire. Time for the distance over a fast track was 1:50 3-5.

Pensava Scores Fifth

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 20 (AP)—Joe Gavegnano's three year old colt Pensava today scored his fifth victory in 11 starts in 1950 as he won the $3,000 Johnston Purse before 8,857 at Narragansett Park.

He led T. P. Morgan's Crown Me by two lengths at the finish of the six furlongs at 1:11. Second choice in the betting, Pensava paid $6.20, $3.80, $3.20. Crown Me paid $8.80 and $5.60 with Mrs. H. S. Clark's Puppet which was third paying $4.40 show.

Pensava pulled away near the home stretch and needed only moderate urging to preserve his comfortable margin over Crown Me. The latter was a length in front of Puppet which had five lengths on the Hampton Stables Best Punch.

Prefect Cops Atlantic City Kiwanis Race

Survives Photo And Foul Claim

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 20 (AP)—Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Prefect won the featured Kiwanis Purse at Atlantic City today but had to survive a nose photo decision and a claim of foul in the process.

The son of Pilate turned back Grandview Stable's Pellicle which was easily eight lengths better than E. E. Voynow's Great Fun in the mile and a furlong journey.

Jimmy Stout made it three for the day aboard Prefect which was the third straight choice to win for favorite players in the crowd of 9,216. The mutuel payoffs were Prefect, coupled in the wagering with Wentworth, $4.20, $2.40, $2.20; Pellicle, $3.20, $2.80 and Great Fund, $3.00.

Porter Roberts, rider of Pellicle, claimed a foul against the winner when the pair engaged in a stretch duel but after deliberating the stewards permitted the finish to stand.

Prefect moved to the front at the start and never lost the lead. Lady Fairfield and Some Town forced the pace but gave up the ghost at head of the stretch. Pellicle made his presence felt at this point when he surged between horses to challenge the leader.

The two went stride for stride for the final eighth of a mile with Prefect showing in front at the wire. Time for the distance over a fast track was 1:50 3-5.

Pensava Scores Fifth

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 20 (AP)—Joe Gavegnano's three year old colt Pensava today scored his fifth victory in 11 starts in 1950 as he won the $3,000 Johnston Purse before 8,857 at Narragansett Park.

He led T. P. Morgan's Crown Me by two lengths at the finish of the six furlongs at 1:11. Second choice in the betting, Pensava paid $6.20, $3.80, $3.20. Crown Me paid $8.80 and $5.60 with Mrs. H. S. Clark's Puppet which was third paying $4.40 show.

Pensava pulled away near the home stretch and needed only moderate urging to preserve his comfortable margin over Crown Me. The latter was a length in front of Puppet which had five lengths on the Hampton Stables Best Punch.

Now Science Gives You the FASTEST, EASIEST SHAVE of your life!

At last science has done something about shaving! American genius has perfected a secret, whisker wilting formula—and it comes in an INSTANT LATHERIZER. It's RISE—the push-button shave ... for fastest, smoothest shaves ever!

Push the button. Out comes rich, firm, "living" lather—INSTANTLY—without a brush. Gives CLEANEST SHAVES in ½ the time. No brushless cream can produce such close, comfortable shaves. No brush can whip up such active lather.

RISE is tops for tender skins. The razor floats down your face. Leaves face smoother than ever before. Economical too! Each latherizer makes half a gallon of RISE lather—enough for over 50 shaves. Get RISE at your druggist. Only 59¢.

Harry Shupe To Head Frostburg Fund Campaign

Seek $100,000 For New Building

FROSTBURG—A group of Frostburg business men met yesterday morning in the City Hall and appointed Harry G. Shupe chairman of a citizens committee to solicit local business and professional men to raise $100,000 as an equity fund towards constructing a new building for the M. Berkowitz Pajama Factory.

Walter T. Kline was named assistant to Shupe and Howard Ward was chosen secretary.

The group will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall to name teams for the soliciting campaign.

It is hoped to complete the drive in 15 days.

The $100,000 would be applied toward the cost of erecting a $300,000 plant structure to allow the textile factory to expand.

Suitable sites will be proposed for the building, which would measure 100 by 60 feet.

C. L. Shaefer Baltimore Girl Wed

GRANTSVILLE — St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Baltimore, was the scene September 3 at 2:30 p.m. when Miss Clarice Marie Campbell, Baltimore, and Cecil L. Schaefer, son of Mrs. Minta C. Schaefer and the late James Schaefer, Grantsville, were united in marriage.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of white satin and imported French lace. Her chapel length veil of nylon net edged with imported French lace, flowed from a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby mums. Miss Lwona Campbell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Miss Mary Doreta Campbell, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret C. Michael, Frostburg, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of taffeta and net, Miss Campbell was in pale yellow, and Miss Michael in seamist green, with matching headdresses.

Dale Kinsinger, Grantsville, was best man.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Ethel Yancey, Baltimore, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Edward Philips, Baltimore, who sang.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the parish house.

Mrs. Earl Burow, an aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and was aided by Mrs. M. Murray, Mrs. Charles Horner, and Miss Delores Campbell, the bride's sister.

The bride is an honor graduate of Kenwood High School, Baltimore County, Class of 1949, and is employed at the Fidelity Trust Company in Baltimore.

Schaefer graduated from Grantsville High School in 1947, where he received a gold "G" for extra curricular activities. He enlisted in the Army and served for three years, two of which he spent in Korea and Japan, as an automotive mechanic. He was discharged in May 1950 as a corporal. He is employed at the Mack Truck Corporation, Baltimore.

A number of friends and relatives from Grantsville, Jennings, Frostburg, Bittinger, Elkins, W. Va. and Detroit, Mich., attended.

Seek $100,000 For New Building

FROSTBURG—A group of Frostburg business men met yesterday morning in the City Hall and appointed Harry G. Shupe chairman of a citizens committee to solicit local business and professional men to raise $100,000 as an equity fund towards constructing a new building for the M. Berkowitz Pajama Factory.

Walter T. Kline was named assistant to Shupe and Howard Ward was chosen secretary.

The group will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall to name teams for the soliciting campaign.

It is hoped to complete the drive in 15 days.

The $100,000 would be applied toward the cost of erecting a $300,000 plant structure to allow the textile factory to expand.

Suitable sites will be proposed for the building, which would measure 100 by 60 feet.

Tri-State Deaths

MILLER FUNERAL

GRANTSVILLE—A service for Fred H. Miller, 62-year-old laborer who was found dead Saturday on the farm of Misses Ida and Beulah Engle, was held Monday afternoon at the Winterberg Funeral Home. Rev. Richard Grumbling, pastor of Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, officiated and burial was in Grantsville Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Blaine and Cecil Beachy, Harold Miller and Donald, Harold and Edward Jenkins, Jr.

Among those attending were Dewey Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Miller and Harold Jenkins, Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Guernie Miller, Drexel Hill, Pa., and Mrs. Milton Shumaker, Chester, Pa.

PAUGH SERVICE

KITZMILLER—A service for Mrs. Anna Mary Paugh, 40, wife of William Frederick Paugh, who died September 12 at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, was held Friday afternoon in Mt. Bethel Methodist Church with Rev. Don Nicholas, pastor of Elk Garden Methodist Church, officiating. Interment was in I.O.O.F. Cemetery, Elk Garden.

Pallbearers were Edward Turner, Aubrey Phillips, Fitzhugh Burrell, Ronald Weicht, Eldred Burns and Harold Stark.

HENRY W. POOLE

CHERRY RUN, W. Va.—Rites for Henry Winter Poole, 65, who died Monday in Martinsburg City Hospital, will be held today at 1 p. m. EST in Evangelical United Brethren Church here. Interment will take place in Snyder's Cemetery, Morgan county.

Mr. Poole was born February 14, 1885, in Morgan county, a son of the late William H. and Emma V. Rippon Poole. A retired B. and O. trackman, he was a member of B. M. of W. and Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Clay French, Hagerstown, and Mrs. Ernest Rhoe, Cherry Run; five brothers, T. E. Poole, Cumberland, Md.; W. P. Poole, Cherry Run; Grover C. Poole, Baltimore; Fred Poole, Hagerstown, Md., and Dewey Poole, Berkeley Springs, and a grandson.

MRS. GEORGE HARDING

EMORYVILLE, W. Va. — Mrs. Maggie Frances Harding, 60, wife of George O. Harding, died Tuesday in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where she had been a patient since September 11.

Born July 24, 1890, at Hampshire Hill, Garrett county, Md., Mrs. Harding had lived here 35 years. Her parents were the late Mason Oliver and Agnes Naomi Willis Warnick. She was a member of Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church.

In addition to her husband, she leaves three daughters, Mrs. Edna Jenkins, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Maxine Strachan, Detroit, and Mrs. Eva L. Jackson, Elk Garden; four sons, Clifford Harding, Newburg; George Harding, Route 1, Elk Garden, and James and Harry Harding, Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. Edna Coleman, Kitzmiller, and Mrs. Mora DeArmitt, and 19 grandchildren.

The body is at the residence here. A service will be conducted Friday at 2:30 p.m. in Nethken Hill Methodist Church by Rev. Richard Beavers, pastor of Elk Garden Assembly of God Church, and Rev. John Kroll, pastor of Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church. Burial will take place in Kalbaugh Cemetery, Elk Garden.

Plan Supper

LONACONING—A covered dish supper will be held Friday at 6 p. m. by Martha Washington Chapter No. 10, Order of Eastern Star, prior to the regular meeting in the Masonic Temple, Main Street.

The O.E.S. chapter plans to hold a card party on October 5.

"Country Store" will be a feature in addition to dancing with music furnished by the Welch Trio.

First Baptist Church Plans Rally Program

FROSTBURG — Plans are being made for a rally day program to be held Sunday at First Baptist Church in Eckhart.

Awards will be presented to the classes having the largest percentage and the largest attendance.

Bibles will be presented by F. Earl Kreitzburg, Sunday School superintendent, who will also give a brief talk.

Recognition will be given to "100 per cent" pupils and to the class having the largest number present.

Rev. Sidney S. Aldrich will give the prayer and benediction, and scripture will be read by Mrs. Melvin Smouse. Miss Edith Eckhart will be piano soloist.

Musical selections will be played by the orchestra and the primary department pupils will sing.

Mathematics Club Plans Project

FROSTBURG — Mu Alpha Theta, the Math Club of Frostburg State Teachers College, held its first regular meeting Monday at Old Main Building, with George Herring, president, presiding and 14 members and two faculty members, Robert Lundquist and Walter Rissler, attending.

The constitution was reviewed by the new members. It was decided that the first project of the club will be the decoration of the Christmas tree with an assortment of hand-made ornaments. Miss Maxine Conrad was elected publicity advisor of the club.

Following the business meeting, Lundquist gave a talk on mathematics, stressing curiosity of the mind. He illustrated his talk with several "magic tricks" which can be explained by mathematics.

William Delaney Receives Degree

FROSTBURG — Among the students graduating from the summer term at Valparaiso Technical Institute, Valparaiso, Ind., September 14 was William R. Delaney, son of Mrs. Agnes Miller, Lonaconing. Delaney received his diploma from the Department of Radio Engineering, where he specialized in radio and television engineering.

Delaney is a graduate of Central High School, where he was prominent in school activities. After a brief visit in Frostburg, Delaney will decide on positions offered him by Valparaiso Tech's engineering placement department.

Marguerite Allen Engaged To Wed

MIDLAND — Mrs. Nellie Allen, Midland, announces the engagement of her daughter, Marguerite Anita, to Anthony Joseph Greco, son of Mrs. Irene Greco, 88 West Fairview Street, Piedmont, W. Va., and the late Domenick Greco.

Miss Allen, an honor graduate in the 1945 class of Central High School, Lonaconing, is employed at the Potomac Edison Company's Union Street office.

Greco, a veteran of 18 months service with the 27th Infantry Regiment in Japan, is employed by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke.

C. L. Shaefer Baltimore Girl Wed

GRANTSVILLE — St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Baltimore, was the scene September 3 at 2:30 p.m. when Miss Clarice Marie Campbell, Baltimore, and Cecil L. Schaefer, son of Mrs. Minta C. Schaefer and the late James Schaefer, Grantsville, were united in marriage.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown of white satin and imported French lace. Her chapel length veil of nylon net edged with imported French lace, flowed from a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white roses and baby mums. Miss Lwona Campbell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Miss Mary Doreta Campbell, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret C. Michael, Frostburg, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of taffeta and net, Miss Campbell was in pale yellow, and Miss Michael in seamist green, with matching headdresses.

Dale Kinsinger, Grantsville, was best man.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Ethel Yancey, Baltimore, played a program of nuptial music and accompanied Edward Philips, Baltimore, who sang.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the parish house.

Mrs. Earl Burow, an aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl and was aided by Mrs. M. Murray, Mrs. Charles Horner, and Miss Delores Campbell, the bride's sister.

The bride is an honor graduate of Kenwood High School, Baltimore County, Class of 1949, and is employed at the Fidelity Trust Company in Baltimore.

Schaefer graduated from Grantsville High School in 1947, where he received a gold "G" for extra curricular activities. He enlisted in the Army and served for three years, two of which he spent in Korea and Japan, as an automotive mechanic. He was discharged in May 1950 as a corporal. He is employed at the Mack Truck Corporation, Baltimore.

A number of friends and relatives from Grantsville, Jennings, Frostburg, Bittinger, Elkins, W. Va. and Detroit, Mich., attended.

Marion Hadley Named Central Youth Delegate

Will Attend Md. Conference Sat.

LONACONING—Marion Elizabeth Hadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hadley, of Beechwood, Lonaconing, was chosen by the senior class to represent Central High School at the "Youth Looks at Maryland" conference which is sponsored by the Maryland Commission for Youth.

The conference will be held Saturday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. at Towson State Teachers college, Towson.

The purpose of the meeting is to given children the advantages of learning, playing, working and living as constructive citizens and happy people. Discussion which will be:

MARION HADLEY

Are our services for young people adequate?" "Are they reaching all our children and youth?" and "What can youth do to assist their communities in better serving youth?"

The state-wide conference will include a series of round-table discussions and each delegation is to bring back a report to their local youth commission.

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president, Towson State Teachers College, will address "Tomorrow's Citizens." Governor W. Preston Lane will extend greetings.

Jean Reinhart was chosen as alternate.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20—(INS)—Betty Hutton, who flits from Hollywood to Chicago these days, flitted into Sam Briskin's office with a script of Blossom Seeley's life. George Burns—you've heard of him. George of Burns and Allen—had written the story and sold it to MGM.

Betty Hutton

Then, Sam read the script and agreed with Betty it was meant for her so he bought it from MGM. Betty will sing "Dark Town Strutters' Ball" which Blossom introduced and all those wonderful numbers which made her popular.

Betty, whose surprise reconciliation with Ted Briskin had the town gasping, says Ted is now the same boy she married, hard working and seriously interested in business. She is hoping he'll fly out for the chuck wagon Sunday night.

"A Life Of Her Own," Lana Turner's "Drammer," did not give Ray Milland a particularly bright chance to shine—from the heavy emoting standpoint. But all this will be remedied when he returns in November to MGM to star in "People In Love" for Eddie Knopf.

"People In Love" (A better title should be found) sounds as if it is the strongest meat since Ray ran off with the Academy Award for "Lost Weekend." He'll play a professor whose personality completely changes after he loses his wife and child in a motor accident.

Kirk Douglas is at Alisal, the ranch where Clark Gable and Sylvia spent their honeymoon. He is not there for any romantic purposes. He is learning to ride for his western role at Warners and believe me that takes a bit of doing for a lad who is a stranger to horses, horses, horses.

Here's a little bit of information I picked up. Kirk has been offered "Detective Story," by Willie Wyler and has been reading the script. I happen to know that he is also wanted by C. B. DeMille for "The Greatest Show On Earth," the circus spectacle.

Chatter in Hollywood: Mary Rogers and Walter Brooks, dining at the Macayo and elsewhere these evenings, are a serious romance. They came here from New York together. Mary, the late Will Rogers' daughters, says she will be here for a week on business and so will Walter.

Walter, the grandson of socially prominent Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, and who inherited some of her money at the time of her death, was once on the Los Angeles Examiner. He has been married and divorced twice—Mary has never married.

• — • — •

Both Bill Holden and Robert Walker, who were mentioned as replacements in "Mr. Roberts," while Hank Fonda takes time out to have an operation on his knee, are out. Too many movie assignments.

Rumors about Henry's difficulty with his daughter are not true. The young girl is with Mrs. Fonda's mother, Mrs. Seymour, a wonderful woman, who has done everything to soften Frances' tragic suicide for the children.

Milton Berle says he wishes Myrna Dell loved him. Well, maybe she can be coaxed to say the three small words, she's with him so much in New York.

Bing Crosby is bringing Frances Dee out of retirement for one of his Bing Crosby Enterprises Television shows, "Two Tickets." Let me say Frances, in private life Mrs. Joel McCrea, is still, some looker.

Nora and Dick Haymes will be away from Hollywood until Christmas time. Nora is going with him on his personal appearance tour.

Peggy Cummins and Derek Dunnett will be married in Paris instead of London. That's because so many of their friends are there. They'll spend their honeymoon in America.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Do some girls prefer courtship to marriage?

Answer: There are fewer such girls today than there once were. But every so often we still hear of one who keeps a man waiting for years, always promising to marry him some day, but putting the day off each time one she has "named" comes near. One trouble with her may be a morbid fear of getting into a man's power (which she feels will happen if she marries) and against which she defends herself by keeping him helpless and frustrated. But unconsciously the fear makes her hate as well as love him, and he's better off without her.

Will a violent temper increase your blood pressure?

Answer: It's more apt to increase other people's if you vent it on them in conditions in which they cannot or dare not fight back. According to Dr. Edwin F. Gildea, professor of psychiatry at Washington University, St. Louis, it's the people who cannot assert themselves and stand up for their rights whose repressed rage sends their blood pressure soaring. Other candidates for hypertension are "compulsive" persons who live by a set of rigid rules which won't let them relax or make allowances for anyone's shortcomings.

Should you answer back when you are called names?

Answer: It is usually wiser not to, though sometimes that is not easy. Two things it will help you to remember are: (1) that the anger the hard names express is nearly always based on fear of you or of something you seem to stand for, and (2) that the person knows he has no real "case" against you or he'd state it instead of reverting to abuse. And nothing will do more to reveal his weakness to whoever may be listening than for you to show your strength by refusing to adopt his tactics.

Red Feather Unit Discusses Drive

A breakfast meeting was held yesterday morning by the classified division chairmen and regiment leaders of the Cumberland Community Chest at the Central YMCA to plan their work for the next three weeks.

George M. Martin, Classified chairman, presided. The classified group is responsible for solicitation of all employed persons except those firms and individuals contacted by the Advance Gifts Committee.

Groups of more than eight employes are asked to organize their own campaigns, or miniature city Chest appeals. Groups of less than eight are solicited by teams of regiment leaders.

Lewis Ort, chairman of the Ort Baking Company's campaign last year, emphasized the necessity of putting the payment of pledges on a payroll deduction plan. Such a system, he said, makes it easier to obtain pledges large enough to keep agencies functioning for an entire year.

The Classified group also plans a goal-setting meeting Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

Division and regiment leaders will review their prospects and set up goals for their part in the Red Feather drive, which will open early in October.

Meanwhile, Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman, announced that about 65 letters were mailed today to clubs and organizations in the city, asking their support for the Community Chest effort.

Two rival candidates for president of the local Junior League met at a cocktail party and even a total stranger could have told by the warmth of their embrace and their coos of delight how very, very much they hated each other.

Mrs. Jones swung into heavy action first. "I just love that costume you have on," she exclaimed. "In fact, I love it better every time you wear it."

Mrs. Simpson gritted her teeth, and rebutted by examining the material of Mrs. Jones's frock and saying sweetly, "What an odd fabric, my dear! Why don't you try having it made into a dress?"

Mingling with the throng that poured out of the university stadium after a big game, the out-of-town guest enthused to his host, head of the chemistry department, "What a plant you have here!

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 20—(INS)—Betty Hutton, who flits from Hollywood to Chicago these days, flitted into Sam Briskin's office with a script of Blossom Seeley's life. George Burns—you've heard of him, George of Burns and Allen—had written the story and sold it to MGM.

Betty Hutton

Then, Sam read the script and agreed with Betty it was meant for her so he bought it from MGM. Betty will sing "Dark Town Strutters' Ball" which Blossom introduced and all those wonderful numbers which made her popular.

Betty, whose surprise reconciliation with Ted Briskin had the town gasping, says Ted is now the same boy she married, hard working and seriously interested in business. She is hoping he'll fly out for the chuck wagon Sunday night.

"A Life Of Her Own," Lana Turner's "Drammer," did not give Ray Milland a particularly bright chance to shine—from the heavy emoting standpoint. But all this will be remedied when he returns in November to MGM to star in "People In Love" for Eddie Knopf.

"People In Love" (A better title should be found) sounds as if it is the strongest meat since Ray ran off with the Academy Award for "Lost Weekend." He'll play a professor whose personality completely changes after he loses his wife and child in a motor accident.

• — • — •

Kirk Douglas is at Alisal, the ranch where Clark Gable and Sylvia spent their honeymoon. He is not there for any romantic purposes. He is learning to ride for his western role at Warners and believe me that takes a bit of doing for a lad who is a stranger to horses, horses, horses.

Here's a little bit of information I picked up. Kirk has been offered "Detective Story," by Wilie Wyler and has been reading the script. I happen to know that he is also wanted by C. B. DeMille for "The Greatest Show On Earth," the circus spectacle.

• — • — •

Chatter in Hollywood: Mary Rogers and Walter Brooks, dining at the Macayo and elsewhere these evenings, are a serious romance. They came here from New York together. Mary, the late Will Rogers' daughters, says she will be here for a week on business and so will Walter.

Walter, the grandson of socially prominent Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury, and who inherited some of her money at the time of her death, was once on the Los Angeles Examiner. He has been married and divorced twice—Mary has never married.

• — • — •

Both Bill Holden and Robert Walker, who were mentioned as replacements in "Mr. Roberts," while Hank Fonda takes time out to have an operation on his knee, are out. Too many movie assignments.

Rumors about Henry's difficulty with his daughter are not true. The young girl is with Mrs. Fonda's mother, Mrs. Seymour, a wonderful woman, who has done everything to soften Frances' tragic suicide for the children.

Milton Berle says he wishes Myrna Dell loved him. Well, maybe she can be coaxed to say the three small words, she's with him so much in New York.

Bing Crosby is bringing Frances Dee out of retirement for one of his Bing Crosby Enterprises Television shows, "Two Tickets." Let me say Frances, in private life Mrs. Joel McCrea, is still, some looker.

Nora and Dick Haymes will be away from Hollywood until Christmas time. Nora is going with him on his personal appearance tour.

Peggy Cummins and Derek Dunnett will be married in Paris instead of London. That's because so many of their friends are there. They'll spend their honeymoon in America.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Do some girls prefer courtship to marriage?

Answer: There are fewer such girls today than there once were. But every so often we still hear of one who keeps a man waiting for years, always promising to marry him some day, but putting the day off each time one she has "named" comes near. One trouble with her may be a morbid fear of getting into a man's power (which she feels will happen if she marries) and against which she defends herself by keeping him helpless and frustrated. But unconsciously the fear makes her hate as well as love him, and he's better off without her.

Will a violent temper increase your blood pressure?

Answer: It's more apt to increase other people's if you vent it on them in conditions in which they cannot or dare not fight back. According to Dr. Edwin F. Gildea, professor of psychiatry at Washington University, St. Louis, it's the people who cannot assert themselves and stand up for their rights whose repressed rage sends their blood pressure soaring. Other candidates for hypertension are "compulsive" persons who live by a set of rigid rules which won't let them relax or make allowances for anyone's shortcomings.

Should you answer back when you are called names?

Answer: It is usually wiser not to, though sometimes that is not easy. Two things it will help you to remember are: (1) that the anger the hard names express is nearly always based on fear of you or of something you seem to stand for, and (2) that the person knows he has no real "case" against you or he'd state it instead of reverting to abuse. And nothing will do more to reveal his weakness to whoever may be listening than for you to show your strength by refusing to adopt his tactics.

Red Feather Unit Discusses Drive

A breakfast meeting was held yesterday morning by the classified division chairmen and regiment leaders of the Cumberland Community Chest at the Central YMCA to plan their work for the next three weeks.

George M. Martin, Classified chairman, presided. The classified group is responsible for solicitation of all employed persons except those firms and individuals contacted by the Advance Gifts Committee.

Groups of more than eight employes are asked to organize their own campaigns, or miniature city Chest appeals. Groups of less than eight are solicited by teams of regiment leaders.

Lewis Ort, chairman of the Ort Baking Company's campaign last year, emphasized the necessity of putting the payment of pledges on a payroll deduction plan. Such a system, he said, makes it easier to obtain pledges large enough to keep agencies functioning for an entire year.

Division and regiment leaders will review their prospects and set up goals for their part in the Red Feather drive, which will open early in October.

Meanwhile, Frederic W. Eiler, general chairman, announced that about 65 letters were mailed today to clubs and organizations in the city, asking their support for the Community Chest effort.

Two rival candidates for president of the local Junior League met at a cocktail party and even a total stranger could have told by the warmth of their embrace and their coos of delight how very, very much they hated each other.

Mrs. Jones swung into heavy action first. "I just love that costume you have on," she exclaimed. "In fact, I love it better every time you wear it."

Mrs. Simpson gritted her teeth, and rebutted by examining the material of Mrs. Jones's frock and saying sweetly, "What an odd fabric, my dear! Why don't you try having it made into a dress?"

Mingling with the throng that poured out of the university stadium after a big game, the out-of-town guest enthused to his host, head of the chemistry department, "What a plant you have here!

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

The Show With A Heart

"STRIKE It Rich," (CBS 4 p. m. EDT Monady through Friday) is one of those rare things, a give-away that gives away money, cash of the realm in place of refrigerators and washing machines. Also, it gives the dough away to people who need it badly. Where an air of cupidity rises like steam from most give-aways, "Strike It Rich" is marked by a sort of quiet desperation.

John Crosby

No one gets on the program unless he has a problem that requires cash, and since 1947 the program has dug up some lulus. Guests have included a man who wanted artificial legs so he could get a job, parents who wanted to finance an operation for their child, and a French war bride who wanted to bring Mama over to meet her G.I. husband. One of the odder problems was that of a Mrs. Kwoka of Bridgeport, Conn. Her husband had built their house himself but ran out of funds before they got the bathroom facilities. The family used her sister's bathroom two miles away and Mrs. Kwoka was pretty tired of the situation. She won $310.

• — • — •

The quiz-master on "Strike It Rich" is Warren Hull, a veteran if ever there was one of the quiz profession. As quizzers go, he is rather quiet and enormously considerate of the quizzees. It is one of those quizzes where the contestants start with $15 provided by the program and bet all or part of it that they can provide the right answers. Like all these things, it starts easy—"Is a caboose a car on a freight train, a special car for President Truman, or a special food for moose?"—and gets harder, though it isn't unusual for the average well-informed person to know every answer on a half-hour show.

Hull, though, is a cautious man. If a contestant wants $150 for some project, he urges him to take it easy after he reaches that sum, rather than to shoot the works and risk losing it all. A person who shoots the works right down the line has a maximum possibility of winning about $480 to which the program adds $20 to make an even $500. Quite a few people walk off with the $500, too. Since 1947, this particular philanthropy has cost the Colgate - Palmolive - Peet Company, the sponsor, about a quarter of a million dollars. The company, far from minding, seems almost anxious to give away more money. Last April they upped "Strike It Rich" from once a week to five times a week, which means they stand to lose as much as $10,000 a week in cash, depending on how bright the customers are in any week.

Not all of them are bright. A couple of Texans told Hull once, "We're just a couple of ignorant hill-billies from Texas," and then proved it by going broke on the third question. Not all of them who go broke stay that way. One poor gal who was seeking $200 to save her family from eviction, worked her stake up to $240, then bet it all on the final question which is generally a pretty tough one. Hull tried to persuade her to set aside the $200 and just bet the $40. She wouldn't, though, and went broke on a very easy question. Listeners besieged Hull with cash and protests. The program made up the difference between the contributions and $200 and shipped it to the woman with the admonition to be more careful of future quiz programs.

Occasionally, some of the problem people can't get to New York, in which case a stand-in, usually a celebrity of some sort, does the question-answering for him. Among the stand-ins have been Abe Burrows, Lanny Ross, Juanita Hall and Ruby Keeler. Miss Keeler, for example, won $300 for an invalided veteran of World War I who wanted the money to set up a workshop. This was a boon, not only to the veteran, but to the taxpayer, because the veteran had been in government hospitals for fifteen years.

• — • — •

Not all the cases are so heart-rendering. One woman wanted dough (and won it) to buy a canoe because she was darn tired of walking around the lake to buy her groceries. A couple of young kids who'd had dates together in China had a reunion in New York and wanted money to go on a tear. They won $325, which will buy a real wingding, even in New York.

The Show With A Heart

"STRIKE It Rich," (CBS 4 p. m. EDT Monady through Friday) is one of those rare things, a give-away that gives away money, cash of the realm in place of refrigerators and washing machines. Also, it gives the dough away to people who need it badly. Where an air of cupidity rises like steam from most give-aways, "Strike It Rich" is marked by a sort of quiet desperation.

John Crosby

No one gets on the program unless he has a problem that requires cash, and since 1947 the program has dug up some lulus. Guests have included a man who wanted artificial legs so he could get a job, parents who wanted to finance an operation for their child, and a French war bride who wanted to bring Mama over to meet her G.I. husband. One of the odder problems was that of a Mrs. Kwoka of Bridgeport, Conn. Her husband had built their house himself but ran out of funds before they got the bathroom facilities. The family used her sister's bathroom two miles away and Mrs. Kwoka was pretty tired of the situation. She won $310.

• — • — •

The quiz-master on "Strike It Rich" is Warren Hull, a veteran if ever there was one of the quiz profession. As quizzers go, he is rather quiet and enormously considerate of the quizzees. It is one of those quizzes where the contestants start with $15 provided by the program and bet all or part of it that they can provide the right answers. Like all these things, it starts easy—"Is a caboose a car on a freight train, a special car for President Truman, or a special food for moose?"—and gets harder, though it isn't unusual for the average well-informed person to know every answer on a half-hour show.

Hull, though, is a cautious man. If a contestant wants $150 for some project, he urges him to take it easy after he reaches that sum, rather than to shoot the works and risk losing it all. A person who shoots the works right down the line has a maximum possibility of winning about $480 to which the program adds $20 to make an even $500. Quite a few people walk off with the $500, too. Since 1947, this particular philanthropy has cost the Colgate - Palmolive - Peet Company, the sponsor, about a quarter of a million dollars. The company, far from minding, seems almost anxious to give away more money. Last April they upped "Strike It Rich" from once a week to five times a week, which means they stand to lose as much as $10,000 a week in cash, depending on how bright the customers are in any week.

Not all of them are bright. A couple of Texans told Hull once, "We're just a couple of ignorant hill-billies from Texas," and then proved it by going broke on the third question. Not all of them who go broke stay that way. One poor gal who was seeking $200 to save her family from eviction, worked her stake up to $240, then bet it all on the final question which is generally a pretty tough one. Hull tried to persuade her to set aside the $200 and just bet the $40. She wouldn't, though, and went broke on a very easy question. Listeners besieged Hull with cash and protests. The program made up the difference between the contributions and $200 and shipped it to the woman with the admonition to be more careful of future quiz programs.

Occasionally, some of the problem people can't get to New York, in which case a stand-in, usually a celebrity of some sort, does the question-answering for him. Among the stand-ins have been Abe Burrows, Lanny Ross, Juanita Hall and Ruby Keeler. Miss Keeler, for example, won $300 for an invalided veteran of World War I who wanted the money to set up a workshop. This was a boon, not only to the veteran, but to the taxpayer, because the veteran had been in government hospitals for fifteen years.

• — • — •

Not all the cases are so heart-rendering. One woman wanted dough (and won it) to buy a canoe because she was darn tired of walking around the lake to buy her groceries. A couple of young kids who'd had dates together in China had a reunion in New York and wanted money to go on a tear. They won $325, which will buy a real wingding, even in New York.

Expansion Of Garrett Rec Areas Urged

Lumber, Mining Problems Aired

Recreation expansion in Garrett County was termed the best long-range method for improving economic conditions in that area, at a hearing conducted last night in Oakland.

William H. Mahaney, Baltimore, chairman of a special commission set up by Governor Lane to study employment and relief problems in the state, presided.

Eight members of the 15-man commission, headed by Mahaney and Delegate Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, sub-chairman for Western Maryland, toured the Oakland area yesterday afternoon.

They visited the mining communities of Shallmar, Vindex and Kitzmiller and recreational areas at Swallow Falls and Deep Creek Lake.

Mine Problem Cited

Jesse J. Walker, of the Shallmar Mining Company, reported at last night's hearing that there is no prospect of reopening mines at Shallmar and Vindex because they could not meet competitive prices.

Operators explained there is a differential of about 20 per cent between the going price of Western Maryland coal and the actual cost of mining competitive type grade coal.

District Forester William H. Johnson informed the commission that the lumber industry in Garrett County is chiefly concerned at present with cutting mine props.

Johnson explained that lumber operators in the area are unable to meet wage rates paid in Pennsylvania and West Virginia for pulp wood which is shipped to the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Speakers at the hearing agreed that there is a "tremendous potential" for the development of recreational facilities in the county.

Publicity Needed

Greatest need in that connection is to spread public knowledge of available facilities, especially to such cities as Washington, Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

This was pointed out by John P. Trimmer, director of the State Department of Information; and by Fulcher P. Smith, Oakland, on the Garrett Properties firm.

Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh of Oakland said, the Chamber of Commerce is spearheading attempts to get new industries to locate in the county.

Emeric Dusic of the Chamber of Commerce reported that several inquiries, including one from a plastics firm, had been received.

However, Dusic said, the most recent offer could not be met because the firm in question wanted the Chamber of Commerce to finance the operation, including erection of a building.

Other possibilities are being explored, Dusic added.

Besides Mahaney and Cook, other commission members attending were Joseph F. DiDomenico, Baltimore, commissioner of the Department of Labor and Industry; L. A. Helfrich, Baltimore, production manager of U. S. Industrial Chemicals, Inc.

George C. McLeish, Bladensburg, delegate to the General Assembly from Prince Georges County; E. J. Moran, Baltimore, regional director of the International United Auto Workers Union, CIO; J. Milton Patterson, chairman of the Department of Public Welfare; and Delegate Leroy W. Preston of Baltimore.

The group plans to hold similar hearings this afternoon and evening at City Hall here for representative Cumberland groups. The sessions will get underway at 1:30.

Church Will Hold Quarterly Meeting

The first quarterly conference of the Emmanuel Methodist Church will be held in the local church tonight.

The meeting will be in charge of the district superintendent, Rev. Dr. William Wright. All members of the church are invited to attend. The officers are urged to make a special effort to be present with their reports. The meeting will convene at 8 p. m.

Fire Chiefs May Sponsor Annual Training Class

Extension Course May Be Requested

Members of the Allegany-Garrett Fire Chiefs Association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Bowling Green fire hall to discuss plans for securing annual fire training courses for this area.

A. G. Snyder, secretary, said the course under consideration would be similar to the Annual Short Course of Fire Training offered at College Park by the University of Maryland's Fire Extension Service.

Normally, each volunteer fire company from Western Maryland sends one or two delegates to the course, designed to present the latest methods of fire fighting available to volunteer firemen.

The course could be made available to a large percentage of the some 1,000 volunteer firemen in the 29 companies of Allegany and Garrett Counties if it could be presented in a central location here, Snyder said.

The short course training, officals said would be a valuable addition to the basic and advanced courses already completed by most volunteer firemen of this area.

Officials said that if the fire chiefs agree to sponsor the course, and if the plan meets with the approval of the Fire Extension Service, details could easily be worked out to present the training largely with instructors available in this area.

They said a large number of firemen would undoubtedly take the training if it could be offered at night so the men could attend without missing work.

Army Nurse Corps Commissions Open

Openings are available for young women who are graduate nurses to obtain commissions in the Army Nurse Corps Reserve.

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 27, in good health and of good character.

The Department of the Army has announced that certain Army medical centers have been affiliated with universities, making it possible for nurses to continue their studies and secure a college degree while in service.

Further information may be obtained at Room 13, Union Street County Building, the headquarters office of the Army Reserve unit instructor, or by telephoning 5142.

Weather

The moderately-cool, rainy day that yesterday was came to an end in just about the same way. Temperatures varied but little, with a high of 65 degrees in Constitution Park and 68 downtown. The low temperatures were 61 degrees in the park and 64 degrees downtown. The forecast for today indicates that it will be another cloudy day with a few scattered showers, but just a little warmer.

Police Seek Area Counterfeiters

Maryland State Police investigated new evidence connected with numerous counterfeit coins appearing in the Westernport area and said they believe the bogus minting is a local operation.

Several handsful of bogus nickel and quarter coins were reportedly passed in and around Westernport about a month ago, according to Trooper William F. Baker, Maryland State Police investigator.

The counterfeit coins, Trooper Baker said, were turned over to U. S. Treasury Department Secret Service agents for analysis to determine the type and quantity of metal used in the coins.

A number of coins were turned over to police by officials of the Potomac Club and Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, police said. Trooper Milton Hart and Westernport Chief of Police Burza Hanlin are working with Trooper Baker in the investigation.

Flood Control Work Proceeding On Schedule, Project Engineer Reports

This was reported last night by Thomas E. Dickson, project engineer for the Cumberland flood control project.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, accompanied by Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer for the project, and City Attorney W. Earl Cobey, went to Washington yesterday to report to the Corps of Engineers on property acquisition.

The group reported that nearly all necessary property on the West Side is under option, Paye said.

He recalled that the city has been advertising for bids to remove some of the buildings affected.

Dickson said it is not known definitely as yet when work will get underway in Riverside Park.

Two large sewers and a water line are to be constructed in the park along the walk paralleling the river bank and Water Street.

Most of the equipment of George and Lynch, contractors for the second phase of the project, is tied up on the Valley Street and Williams Street conduit work, Dickson said.

He said it is hoped to finish that work in the next few weeks so that the Riverside Park project can get underway.

"We don't want to tear up too much at the same time," he commented.

A reinforced concrete sewer line, which will run from Kelly Boulevard to Riverside Park, will carry all of the West Side sewage runoff.

The new water line in the park will replace the present feeder along the Potomac. The present line is situated where the river levee is to be built in the final phase of flood work.

Also planned is construction of a large syphon in Wills Creek. This will be hooked up with the pumping station that is to be built eventually in the vicinity of Howard Street.

B. & O. August Income Is Over $2,000,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — R. B. White, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad president, said today August net income was more than $2,000,000, largest for any month since November, 1948, with the exception of last May when labor troubles on other eastern roads diverted traffic to the B. and O.

White's statement was made after the monthly meeting of the board of directors here.

He said net income for the first eight months this year would approximate $8,500,000, compared with $7,473,180 reported for the similar period last year.

Former Local Minister Retires

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 20 (AP) — Rev. Eugene H. Richardson of the Evangelical United Brethren Church is retiring at the age of 85 after 55 years in the ministry.

A successor, named last week at the Evangelical United Brethren Conference in Waynesboro, Va., soon will take over his post as supply pastor to the three congregations on the Sleepy Creek rural circuit.

A native of Buckeystown, Md., Rev. Richardson has lived and preached in Roanoke, Toms Brook, Winchester and Reliance, Va.; Martinsburg, Franklin and Morgan County, W. Va., and Cumberland, Md.

Local Scout Charter Presented

Purnell Named To Head State's Freedom Crusade

Maryland's part in the nationwide "Crusade for Freedom" movement will be headed by Brig. Gen. William C. Purnell, executive officer of the 29th Division Reserve.

The movement, aimed primarily at giving persons in every part of the nation an opportunity to sign declarations of their belief in the "dignity of man," is directed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

In opening the state movement Gen. Purnell said "one of the ways we can beat the Russians in this cold war is by telling them the truth about the democratic way of life."

Efforts to tell Russia about the democratic way is already in progress in Europe where "Radio Free Europe," a private operation, is trying to penetrate the "iron curtain" with facts about freedom.

Committees in all parts of Maryland will circulate declarations for signatures in the near future. Individuals who are interested in helping the crusade may contact the state headquarters at the Southern Hotel, Baltimore 3, Maryland.

The signed declarations will be flown to Europe and enshrined in the base of the Freedom Bell tower at the United Nations Day observance October 24.

Gen. Purnell said persons in all walks of life will be asked to sign the declaration scrolls and explained the Freedom Crusaders also will take contributions to assist in the continued operation of Radio Free Europe.

The broadcasting stations are expected to be increased from five to eight by early 1951 and financial help depends largely on contributions collected from the public.

The radio project is not sponsored by the government nor does it receive financial support. It is a movement by the people who believe in freedom to inform the Russian people of the true facts of the democratic world.

Shooting Victim Two Miles From Gun, Police Say

Authorities Term Death Accidental

An autopsy gave indication that Richard Urich, 25, near Keyser, W. Va., was fatally shot Tuesday night by a person who was at least two miles from the victim, Trooper W. F. Bowley said yesterday.

Urich, at the time he was shot, police said, was digging a cellar in the side of a hill at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook, his uncle and aunt, with whom he resided.

Trooper Bowley said it "is almost positively established that the shooting was accidental." A person hunting or shooting target in the wooded area surrounding the home could have fired the shot, police believe.

Following the autopsy, authorities said the slug was fired from a .25 caliber rifle of high velocity. It will be sent to a ballistics laboratory for further checking.

Three persons, besides Mrs. Cook who saw Urich "stagger and fall," told police yesterday they heard the shot "a great distance away."

Police said the three reports checked with the time that Urich was shot—about 7 p. m. (DST)—and indicated the rifleman stood to the southeast of the location where the victim was working.

Trooper Bowley said the bullet was "practically spent" when it struck Urich. It entered between the victim's ribs and pierced his heart, the autopsy showed.

Working on several "good leads," police said last night they have hope of tracing the person who fired the shot, but at the same time they asked for any helpful information that could be furnished.

Miss Madalyn Bazzle, Mineral County coroner, yesterday impaneled a six-man jury to view the body, but police said further examination of the case by the jury is scheduled. A verdict will not be given until the jury completes its probe.

Urich was a veteran of World War II and served in the Army from about 1943 until 1946.

Red Feather Leaders Named

Co-chairmen and division leaders leaders have been appointed for the Classified Section of the Red Feather campaign of the Cumberland Community Chest, according to George M. Martin, section chairman.

Thomas H. Smithem will serve as co-chairman of the automotive, financial, professional and governmental divisions.

Leaders of the respective divisions are James E. Honeycutt, George A. Caswell, Aden L. Everstine and William H. Buchholtz.

Second co-chairman in the Classified Section will be David T. Davis, who will head the general, public service, utilities, manufacturers and railroads divisions.

L. V. Shinnamon has been named co-chairman of the foods, mercantile, served commodities and educational divisions. His leaders, respectively, will be Lewis Ort, George D. Hankins, Robert L. Ebert and Charles L. Kopp.

Equity Suits

Two equity suits were filed in Circuit Court yesterday, one by Robert L. Maphis against Anna Maphis and the second by Laura Virginia George against Clarence Leroy George.

MISSING — Pvt. Harvey L. Marks, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy T. Marks, Mt. Savage Road, has been reported missing in action since August 31, according to a Defense Department message received by his parents on Tuesday. Marks was wounded just a few weeks before he was reported missing. His last letter homew as received August 30. He said at that time he was serving in the Naktong River area.

Union To Picket More Terminals Of Novick Firm

Sympathy Strike Continues Here

Plans for picketing additional terminals of the Novick Transfer Company were being made last night at a meeting of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), officials in Winchester, Va.

The Cumberland terminal of the company, with about 12 men, was struck September 10 as a result of a contract dispute at the firm's Winchester terminal September 7.

C. E. Bramble, president, said the union is getting ready to picket other Novick terminals, including New York City and Roanoke, Va., adding that company operations at Winchester, Baltimore and Cumberland already have been halted.

Three Winchester firms, Associated Transport, Mason and Dixon and Super Service, recently agreed on terms of a new pact.

W. N. Swiggett, Local 453 business agent at Winchester, said the basis for the one year contract was a 12½ cent hourly boost for hourly paid workers, with double time for holidays. Over the road workers will get 5¼ cents a mile for single axle trailers and 5½ cents on tandem axle trucks. The pact also includes $1.38 an hour on delayed or breakdown time with one-day operations reduced from 14 to 10 hours.

Swiggett said the union wants the same contract from Novick and Elliott Motor Lines in Winchester.

He said the companies insist on a two-year contract, 5¼ cents a mile for over the road men with no tandem differential and no increase on breakdown time.

Swiggett said the Elliott firm has made no attempt to operate since the strike was called.

Union officials said there were no developments which might lead to a settlement of the contract dispute.

All but two Cumberland trucking firms have agreed on terms on new contracts and negotiations are proceeding with those pacts.

Unity Conference To Hear Picnic Reports

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Paul L. Burley, secretary, said the meeting will be held jointly with the Labor Day Committee.

A full report on picnic receipts and expenditures will be presented by all committee chairmen, he added.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob W. Winters, 50 Bedford Street, a son, born yesterday morning.

Plans Made To Protect City Water Supply

Fences, Spotlights To Be Installed

Plans have been made to protect the city's water supply at Lakes Gordon and Koon from possible sabotage attempts.

This was reported yesterday by George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

Parking will be restricted in the area immediately around the lakes, and company employes will police the roads to enforce the restriction.

Hitchcock said surveys are being made to install about two miles of new fences at vulnerable points around both lakes.

Powerful spotlights will be installed on top of the gatehouses at both dams so that the entire lake area can be lighted instantly in event of alarm at night.

Watchmen will be assigned to duty at both gatehouses to operate the lights, and a telephone will be installed at the Lake Koon gatehouse to provide communication with the main office.

At the main entrance to the Lake Gordon headquarters, parking will be restricted beyond the second gate.

Fences will be installed from the laboratory and main office to the upper part of the filter plant, which is already protected by a high stone wall about 50 feet high.

Five-foot barbed wire fences will be used with barricades on top. Electric wires will be installed on fences near strategic buildings, Hitchcock said.

Locust posts for the fences have been cut on Evitts Creek property, and a new post-hole digger will be used in the work.

Work is expected to be completed in about two months. It was planned in connection with the county Civilian Defense program.

W. Md. Wins Safety Medal

The E. H. Harriman gold medal for Class B railroad safety records in 1949 was accepted yesterday by Eugene S. Williams, Western Maryland Railway president.

Prior to the presentation, which was made in New York City, Wallace J. Falvey, president of the American Museum of Safety, told the gathering:

"That while fatalities in rail accidents in 1949 were 28 per cent less than 10 years ago, the campaign for safety can never be relaxed if these gains are to be maintained."

R. H. Smith, president of the Norfolk and Western Railway, accepted the gold medal for the best safety record among the larger railroads. The presentations were made by James G. Lyne, editor of Railway Age and chairman of the award committee of the American Museum of Safety.

Falvey said fewer lives were lost in rail accidents last year than in any of the 62 years of Interstate Commerce Commission records, and that the total was 28 per cent less than 10 years ago and 40 per cent less than 20 years ago.

Chamber To Act On 1950-51 Program

Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock to take action on the 1950-51 program.

Discussion and action on the Chamber's expanded program.

Plan School Dance

The physical Education Department of Central High School Lonaconing, will sponsor a sport dance in the school gymnasium Friday night from 8 to 11 'clock to raise funds to equip the girl's basketball team.

Wounded Barton Soldier Is Taken To Bethesda Hospital

Pvt. Marshall P. Broadwater, 22, Barton, who was recently wounded in Korea, is recuperating in the Bethesda Hospital, the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross has been advised.

His sister, Mrs. Mary M. Broadwater, Barton, was advised recently by the Department of Defense that Pvt. Broadwater had been wounded in Korea and was being flown to a California hospital.

Last Saturday night, the chapter was notified by telegram that the Barton soldier had been landed in Suisan Air Force Base, Fairfield, Cal.

The Red Cross field director there asked the chapter to advise the soldier's sister, Mrs. Gus Broadwater, and father, Ephrain Broadwater, that he had arrived safely.

Yesterday, the field director at Bethesda Hospital, Washington, called to ask the chapter to relay the information that Pvt. Broadwater had been admitted to that hospital.

Doctors at Bethesda, he reported, were satisfied with Pvt. Broadwater's condition at present but advised a long period of hospitalization would be needed and that the serviceman was suffering from shock.

Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary, said all of the information was relayed promptly to the soldier's relatives, together with the information on visiting hours at the hospital.

The Red Cross, Mrs. Witherup said, is permitted by the military departments to offer such service as that given to the Broadwater family.

All effort is made, she added, to advise families of servicemen of any change in the condition of injured personnel and to pass on such information to the family as promptly as possible.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a Decree for the sale of certain real estate on Main Street, in the Town of Westernport, in Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill states that George E. Klencke, late of Mineral County, West Virginia, died seized and possessed at the time of his death of a certain lot of ground, improved by a double frame dwelling, located on the East Side of Main Street, in the Town of Westernport, Allegany County, Maryland, as conveyed unto him by O. Tibbets et ux., by deed dated May 16, 1913, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 112, Folio 711, all of which lot is more particularly described in said Bill.

That by the Last Will and Testament of the said George E. Klencke, the aforesaid property was devised unto Carrie Keller and Vesta Harmon, equally, for their natural lives, and upon the death of Carrie Keller unto her children, Robert Keller, George Keller and Evelyn Price, equally, and upon the death of Vesta Harmon, her share unto her children, Reginald Harmon and William Harmon, equally. That the said Carrie Keller died on the fourteenth day of August, 1950, and the Plaintiffs are vested with the undivided one-half interest in said property, and that the real estate is not susceptible of partition without material loss and injury to the parties entitled to interests therein as stated in said Bill and that in order to make division of said Interests, it will be necessary that the said real estate be sold, and the proceeds thereof divided among the parties according to their several interests.

That the said Vesta Harmon, Reginald Harmon and William Harmon, are nonresidents of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon this 29th day of August, 1950, ordered by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Plaintiffs, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 30th day of September, 1950, give notice to the said absent Defendants of the object and substance of this Bill, warning them to appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 17th day of October, next, to show cause, if any they have, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Law Offices of Morgan C. Harris, 111 Union Street, Cumberland, Maryland. Laura Virginia George vs. Clarence Leroy George, No. 21914 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant.

The bill states that they were married on the 10th day of March, 1922, and that the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff on or about the 15th day of October, 1922, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months last past prior to the bringing of this suit and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

That the Plaintiff has been a resident of the State of Maryland for more than one year prior to the bringing of this action, and the Defendant is a nonresident of the State of Maryland, and his present address is unknown, and the Plaintiff asks for an Order of Publication against the Defendant and for general relief.

It is thereupon this 20th day of September, 1950, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, sitting in equity, ordered that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once in each of four successive weeks, before the 23rd day of October, 1950, giving notice to said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this bill and warning him to appear in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 8th day of November, 1950, to show cause, if any he might have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Cancer Society To Meet Tuesday

Directors of the Cumberland Chapter of the Maryland Society will hold a meeting next Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Esther B. Rosenbaum, 816 Buckingham Road, it has been announced.

Matter Of Fact

rather irrelevantly to shake the embarrassed Jaskilka's hand. In the suburbs, lines of white-clad people waved newly-made South Korean flags and cheered the marines. We trudged past old signs indicating installations of the pre-war American military advisory group, which the communists had not bothered to take down. Then, stepping out swiftly, we took a narrow country road that passed through paddies just turning golden.

Here came the real turning point of the march on Kimpo. It was already almost noon when the three tanks going forward with Easy Company reached an impossibly rickety bridge over a swampy irrigation canal. The people of the nearby village poured out to see what was happening, and tried to help by covering the blue-violet water hyacinths in the canal bed with a dirt causeway. But the tanks still could not get through. At this point, Chung Yong Duk, an American military group interpreter who had taken refuge in the village, appeared providentially to suggest a better alternative road that did not show on our eccentric maps.

Col. Roise, impatiently watching operations by the canal bank, made a swift decision. The tanks and transport, with a small body of supporting infantry, would go by the alternative road. The main body of the infantry would continue on the planned route. The lumbering tanks turned off through the sticky rice paddies. The column was re-ordered by radio. Again Easy Company started onward, marching cheerfully and swiftly into unknown enemy country with no seeming thought of the lost tank support. Now, however, it was too late to reach Kimpo before dusk.

Heavy Selling In A. T. And T. Stock Pulls Market Lower

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP)—Heavy selling in American Telephone stock slapped down the price and carried the rest of the market lower today.

Roughly $6,000,000 worth of A. T. & T. stock changed hands at losses running to nearly $3 a share. The closing price was $149.25 a share, down $2.62.

The rest of the market quickly showed losses ranging to around $1 a share before buying support appeared. Final prices were above the lows for the day in most cases.

The flurry in the market prodded sales volume just past the 2,000,000-share mark. Turnover of 2,100,000 shares compared with 1,590,000 Tuesday, the smallest figure in nearly two weeks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 of one point to 81.3. The industrial group posted the largest decline, seconded by the rails. Utilities held unchanged despite the fact that A. T. & T. is included in that group.

Of the 15 most active shares, only five declined. International Telephone was the most active stock (no connection with American Telephone), while A. T. & T. took second place, an unusual ranking for this high-priced issue.

Also closing lower were Canadian Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Socony-Vacuum, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda Copper, du Pont, International Paper, Standard Oil (NJ), and Gulf Oil.

Expansion Of Garrett Rec Areas Urged

Lumber, Mining Problems Aired

Recreation expansion in Garrett County was termed the best long-range method for improving economic conditions in that area, at a hearing conducted last night in Oakland.

William H. Mahaney, Baltimore, chairman of a special commission set up by Governor Lane to study employment and relief problems in the state, presided.

Eight members of the 15-man commission, headed by Mahaney and Delegate Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, sub-chairman for Western Maryland, toured the Oakland area yesterday afternoon.

They visited the mining communities of Shallmar, Vindex and Kitzmiller and recreational areas at Swallow Falls and Deep Creek Lake.

At the three mining towns the commission interviewed a number of unemployed miners and mine operators to get a first-hand picture of economic conditions there.

Mine Problem Cited

Jesse J. Walker, of the Shallmar Mining Company, reported at last night's hearing that there is no prospect of reopening mines at Shallmar and Vindex because they could not meet competitive prices.

Operators explained there is a differential of about 20 per cent between the going price of Western Maryland coal and the actual cost of mining competitive type grade coal.

District Forester William H. Johnson informed the commission that the lumber industry in Garrett County is chiefly concerned at present with cutting mine props.

Johnson explained that lumber operators in the area are unable to meet wage rates paid in Pennsylvania and West Virginia for pulp wood which is shipped to the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Speakers at the hearing agreed that there is a "tremendous potential" for the development of recreational facilities in the county.

Publicity Needed

Greatest need in that connection is to spread public knowledge of available facilities, especially to such cities as Washington, Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

This was pointed out by John P. Trimmer, director of the State Department of Information; and by Fulcher P. Smith, Oakland, on the Garrett Properties firm.

Mayor Joseph Hinebaugh of Oakland said, the Chamber of Commerce is spearheading attempts to get new industries to locate in the county.

Emeric Dusic of the Chamber of Commerce reported that several inquiries, including one from a plastics firm, had been received.

However, Dusic said, the most recent offer could not be met because the firm in question wanted the Chamber of Commerce to finance the operation, including erection of a building.

Other possibilities are being explored, Dusic added.

Besides Mahaney and Cook, other commission members attending were Joseph F. DiDomenico, Baltimore, commissioner of the Department of Labor and Industry; L. A. Helfrich, Baltimore, production manager of U. S. Industrial Chemicals, Inc.

George C. McLeish, Bladensburg, delegate to the General Assembly from Prince Georges County; E. J. Moran, Baltimore, regional director of the International United Auto Workers Union, CIO; J. Milton Patterson, chairman of the Department of Public Welfare; and Delegate Leroy W. Preston of Baltimore.

The group plans to hold similar hearings this afternoon and evening at City Hall here for representative Cumberland groups. The sessions will get underway at 1:30.

Church Will Hold Quarterly Meeting

The first quarterly conference of the Emmanuel Methodist Church will be held in the local church tonight.

The meeting will be in charge of the district superintendent, Rev. Dr. William Wright. All members of the church are invited to attend. The officers are urged to make a special effort to be present with their reports. The meeting will convene at 8 p. m.

Thirty boys fired away last night in St. Patrick's Social Center as their newly organized Boy Scout Cub Pack received its charter. The boys also were showing the miniature fort (center) built during the past month. They are John Horchler, Richard Murray, William Blake, Fred Stitcher, William Sitter, James Mullan, Robert McMahon, Richard Laughlin, William Huber, Edward Witt, Chuck Skinner, John Miller, John Mackert, James Lepore, Patrick Barnhill, Michael Chisholm, Philip Cioni, Joseph Cioni, Edward Taylor, Philip Ways, John Marvin, Thomas Felten, Richard Felten, Edward Brown, Patrick Santore, Michael Scaletta, Carl Blake, Joseph Yockus, Dale Vanderhout, Eugene Powers, Joseph Santore, James Burkey, and Michael Kelley.

Fire Chiefs May Sponsor Annual Training Class

Extension Course May Be Requested

Members of the Allegany-Garrett Fire Chiefs Association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Bowling Green fire hall to discuss plans for securing annual fire training courses for this area.

A. G. Snyder, secretary, said the course under consideration would be similar to the Annual Short Course of Fire Training offered at College Park by the University of Maryland's Fire Extension Service.

Normally, each volunteer fire company from Western Maryland sends one or two delegates to the course, designed to present the latest methods of fire fighting available to volunteer firemen.

The course could be made available to a large percentage of the some 1,000 volunteer firemen in the 29 companies of Allegany and Garrett Counties if it could be presented in a central location here, Snyder said.

The short course training, officals said would be a valuable addition to the basic and advanced courses already completed by most volunteer firemen of this area.

Officials said that if the fire chiefs agree to sponsor the course, and if the plan meets with the approval of the Fire Extension Service, details could easily be worked out to present the training largely with instructors available in this area.

They said a large number of firemen would undoubtedly take the training if it could be offered at night so the men could attend without missing work.

Army Nurse Corps Commissions Open

Openings are available for young women who are graduate nurses to obtain commissions in the Army Nurse Corps Reserve.

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 27, in good health and of good character.

The Department of the Army has announced that certain Army medical centers have been affiliated with universities, making it possible for nurses to continue their studies and secure a college degree while in service.

Further information may be obtained at Room 13, Union Street County Building, the headquarters office of the Army Reserve unit instructor, or by telephoning 5142.

Weather

The moderately-cool, rainy day that yesterday was came to an end in just about the same way. Temperatures varied but little, with a high of 65 degrees in Constitution Park and 68 downtown. The low temperatures were 61 degrees in the park and 64 degrees downtown. The forecast for today indicates that it will be another cloudy day with a few scattered showers, but just a little warmer.

Police Seek Area Counterfeiters

Maryland State Police investigated new evidence connected with numerous counterfeit coins appearing in the Westernport area and said they believe the bogus minting is a local operation.

Several handsful of bogus nickel and quarter coins were reportedly passed in and around Westernport about a month ago, according to Trooper William F. Baker, Maryland State Police investigator.

The counterfeit coins, Trooper Baker said, were turned over to U. S. Treasury Department Secret Service agents for analysis to determine the type and quantity of metal used in the coins.

A number of coins were turned over to police by officials of the Potomac Club and Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, police said. Trooper Milton Hart and Westernport Chief of Police Burza Hanlin are working with Trooper Baker in the investigation.

Flood Control Work Proceeding On Schedule, Project Engineer Reports

Property acquisition for flood control work on the West Side is virtually completed and the overall project is proceeding on schedule.

This was reported last night by Thomas E. Dickson, project engineer for the Cumberland flood control project.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, accompanied by Albert S. Paye, liaison engineer for the project, and City Attorney W. Earl Cobey, went to Washington yesterday to report to the Corps of Engineers on property acquisition.

The group reported that nearly all necessary property on the West Side is under option, Paye said.

He recalled that the city has been advertising for bids to remove some of the buildings affected.

Dickson said it is not known definitely as yet when work will get underway in Riverside Park.

Two large sewers and a water line are to be constructed in the park along the walk paralleling the river bank and Water Street.

Most of the equipment of George and Lynch, contractors for the second phase of the project, is tied up on the Valley Street and Williams Street conduit work, Dickson said.

He said it is hoped to finish that work in the next few weeks so that the Riverside Park project can get underway.

"We don't want to tear up too much at the same time," he commented.

A reinforced concrete sewer line, which will run from Kelly Boulevard to Riverside Park, will carry all of the West Side sewage runoff.

The new water line in the park will replace the present feeder along the Potomac. The present line is situated where the river levee is to be built in the final phase of flood work.

Also planned is construction of a large syphon in Wills Creek. This will be hooked up with the pumping station that is to be built eventually in the vicinity of Howard Street.

B. & O. August Income Is Over $2,000,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 (AP) — R. B. White, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad president, said today August net income was more than $2,000,000, largest for any month since November, 1948, with the exception of last May when labor troubles on other eastern roads diverted traffic to the B. and O.

White's statement was made after the monthly meeting of the board of directors here.

He said net income for the first eight months this year would approximate $8,500,000, compared with $7,473,180 reported for the similar period last year.

Former Local Minister Retires

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 20 (AP) — Rev. Eugene H. Richardson of the Evangelical United Brethren Church is retiring at the age of 85 after 55 years in the ministry.

A successor, named last week at the Evangelical United Brethren Conference in Waynesboro, Va., soon will take over his post as supply pastor to the three congregations on the Sleepy Creek rural circuit.

A native of Buckeystown, Md., Rev. Richardson has lived and preached in Roanoke, Toms Brook, Winchester and Reliance, Va.; Martinsburg, Franklin and Morgan County, W. Va., and Cumberland, Md.

Local Scout Charter Presented

Purnell Named To Head State's Freedom Crusade

Maryland's part in the nationwide "Crusade for Freedom" movement will be headed by Brig. Gen. William C. Purnell, executive officer of the 29th Division Reserve.

The movement, aimed primarily at giving persons in every part of the nation an opportunity to sign declarations of their belief in the "dignity of man," is directed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

In opening the state movement Gen. Purnell said "one of the ways we can beat the Russians in this cold war is by telling them the truth about the democratic way of life."

Efforts to tell Russia about the democratic way is already in progress in Europe where "Radio Free Europe," a private operation, is trying to penetrate the "iron curtain" with facts about freedom.

Committees in all parts of Maryland will circulate declarations for signatures in the near future. Individuals who are interested in helping the crusade may contact the state headquarters at the Southern Hotel, Baltimore 3, Maryland.

The signed declarations will be flown to Europe and enshrined in the base of the Freedom Bell tower at the United Nations Day observance October 24.

Gen. Purnell said persons in all walks of life will be asked to sign the declaration scrolls and explained the Freedom Crusaders also will take contributions to assist in the continued operation of Radio Free Europe.

The broadcasting stations are expected to be increased from five to eight by early 1951 and financial help depends largely on contributions collected from the public.

The radio project is not sponsored by the government nor does it receive financial support. It is a movement by the people who believe in freedom to inform the Russian people of the true facts of the democratic world.

Shooting Victim Two Miles From Gun, Police Say

Authorities Term Death Accidental

An autopsy gave indication that Richard Urich, 25, near Keyser, W. Va., was fatally shot Tuesday night by a person who was at least two miles from the victim, Trooper W. F. Bowley said yesterday.

Urich, at the time he was shot, police said, was digging a cellar in the side of a hill at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook, his uncle and aunt, with whom he resided.

Trooper Bowley said it "is almost positively established that the shooting was accidental." A person hunting or shooting target in the wooded area surrounding the home could have fired the shot, police believe.

Following the autopsy, authorities said the slug was fired from a .25 caliber rifle of high velocity. It will be sent to a ballistics laboratory for further checking.

Three persons, besides Mrs. Cook who saw Urich "stagger and fall," told police yesterday they heard the shot "a great distance away."

Police said the three reports checked with the time that Urich was shot—about 7 p. m. (DST)—and indicated the rifleman stood to the southeast of the location where the victim was working.

Trooper Bowley said the bullet was "practically spent" when it struck Urich. It entered between the victim's ribs and pierced his heart, the autopsy showed.

Working on several "good leads," police said last night they have hope of tracing the person who fired the shot, but at the same time they asked for any helpful information that could be furnished.

Miss Madalyn Bazzle, Mineral County coroner, yesterday impaneled a six-man jury to view the body, but police said further examination of the case by the jury is scheduled. A verdict will not be given until the jury completes its probe.

Urich was a veteran of World War II and served in the Army from about 1943 until 1946.

Red Feather Leaders Named

Co-chairmen and division leaders leaders have been appointed for the Classified Section of the Red Feather campaign of the Cumberland Community Chest, according to George M. Martin, section chairman.

Thomas H. Smithem will serve as co-chairman of the automotive, financial, professional and governmental divisions.

Leaders of the respective divisions are James E. Honeycutt, George A. Caswell, Aden L. Everstine and William H. Buchholtz.

Second co-chairman in the Classified Section will be David T. Davis, who will head the general, public service, utilities, manufacturers and railroads divisions.

L. V. Shinnamon has been named co-chairman of the foods, mercantile, served commodities and educational divisions. His leaders, respectively, will be Lewis Ort, George D. Hankins, Robert L. Ebert and Charles L. Kopp.

Equity Suits

Two equity suits were filed in Circuit Court yesterday, one by Robert L. Maphis against Anna Maphis and the second by Laura Virginia George against Clarence Leroy George.

MISSING — Pvt. Harvey L. Marks, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy T. Marks, Mt. Savage Road, has been reported missing in action since August 31, according to a Defense Department message received by his parents on Tuesday. Marks was wounded just a few weeks before he was reported missing. His last letter homew as received August 30. He said at that time he was serving in the Naktong River area.

Union To Picket More Terminals Of Novick Firm

Sympathy Strike Continues Here

Plans for picketing additional terminals of the Novick Transfer Company were being made last night at a meeting of Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), officials in Winchester, Va.

The Cumberland terminal of the company, with about 12 men, was struck September 10 as a result of a contract dispute at the firm's Winchester terminal September 7.

C. E. Bramble, president, said the union is getting ready to picket other Novick terminals, including New York City and Roanoke, Va., adding that company operations at Winchester, Baltimore and Cumberland already have been halted.

Three Winchester firms, Associated Transport, Mason and Dixon and Super Service, recently agreed on terms of a new pact.

W. N. Swiggett, Local 453 business agent at Winchester, said the basis for the one year contract was a 12½ cent hourly boost for hourly paid workers, with double time for holidays. Over the road workers will get 5¼ cents a mile for single axle trailers and 5½ cents on tandem axle trucks. The pact also includes $1.38 an hour on delayed or breakdown time with one-day operations reduced from 14 to 10 hours.

Swiggett said the union wants the same contract from Novick and Elliott Motor Lines in Winchester.

He said the companies insist on a two-year contract, 5¼ cents a mile for over the road men with no tandem differential and no increase on breakdown time.

Swiggett said the Elliott firm has made no attempt to operate since the strike was called.

Union officials said there were no developments which might lead to a settlement of the contract dispute.

All but two Cumberland trucking firms have agreed on terms on new contracts and negotiations are proceeding with those pacts.

Unity Conference To Hear Picnic Reports

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Paul L. Burley, secretary, said the meeting will be held jointly with the Labor Day Committee.

A full report on picnic receipts and expenditures will be presented by all committee chairmen, he added.

Plans Made To Protect City Water Supply

Fences, Spotlights To Be Installed

Plans have been made to protect the city's water supply at Lakes Gordon and Koon from possible sabotage attempts.

This was reported yesterday by George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

Parking will be restricted in the area immediately around the lakes, and company employes will police the roads to enforce the restriction.

Hitchcock said surveys are being made to install about two miles of new fences at vulnerable points around both lakes.

Powerful spotlights will be installed on top of the gatehouses at both dams so that the entire lake area can be lighted instantly in event of alarm at night.

Watchmen will be assigned to duty at both gatehouses to operate the lights, and a telephone will be installed at the Lake Koon gatehouse to provide communication with the main office.

At the main entrance to the Lake Gordon headquarters, parking will be restricted beyond the second gate.

Fences will be installed from the laboratory and main office to the upper part of the filter plant, which is already protected by a high stone wall about 50 feet high.

Five-foot barbed wire fences will be used with barricades on top. Electric wires will be installed on fences near strategic buildings, Hitchcock said.

Locust posts for the fences have been cut on Evitts Creek property, and a new post-hole digger will be used in the work.

Work is expected to be completed in about two months. It was planned in connection with the county Civilian Defense program.

W. Md. Wins Safety Medal

The E. H. Harriman gold medal for Class B railroad safety records in 1949 was accepted yesterday by Eugene S. Williams, Western Maryland Railway president.

Prior to the presentation, which was made in New York City, Wallace J. Falvey, president of the American Museum of Safety, told the gathering:

"That while fatalities in rail accidents in 1949 were 28 per cent less than 10 years ago, the campaign for safety can never be relaxed if these gains are to be maintained."

R. H. Smith, president of the Norfolk and Western Railway, accepted the gold medal for the best safety record among the larger railroads. The presentations were made by James G. Lyne, editor of Railway Age and chairman of the award committee of the American Museum of Safety.

Falvey said fewer lives were lost in rail accidents last year than in any of the 62 years of Interstate Commerce Commission records, and that the total was 28 per cent less than 10 years ago and 40 per cent less than 20 years ago.

Chamber To Act On 1950-51 Program

Directors of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock to take action on the 1950-51 program.

Discussion and action on the Chamber's expanded program.

Plan School Dance

The physical Education Department of Central High School Lonaconing, will sponsor a sport dance in the school gymnasium Friday night from 8 to 11 'clock to raise funds to equip the girl's basketball team.

Wounded Barton Soldier Is Taken To Bethesda Hospital

Pvt. Marshall P. Broadwater, 22, Barton, who was recently wounded in Korea, is recuperating in the Bethesda Hospital, the Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross has been advised.

His sister, Mrs. Mary M. Broadwater, Barton, was advised recently by the Department of Defense that Pvt. Broadwater had been wounded in Korea and was being flown to a California hospital.

Last Saturday night, the chapter was notified by telegram that the Barton soldier had been landed in Suisan Air Force Base, Fairfield, Cal.

The Red Cross field director there asked the chapter to advise the soldier's sister, Mrs. Gus Broadwater, and father, Ephrain Broadwater, that he had arrived safely.

Yesterday, the field director at Bethesda Hospital, Washington, called to ask the chapter to relay the information that Pvt. Broadwater had been admitted to that hospital.

Doctors at Bethesda, he reported, were satisfied with Pvt. Broadwater's condition at present but advised a long period of hospitalization would be needed and that the serviceman was suffering from shock.

Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary, said all of the information was relayed promptly to the soldier's relatives, together with the information on visiting hours at the hospital.

The Red Cross, Mrs. Witherup said, is permitted by the military departments to offer such service as that given to the Broadwater family.

All effort is made, she added, to advise families of servicemen of any change in the condition of injured personnel and to pass on such information to the family as promptly as possible.
